Subjects and issues involved

Pursuant to the Colorado Licensing of Controlled Substances Act, in Part 2 of Article 80 of Title 27, C.R.S. (2021), a substance use disorder (SUD) program that compounds, administers, or dispenses a controlled substance must annually obtain a controlled substance license from the Office of Behavioral Health (OBH). On January 6, 2021 a Controlled Substance Licensing rule update was adopted by the State Board of Human Service. After the adopted rules went into effect, the Office of Behavioral Health and the State Board of Human Services received stakeholder feedback expressing concern with the new Controlled Substance Licensing rule updates. This rule update is a follow-up to the rules adopted January 6, 2021 and is specifically designed to better align Controlled Substance Licensing and Opioid Treatment Program (OTP) rules with Federal Controlled Substance Licensing/OTP requirements; address licensing procedures as required by the Office of Legislative Legal Services; and promote better access to medication assisted treatment services throughout Colorado.

NOTE: Due to the ongoing COVID-19 situation, it is anticipated that this meeting will take place entirely online. Please check here for any updates on location/connection: https://cdhs.colorado.gov/sbhs

REGULATORY ANALYSIS

1. List of groups impacted by this rule.

Which groups of persons will benefit, bear the burdens or be adversely impacted by this rule?

Individuals in need of or receiving substance use disorder (SUD) treatment using controlled substances and families of individuals in need of or receiving SUD services, and the entities responsible for the payment of SUD services should benefit from this rule update.
Providers of SUD services using controlled substances will bear the burden of this rule update.

2. Describe the qualitative and quantitative impact.

How will this rule-making impact those groups listed above? How many people will be impacted? What are the short-term and long-term consequences of this rule?

Individuals in need of or receiving SUD services using controlled substances and families of individuals in need of or receiving SUD services should benefit from this rule update as SUD programs using controlled substances will be required to comply with these updated standards. The entities responsible for the payment of SUD services using controlled substances should also benefit from the update, as SUD providers with a controlled substance license whose services are being purchased will be required to meet the rule updates that align with national standards.
Currently, 51 substance use disorder programs have a controlled substance license from the Office of Behavioral Health.

3. Fiscal Impact

State Fiscal Impact (Identify all state agencies with a fiscal impact, including any Colorado Benefits Management System (CBMS) change request costs required to implement this rule change)

The fiscal impact to the state regarding this rule update is expected to be minimal, as the Office of Behavioral Health (OBH) currently licenses SUD providers that treat individuals who use controlled substances.

County Fiscal Impact

County fiscal impact is not expected because the Office of Behavioral Health licenses and contracts with individual providers and not Counties.

Federal Fiscal Impact

The federal government requires state controlled substance licensing to align with the federal Controlled Substance Licensing Act. OBH works closely with the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) and the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) regarding how Colorado licenses and regulates substance use disorder programs that use controlled substances. No federal fiscal impact is expected.

Office, Division, & Program: OBH, Division of Community Behavioral Health	Rule Author: Ryan Templeton	Phone: 303-827-8667 E-Mail: ryan.templeton@state.co.us

Other Fiscal Impact (such as providers, local governments, etc.)

Updates will impact substance use disorder providers that are licensed to provide treatment services using controlled substances, as these updates must be implemented by providers.

4. Data Description

List and explain any data, such as studies, federal announcements, or questionnaires, which were relied upon when developing this rule?

OBH also worked closely with stakeholders, the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), and the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) to ensure the proposed updates to OBH-controlled substance licensing standards align with the federal standards regulating how controlled substances may be used to treat substance use disorders.

5. Alternatives to this Rule-making

Describe any alternatives that were seriously considered. Are there any less costly or less intrusive ways to accomplish the purpose(s) of this rule? Explain why the program chose this rule-making rather than taking no action or using another alternative. Answer should NEVER be just "no alternative" answer should include "no alternative because…"

The Office of Behavioral Health considered moving forward with the recently updated Controlled Substance Licensing rules. Through meetings with stakeholders and the State Board of Human Services, it was determined that the best course of action would be to pursue additional regulatory updates.

Section 4 Credit for Reinsurance—Reinsurer Licensed in this State

Pursuant to Section 10-3-702(2), C.R.S., the Commissioner shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer that was licensed in this state as of any date on which statutory financial statement credit for reinsurance is claimed.

Section 5 Credit for Reinsurance—Accredited Reinsurers

A. Pursuant to Section 10-3-702(3), C.R.S., the Commissioner shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer that is accredited as a reinsurer in this state as of the date on which statutory financial statement credit for reinsurance is claimed. An accredited reinsurer must:

1. File a properly executed Form AR-1 (attached as an exhibit to this regulation) as evidence of its submission to this state's jurisdiction and to this state's authority to examine its books and records;

2. File with the Commissioner a certified copy of a certificate of authority or other acceptable evidence that it is licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in at least one state, or, in the case of a U.S. branch of an alien assuming insurer, is entered through and licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in at least one state;

3. File annually with the Commissioner a copy of its annual statement filed with the insurance department of its state of domicile or, in the case of an alien assuming insurer, with the state through which it is entered and in which it is licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance, and a copy of its most recent audited financial statement; and

4. Maintain a surplus as regards policyholders in an amount not less than $20,000,000, or obtain the affirmative approval of the Commissioner upon a finding that it has adequate financial capacity to meet its reinsurance obligations and is otherwise qualified to assume reinsurance from domestic insurers.

B. If the Commissioner determines that the assuming insurer has failed to meet or maintain any of these qualifications, the Commissioner may upon written notice and opportunity for hearing, suspend or revoke the accreditation. Credit shall not be allowed a domestic ceding insurer under this section if the assuming insurer's accreditation has been revoked by the Commissioner, or if the reinsurance was ceded while the assuming insurer's accreditation was under suspension by the Commissioner.

Section 6 Credit for Reinsurance—Reinsurer Domiciled in Another State

B. The provisions of this section relating to surplus as regards policyholders shall not apply to reinsurance ceded and assumed pursuant to pooling arrangements among insurers in the same holding company system. As used in this section, "substantially similar" standards means credit for reinsurance standards that the Commissioner determines equal or exceed the standards of Section 10-3-701, et. seq., and this regulation.

Section 7 Credit for Reinsurance—Reinsurers Maintaining Trust Funds

A. Pursuant to Section 10-3-702(5), C.R.S., the Commissioner shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer which, as of any date on which statutory financial statement credit for reinsurance is claimed, and thereafter for so long as credit for reinsurance is claimed, maintains a trust fund in an amount prescribed below in a qualified U.S. financial institution as defined in Section 10-3-704(2), C.R.S., for the payment of the valid claims of its U.S. domiciled ceding insurers, their assigns and successors in interest. The assuming insurer shall report annually to the Commissioner substantially the same information as that required to be reported on the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) annual statement form by licensed insurers, to enable the Commissioner to determine the sufficiency of the trust fund.

B. The following requirements apply to the following categories of assuming insurer:

1. The trust fund for a single assuming insurer shall consist of funds in trust in an amount not less than the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. domiciled insurers, and in addition, the assuming insurer shall maintain a trusteed surplus of not less than $20,000,000, except as provided in Paragraph (2) of this subsection.

2. At any time after the assuming insurer has permanently discontinued underwriting new business secured by the trust for at least three full years, the commissioner with principal regulatory oversight of the trust may authorize a reduction in the required trusteed surplus, but only after a finding, based on an assessment of the risk, that the new required surplus level is adequate for the protection of U.S. ceding insurers, policyholders and claimants in light of reasonably foreseeable adverse loss development. The risk assessment may involve an actuarial review, including an independent analysis of reserves and cash flows, and shall consider all material risk factors, including when applicable the lines of business involved, the stability of the incurred loss estimates and the effect of the surplus requirements on the assuming insurer's liquidity or solvency. The minimum required trusteed surplus may not be reduced to an amount less than thirty percent (30%) of the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. ceding insurers covered by the trust.

3. The trust fund for a group including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters shall consist of:

a. b. For reinsurance ceded under reinsurance agreements with an inception date on or before December 31, 1992, and not amended or renewed after that date, notwithstanding the other provisions of this regulation, funds in trust in an amount not less than the respective underwriters' several insurance and reinsurance liabilities attributable to business written in the United States; and

c. In addition to these trusts, the group shall maintain a trusteed surplus of which $100,000,000 shall be held jointly for the benefit of the U.S. domiciled ceding insurers of any member of the group for all the years of account.

4. The incorporated members of the group shall not be engaged in any business other than underwriting as a member of the group and shall be subject to the same level of regulation and solvency control by the group's domiciliary regulator as are the unincorporated members. The group shall, within ninety (90) days after its financial statements are due to be filed with the group's domiciliary regulator, provide to the Commissioner:

a. An annual certification by the group's domiciliary regulator of the solvency of each underwriter member of the group; or

b. If a certification is unavailable, a financial statement, prepared by independent public accountants, of each underwriter member of the group.

5. The trust fund for a group of incorporated insurers under common administration, whose members possess aggregate policyholders surplus of $10,000,000,000 (calculated and reported in substantially the same manner as prescribed by the annual statement instructions and Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual of the NAIC) and which has continuously transacted an insurance business outside the United States for at least three (3) years immediately prior to making application for accreditation, shall:

a. Consist of funds in trust in an amount not less than the assuming insurers' several liabilities attributable to business ceded by U.S. domiciled ceding insurers to any members of the group pursuant to reinsurance contracts issued in the name of such group;

b. Maintain a joint trusteed surplus of which $100,000,000 shall be held jointly for the benefit of U.S. domiciled ceding insurers of any member of the group; and c, File a properly executed Form AR-1 as evidence of the submission to this state's authority to examine the books and records of any of its members and shall certify that any member examined will bear the expense of any such examination.

6. Within ninety (90) days after the statements are due to be filed with the group's domiciliary regulator, the group shall file with the Commissioner an annual certification of each underwriter member's solvency by the member's domiciliary regulators, and financial statements, prepared by independent public accountants, of each underwriter member of the group.

C. Credit for reinsurance shall not be granted unless the form of the trust and any amendments to the trust have been approved by either the Commissioner of the state where the trust is domiciled or the commissioner of another state who, pursuant to the terms of the trust instrument, has accepted responsibility for regulatory oversight of the trust. The form of the trust and any trust amendments also shall be filed with the commissioner of every state in which the ceding insurer beneficiaries of the trust are domiciled.

1. The trust instrument shall provide that:

a. Contested claims shall be valid and enforceable out of funds in trust to the extent remaining unsatisfied thirty (30) days after entry of the final order of any court of competent jurisdiction in the United States;

b. Legal title to the assets of the trust shall be vested in the trustee for the benefit of the grantor's U.S. ceding insurers, their assigns and successors in interest;

e. No later than February 28 of each year the trustee of the trust shall report to the Commissioner in writing setting forth the balance in the trust and listing the trust's investments at the preceding year-end, and shall certify the date of termination of the trust, if so planned, or certify that the trust shall not expire prior to the following December 31.

2. Notwithstanding any other provisions in the trust instrument, if the trust fund is inadequate because it contains an amount less than the amount required by this subsection or if the grantor of the trust has been declared insolvent or placed into receivership, rehabilitation, liquidation or similar proceedings under the laws of its state or country of domicile, the trustee shall comply with an order of the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust or with an order of a court of competent jurisdiction directing the trustee to transfer to the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust or other designated receiver all of the assets of the trust fund.

a. The assets shall be distributed by and claims shall be filed with and valued by the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust in accordance with the laws of the state in which the trust is domiciled applicable to the liquidation of domestic insurance companies.

b. If the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust determines that the assets of the trust fund or any part thereof are not necessary to satisfy the claims of the U.S. beneficiaries of the trust, the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust shall return the assets, or any part thereof, to the trustee for distribution in accordance with the trust agreement.

c. The grantor shall waive any right otherwise available to it under U.S. law that is inconsistent with this provision.

D. For purposes of this section, the term "liabilities" shall mean the assuming insurer's gross liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. domiciled insurers excluding liabilities that are otherwise secured by acceptable means, and, shall include:

a. The certified reinsurer's financial strength rating from an acceptable rating agency. The maximum rating that a certified reinsurer may be assigned will correspond to its financial strength rating as outlined in the table below. b. The aggregate amount of reinsurance recoverables on paid losses which are not in dispute that are overdue by ninety (90) days or more exceeds $50,000,000.

6. The assuming insurer must submit a properly executed Form CR-1 (attached as an exhibit to this regulation) as evidence of its submission to the jurisdiction of this state, appointment of the Commissioner as an agent for service of process in this state, and agreement to provide security for one hundred percent (100%) of the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. ceding insurers if it resists enforcement of a final U.S. judgment. The Commissioner shall not certify any assuming insurer that is domiciled in a jurisdiction that the Commissioner has determined does not adequately and promptly enforce final U.S. judgments or arbitration awards.

7. The certified reinsurer must agree to meet applicable information filing requirements as determined by the Commissioner, both with respect to an initial application for certification and on an ongoing basis. All information submitted by certified reinsurers which are not otherwise public information subject to disclosure shall be exempted from disclosure under Section 24-72-204(3)(a)(IV), C.R.S. and shall be withheld from public disclosure. The applicable information filing requirements are, as follows:

a. Notification within ten (10) days of any regulatory actions taken against the certified reinsurer, any change in the provisions of its domiciliary license or any change in rating by an approved rating agency, including a statement describing such changes and the reasons therefore;

b. Annually, Form CR-F or CR-S, as applicable;

c. Annually, the report of the independent auditor on the financial statements of the insurance enterprise, on the basis described in Subsection (d) below;

d. Annually, the most recent audited financial statements~~(audited U.S. GAAP basis if available, audited IFRS basis statements are allowed but must include an audited footnote reconciling equity and net income to a U.S. GAAP basis, or, with the permission of the state insurance commissioner, audited IFRS statements with reconciliation to U.S. GAAP certified by an officer of the company)~~, regulatory filings, and actuarial opinion (as filed with the certified reinsurer's supervisor, with a translation into English). Upon the initial certification, audited financial statements for the ~~last three (3)~~ two (2) years filed with the certified reinsurer's supervisor;

e. At least annually, an updated list of all disputed and overdue reinsurance claims regarding reinsurance assumed from U.S. domestic ceding insurers;

f. A certification from the certified reinsurer's domestic regulator that the certified reinsurer is in good standing and maintains capital in excess of the jurisdiction's highest regulatory action level; and

g. Any other information that the Commissioner may reasonably require.

8. Change in Rating or Revocation of Certification.

a. In the case of a downgrade by a rating agency or other disqualifying circumstance, the Commissioner shall upon written notice assign a new rating to the certified reinsurer in accordance with the requirements of Subparagraph (4)(a).

b. The Commissioner shall have the authority to suspend, revoke, or otherwise modify a certified reinsurer's certification at any time if the certified reinsurer fails to meet its obligations or security requirements under this section, or if other financial or operating results of the certified reinsurer, or documented significant delays in payment by the certified reinsurer, lead the Commissioner to reconsider the certified reinsurer's ability or willingness to meet its contractual obligations.

c. If the rating of a certified reinsurer is upgraded by the Commissioner, the certified reinsurer may meet the security requirements applicable to its new rating on a prospective basis, but the Commissioner shall require the certified reinsurer to post security under the previously applicable security requirements as to all contracts in force on or before the effective date of the upgraded rating. If the rating of a certified reinsurer is downgraded by the Commissioner, the Commissioner shall require the certified reinsurer to meet the security requirements applicable to its new rating for all business it has assumed as a certified reinsurer.

d. Upon revocation of the certification of a certified reinsurer by the Commissioner, the assuming insurer shall be required to post security in accordance with Section 11~~10~~ in order for the ceding insurer to continue to take credit for reinsurance ceded to the assuming insurer. If funds continue to be held in trust in accordance with Section 7, the Commissioner may allow additional credit equal to the ceding insurer's pro rata share of such funds, discounted to reflect the risk of uncollectibility and anticipated expenses of trust administration. Notwithstanding the change of a certified reinsurer's rating or revocation of its certification, a domestic insurer that has ceded reinsurance to that certified reinsurer may not be denied credit for reinsurance for a period of three (3) months for all reinsurance ceded to that certified reinsurer, unless the reinsurance is found by the Commissioner to be at high risk of uncollectibility.

C. Qualified Jurisdictions.

1. If, upon conducting an evaluation under this section with respect to the reinsurance supervisory system of any non-U.S. assuming insurer, the Commissioner determines that the jurisdiction qualifies to be recognized as a qualified jurisdiction, the Commissioner shall publish notice and evidence of such recognition in an appropriate manner. The Commissioner may establish a procedure to withdraw recognition of those jurisdictions that are no longer qualified.

2. In order to determine whether the domiciliary jurisdiction of a non-U.S. assuming insurer is eligible to be recognized as a qualified jurisdiction, the Commissioner shall evaluate the reinsurance supervisory system of the non-U.S. jurisdiction, both initially and on an ongoing basis, and consider the rights, benefits and the extent of reciprocal recognition afforded by the non-U.S. jurisdiction to reinsurers licensed and domiciled in the U.S. The Commissioner shall determine the appropriate approach for evaluating the qualifications of such jurisdictions, and create and publish a list of jurisdictions whose reinsurers may be approved by the Commissioner as eligible for certification. A qualified jurisdiction must agree to share information and cooperate with the Commissioner with respect to all certified reinsurers domiciled within that jurisdiction. Additional factors to be considered in determining whether to recognize a qualified jurisdiction, in the discretion of the Commissioner, include but are not limited to the following:

   a. The framework under which the assuming insurer is regulated.

   b. The structure and authority of the domiciliary regulator with regard to solvency regulation requirements and financial surveillance.

   c. The substance of financial and operating standards for assuming insurers in the domiciliary jurisdiction.

   d. The form and substance of financial reports required to be filed or made publicly available by reinsurers in the domiciliary jurisdiction and the accounting principles used.

   e. The domiciliary regulator's willingness to cooperate with U.S. regulators in general and the Commissioner in particular.

   f. The history of performance by assuming insurers in the domiciliary jurisdiction.

   g. Any documented evidence of substantial problems with the enforcement of final U.S. judgments in the domiciliary jurisdiction. A jurisdiction will not be considered to be a qualified jurisdiction if the Commissioner has determined that it does not adequately and promptly enforce final U.S. judgments or arbitration awards.

   h. Any relevant international standards or guidance with respect to mutual recognition of reinsurance supervision adopted by the International Association of Insurance Supervisors or successor organization.

   i. Any other matters deemed relevant by the Commissioner.

3. A list of qualified jurisdictions shall be published through the NAIC Committee Process. The Commissioner shall consider this list in determining qualified jurisdictions. If the Commissioner approves a jurisdiction as qualified that does not appear on the list of qualified jurisdictions, the Commissioner shall provide thoroughly documented justification with respect to the criteria provided under Subsection~~s~~ 8~~.~~C(2)(a) to (i).

4. U.S. jurisdictions that meet the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC financial standards and accreditation program shall be recognized as qualified jurisdictions.

D. Recognition of Certification Issued by an NAIC Accredited Jurisdiction.

1. If an applicant for certification has been certified as a reinsurer in an NAIC accredited jurisdiction, the Commissioner has the discretion to defer to that jurisdiction's certification, and to defer to the rating assigned by that jurisdiction, if the assuming insurer submits a properly executed Form CR- 1 and such additional information as the Commissioner requires. The assuming insurer shall be considered to be a certified reinsurer in this state.

2. Any change in the certified reinsurer's status or rating in the other jurisdiction shall apply automatically in this state as of the date it takes effect in the other jurisdiction. The certified reinsurer shall notify the Commissioner of any change in its status or rating within 10 days after receiving notice of the change.

3. The Commissioner may withdraw recognition of the other jurisdiction's rating at any time and assign a new rating in accordance with Subsection B(8) of this section.

4. The Commissioner may withdraw recognition of the other jurisdiction's certification at any time, with written notice to the certified reinsurer. Unless the Commissioner suspends or revokes the certified reinsurer's certification in accordance with Subsection B(8) of this section, the certified reinsurer's certification shall remain in good standing in this state for a period of three (3) months, which shall be extended if additional time is necessary to consider the assuming insurer's application for certification in this state.

E. Mandatory Funding Clause. In addition to the clauses required under Section 15~~14~~, reinsurance contracts entered into or renewed under this section shall include a proper funding clause, which requires the certified reinsurer to provide and maintain security in an amount sufficient to avoid the imposition of any financial statement penalty on the ceding insurer under this section for reinsurance ceded to the certified reinsurer.

F. The Commissioner shall comply with all reporting and notification requirements that may be established by the NAIC with respect to certified reinsurers and qualified jurisdictions.

Section 9 Credit for Reinsurance—Reciprocal Jurisdictions

A. Pursuant to Section 10-3-702(6.5), C.R.S., the Commissioner shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer that is licensed to write reinsurance by, and has its head office or is domiciled in, a Reciprocal Jurisdiction, and which meets the other requirements of this regulation.

B. A "Reciprocal Jurisdiction" is a jurisdiction, as designated by the Commissioner pursuant to Subsection D, that meets one of the following:

1. A non-U.S. jurisdiction that is subject to an in-force covered agreement with the United States, each within its legal authority, or, in the case of a covered agreement between the United States and the European Union, is a member state of the European Union. For purposes of this subsection, a "covered agreement" is an agreement entered into pursuant to the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, 31 U.S.C. §§ 313 and 314, that is currently in effect or in a period of provisional application and addresses the elimination, under specified conditions, of collateral requirements as a condition for entering into any reinsurance agreement with a ceding insurer domiciled in this state or for allowing the ceding insurer to recognize credit for reinsurance;

2. A U.S. jurisdiction that meets the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC financial standards and accreditation program; or

3. A qualified jurisdiction, as determined by the Commissioner pursuant to Section 10-3-702(6), C.R.S. and Section 8C, which is not otherwise described in Paragraph (1) or (2) above and which the Commissioner determines meets all of the following additional requirements:

a. Provides that an insurer which has its head office or is domiciled in such qualified jurisdiction shall receive credit for reinsurance ceded to a U.S.-domiciled assuming insurer in the same manner as credit for reinsurance is received for reinsurance assumed by insurers domiciled in such qualified jurisdiction;

b. Does not require a U.S.-domiciled assuming insurer to establish or maintain a local presence as a condition for entering into a reinsurance agreement with any ceding insurer subject to regulation by the non-U.S. jurisdiction or as a condition to allow the ceding insurer to recognize credit for such reinsurance;

c. Recognizes the U.S. state regulatory approach to group supervision and group capital, by providing written confirmation by a competent regulatory authority, in such qualified jurisdiction, that insurers and insurance groups that are domiciled or maintain their headquarters in this state or another jurisdiction accredited by the NAIC shall be subject only to worldwide prudential insurance group supervision including worldwide group governance, solvency and capital, and reporting, as applicable, by the Commissioner or the Commissioner of the domiciliary state and will not be subject to group supervision at the level of the worldwide parent undertaking of the insurance or reinsurance group by the qualified jurisdiction; and

d. Provides written confirmation by a competent regulatory authority in such qualified jurisdiction that information regarding insurers and their parent, subsidiary, or affiliated entities, if applicable, shall be provided to the Commissioner in accordance with a memorandum of understanding or similar document between the Commissioner and such qualified jurisdiction, including but not limited to the International Association of Insurance Supervisors Multilateral Memorandum of Understanding or other multilateral memoranda of understanding coordinated by the NAIC.

C. Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded from an insurer domiciled in this state to an assuming insurer meeting each of the conditions set forth below.

1. The assuming insurer must be licensed to transact reinsurance by, and have its head office or be domiciled in, a Reciprocal Jurisdiction.

2. The assuming insurer must have and maintain on an ongoing basis minimum capital and surplus, or its equivalent, calculated on at least an annual basis as of the preceding December 31 or at the annual date otherwise statutorily reported to the Reciprocal Jurisdiction, and confirmed as set forth in Subsection C(7) according to the methodology of its domiciliary jurisdiction, in the following amounts:

a. No less than $250,000,000; or

b. If the assuming insurer is an association, including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters:

(1) Minimum capital and surplus equivalents (net of liabilities) or own funds of the equivalent of at least $250,000,000; and

(2) A central fund containing a balance of the equivalent of at least $250,000,000.

3. The assuming insurer must have and maintain on an ongoing basis a minimum solvency or capital ratio, as applicable, as follows:

a. If the assuming insurer has its head office or is domiciled in a Reciprocal Jurisdiction as defined in Section 9B(1), the ratio specified in the applicable covered agreement;

b. If the assuming insurer is domiciled in a Reciprocal Jurisdiction as defined in Section 9B(2), a risk-based capital (RBC) ratio of three hundred percent (300%) of the authorized control level, calculated in accordance with the formula developed by the NAIC; or

c. If the assuming insurer is domiciled in a Reciprocal Jurisdiction as defined in Section 9B(3), after consultation with the Reciprocal Jurisdiction and considering any recommendations published through the NAIC Committee Process, such solvency or capital ratio as the Commissioner determines to be an effective measure of solvency.

4. The assuming insurer must agree to and provide adequate assurance, in the form of a properly executed Form RJ-1 (attached as an exhibit to this regulation), of its agreement to the following:

a. The assuming insurer must agree to provide prompt written notice and explanation to the Commissioner if it falls below the minimum requirements set forth in Paragraphs (2) or (3) of this subsection, or if any regulatory action is taken against it for serious noncompliance with applicable law.

b. The assuming insurer must consent in writing to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state and to the appointment of the Commissioner as agent for service of process.

(1) The Commissioner may also require that such consent be provided and included in each reinsurance agreement under the Commissioner's jurisdiction.

(2) Nothing in this provision shall limit or in any way alter the capacity of parties to a reinsurance agreement to agree to alternative dispute resolution mechanisms, except to the extent such agreements are unenforceable under applicable insolvency or delinquency laws.

c. The assuming insurer must consent in writing to pay all final judgments, wherever enforcement is sought, obtained by a ceding insurer, that have been declared enforceable in the territory where the judgment was obtained.

d. Each reinsurance agreement must include a provision requiring the assuming insurer to provide security in an amount equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded pursuant to that agreement if the assuming insurer resists enforcement of a final judgment that is enforceable under the law of the jurisdiction in which it was obtained or a properly enforceable arbitration award, whether obtained by the ceding insurer or by its legal successor on behalf of its estate, if applicable.

e. The assuming insurer must confirm that it is not presently participating in any solvent scheme of arrangement, which involves this state's ceding insurers, and agrees to notify the ceding insurer and the Commissioner and to provide one hundred percent (100%) security to the ceding insurer consistent with the terms of the scheme, should the assuming insurer enter into such a solvent scheme of arrangement. Such security shall be in a form consistent with the provisions of Section 10-3-702(6), C.R.S., Section 10-3-703, C.R.S. and Section 12, 13 or 14 of this regulation. For purposes of this regulation, the term "solvent scheme of arrangement" means a foreign or alien statutory or regulatory compromise procedure subject to requisite majority creditor approval and judicial sanction in the assuming insurer's home jurisdiction either to finally commute liabilities of duly noticed classed members or creditors of a solvent debtor, or to reorganize or restructure the debts and obligations of a solvent debtor on a final basis, and which may be subject to judicial recognition and enforcement of the arrangement by a governing authority outside the ceding insurer's home jurisdiction.

f. The assuming insurer must agree in writing to meet the applicable information filing requirements as set forth in Paragraph (5) of this subsection.

5. The assuming insurer or its legal successor must provide, if requested by the Commissioner, on behalf of itself and any legal predecessors, the following documentation to the Commissioner:

a. For the two years preceding entry into the reinsurance agreement and on an annual basis thereafter, the assuming insurer's annual audited financial statements, in accordance with the applicable law of the jurisdiction of its head office or domiciliary jurisdiction, as applicable, including the external audit report;

b. For the two years preceding entry into the reinsurance agreement, the solvency and financial condition report or actuarial opinion, if filed with the assuming insurer's supervisor;

c. Prior to entry into the reinsurance agreement and not more than semi-annually thereafter, an updated list of all disputed and overdue reinsurance claims outstanding for 90 days or more, regarding reinsurance assumed from ceding insurers domiciled in the United States; and

d. Prior to entry into the reinsurance agreement and not more than semi-annually thereafter, information regarding the assuming insurer's assumed reinsurance by ceding insurer, ceded reinsurance by the assuming insurer, and reinsurance recoverable on paid and unpaid losses by the assuming insurer to allow for the evaluation of the criteria set forth in Paragraph (6) of this subsection.

6. The assuming insurer must maintain a practice of prompt payment of claims under reinsurance agreements. The lack of prompt payment will be evidenced if any of the following criteria is met:

a. More than fifteen percent (15%) of the reinsurance recoverables from the assuming insurer are overdue and in dispute as reported to the Commissioner;

b. More than fifteen percent (15%) of the assuming insurer's ceding insurers or reinsurers have overdue reinsurance recoverable on paid losses of 90 days or more which are not in dispute and which exceed for each ceding insurer $100,000, or as otherwise specified in a covered agreement; or

c. The aggregate amount of reinsurance recoverable on paid losses which are not in dispute, but are overdue by 90 days or more, exceeds $50,000,000, or as otherwise specified in a covered agreement.

7. The assuming insurer's supervisory authority must confirm to the Commissioner on an annual basis that the assuming insurer complies with the requirements set forth in Paragraphs (2) and (3) of this subsection.

8. Nothing in this provision precludes an assuming insurer from providing the Commissioner with information on a voluntary basis.

D. The Commissioner shall timely create and publish a list of Reciprocal Jurisdictions.

1. A list of Reciprocal Jurisdictions is published through the NAIC Committee Process. The Commissioner's list shall include any Reciprocal Jurisdiction as defined under Section 9B(1) and (2), and shall consider any other Reciprocal Jurisdiction included on the NAIC list. The Commissioner may approve a jurisdiction that does not appear on the NAIC list of Reciprocal Jurisdictions as provided by applicable law, regulation, or in accordance with criteria published through the NAIC Committee Process.

2. The Commissioner may remove a jurisdiction from the list of Reciprocal Jurisdictions upon a determination that the jurisdiction no longer meets one or more of the requirements of a Reciprocal Jurisdiction, as provided by applicable law, regulation, or in accordance with a process published through the NAIC Committee Process, except that the Commissioner shall not remove from the list a Reciprocal Jurisdiction as defined under Section 9B(1) and (2). Upon removal of a Reciprocal Jurisdiction from this list credit for reinsurance ceded to an assuming insurer domiciled in that jurisdiction shall be allowed, if otherwise allowed pursuant to Section 10-3-701 et. seq., C.R.S. or this regulation.

E. The Commissioner shall timely create and publish a list of assuming insurers that have satisfied the conditions set forth in this section and to which cessions shall be granted credit in accordance with this section.

1. If an NAIC accredited jurisdiction has determined that the conditions set forth in Subsection C have been met, the Commissioner has the discretion to defer to that jurisdiction's determination, and add such assuming insurer to the list of assuming insurers to which cessions shall be granted credit in accordance with this subsection. The Commissioner may accept financial documentation filed with another NAIC accredited jurisdiction or with the NAIC in satisfaction of the requirements of Subsection C.

2. When requesting that the Commissioner defer to another NAIC accredited jurisdiction's determination, an assuming insurer must submit a properly executed Form RJ-1 and additional information as the Commissioner may require. A state that has received such a request will notify other states through the NAIC Committee Process and provide relevant information with respect to the determination of eligibility.

F. If the Commissioner determines that an assuming insurer no longer meets one or more of the requirements under this section, the Commissioner may revoke or suspend the eligibility of the assuming insurer for recognition under this section.

1. While an assuming insurer's eligibility is suspended, no reinsurance agreement issued, amended or renewed after the effective date of the suspension qualifies for credit except to the extent that the assuming insurer's obligations under the contract are secured in accordance with Section 11.

2. If an assuming insurer's eligibility is revoked, no credit for reinsurance may be granted after the effective date of the revocation with respect to any reinsurance agreements entered into by the assuming insurer, including reinsurance agreements entered into prior to the date of revocation, except to the extent that the assuming insurer's obligations under the contract are secured in a form acceptable to the Commissioner and consistent with the provisions of Section 11.

G. Before denying statement credit or imposing a requirement to post security with respect to Section 9F of this regulation or adopting any similar requirement that will have substantially the same regulatory impact as security, the Commissioner shall:

1. Communicate with the ceding insurer, the assuming insurer, and the assuming insurer's supervisory authority that the assuming insurer no longer satisfies one of the conditions listed in Subsection C of this section;

2. Provide the assuming insurer with 30 days from the initial communication to submit a plan to remedy the defect, and 90 days from the initial communication to remedy the defect, except in exceptional circumstances in which a shorter period is necessary for policyholder and other consumer protection;

3. After the expiration of 90 days or less, as set out in Paragraph (2), if the Commissioner determines that no or insufficient action was taken by the assuming insurer, the Commissioner may impose any of the requirements as set out in this subsection; and

4. Provide a written explanation to the assuming insurer of any of the requirements set out in this subsection.

H. If subject to a legal process of rehabilitation, liquidation or conservation, as applicable, the ceding insurer, or its representative, may seek and, if determined appropriate by the court in which the proceedings are pending, may obtain an order requiring that the assuming insurer post security for all outstanding liabilities.

Section ~~9~~10 Credit for Reinsurance Required by Law

Pursuant to Section 10-3-702(7), C.R.S., the Commissioner shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of Section 10-3-702(2,3,4,5,6, or 6.5), C.R.S., but only as to the insurance of risks located in jurisdictions where the reinsurance is required by the applicable law or regulation of that jurisdiction. As used in this section, "jurisdiction" means state, district or territory of the United States and any lawful national government.

Section ~~10~~11 Asset or Reduction from Liability for Reinsurance Ceded to an Unauthorized Assuming Insurer not Meeting the Requirements of Sections 4 through ~~9~~10

A. Pursuant to Section 10-3-703, C.R.S., the Commissioner shall allow a reduction from liability for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of Section 10-3-702, et. seq., C.R.S. in an amount not exceeding the liabilities carried by the ceding insurer. The reduction shall be in the amount of funds held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer, including funds held in trust for the exclusive benefit of the ceding insurer, under a reinsurance contract with such assuming insurer as security for the payment of obligations under the reinsurance contract. The security shall be held in the United States subject to withdrawal solely by, and under the exclusive control of, the ceding insurer or, in the case of a trust, held in a qualified United States financial institution as defined in Section 10-3-704(2), C.R.S. This security may be in the form of any of the following:

1. Cash;

2. Securities listed by the Securities Valuation Office of the NAIC, including those deemed exempt from filing as defined by the Purposes and Procedures Manual of the Securities Valuation Office, and qualifying as admitted assets;

3. Clean, irrevocable, unconditional and "evergreen" letters of credit issued or confirmed by a qualified United States institution, as defined in Section 10-3-704(1), C.R.S., effective no later than December 31 of the year for which filing is being made, and in the possession of, or in trust for, the ceding insurer on or before the filing date of its annual statement. Letters of credit meeting applicable standards of issuer acceptability as of the dates of their issuance (or confirmation) shall, notwithstanding the issuing (or confirming) institution's subsequent failure to meet applicable standards of issuer acceptability, continue to be acceptable as security until their expiration, extension, renewal, modification or amendment, whichever first occurs; or

4. Any other form of security acceptable to the Commissioner.

B. An admitted asset or a reduction from liability for reinsurance ceded to an unauthorized assuming insurer pursuant to this section shall be allowed only when the requirements of Section ~~14~~ -15 and the applicable portions of Sections ~~11, 12, or 13~~ 12, 13 or 14 of this regulation have been satisfied.

Section ~~11~~12 Trust Agreements Qualified under Section ~~10~~11

A. As used in this section:

1. "Beneficiary" means the entity for whose sole benefit the trust has been established and any successor of the beneficiary by operation of law. If a court of law appoints a successor in interest to the named beneficiary, then the named beneficiary includes and is limited to the court appointed domiciliary receiver (including conservator, rehabilitator or liquidator).

2. "Grantor" means the entity that has established a trust for the sole benefit of the beneficiary. When established in conjunction with a reinsurance agreement, the grantor is the unlicensed, unaccredited assuming insurer.

3. "Obligations," as used in Subsection B(11) of this section means:

a. Reinsured losses and allocated loss expenses paid by the ceding company, but not recovered from the assuming insurer;

b. Reserves for reinsured losses reported and outstanding;

c. Reserves for reinsured losses incurred but not reported; and

d. Reserves for allocated reinsured loss expenses and unearned premiums.

B. Required conditions.

1. The trust agreement shall be entered into between the beneficiary, the grantor and a trustee, which shall be a qualified United States financial institution as defined in Section 10-3-704(2), C.R.S.

2. The trust agreement shall create a trust account into which assets shall be deposited.

3. All assets in the trust account shall be held by the trustee at the trustee's office in the United States.

4. The trust agreement shall provide that:

    a. The beneficiary shall have the right to withdraw assets from the trust account at any time, without notice to the grantor, subject only to written notice from the beneficiary to the trustee;

    b. No other statement or document is required to be presented to withdraw assets, except that the beneficiary may be required to acknowledge receipt of withdrawn assets;

    c. It is not subject to any conditions or qualifications outside of the trust agreement; and

    d. It shall not contain references to any other agreements or documents except as provided for in Paragraphs (11) and (12) of this subsection.

5. The trust agreement shall be established for the sole benefit of the beneficiary.

6. The trust agreement shall require the trustee to:

    a. Receive assets and hold all assets in a safe place;

    b. Determine that all assets are in such form that the beneficiary, or the trustee upon direction by the beneficiary, may whenever necessary negotiate any such assets, without consent or signature from the grantor or any other person or entity;

    c. Furnish to the grantor and the beneficiary a statement of all assets in the trust account upon its inception and at intervals no less frequent than the end of each calendar quarter;

    d. Notify the grantor and the beneficiary within ten (10) days, of any deposits to or withdrawals from the trust account;

    e. Upon written demand of the beneficiary, immediately take any and all steps necessary to transfer absolutely and unequivocally all right, title and interest in the assets held in the trust account to the beneficiary and deliver physical custody of the assets to the beneficiary; and

    f. Allow no substitutions or withdrawals of assets from the trust account, except on written instructions from the beneficiary, except that the trustee may, without the consent of but with notice to the beneficiary, upon call or maturity of any trust asset, withdraw such asset upon condition that the proceeds are paid into the trust account.

7. The trust agreement shall provide that at least thirty (30) days, but not more than forty-five (45) days, prior to termination of the trust account, written notification of termination shall be delivered by the trustee to the beneficiary.

8. The trust agreement shall be made subject to and governed by the laws of the state in which the trust is domiciled.

9. The trust agreement shall prohibit invasion of the trust corpus for the purpose of paying commission to, or reimbursing the expenses of, the trustee. In order for a letter of credit to qualify as an asset of the trust, the trustee shall have the right and the obligation pursuant to the deed of trust or some other binding agreement (as duly approved by the Commissioner), to immediately draw down the full amount of the letter of credit and hold the proceeds in trust for the beneficiaries of the trust if the letter of credit will otherwise expire without being renewed or replaced.

10. The trust agreement shall provide that the trustee shall be liable for its negligence, willful misconduct or lack of good faith. The failure of the trustee to draw against the letter of credit in circumstances where such draw would be required shall be deemed to be negligence and/or willful misconduct.

11. Notwithstanding other provisions of this regulation, when a trust agreement is established in conjunction with a reinsurance agreement covering risks other than life, annuities and accident and health, where it is customary practice to provide a trust agreement for a specific purpose, the trust agreement may provide that the ceding insurer shall undertake to use and apply amounts drawn upon the trust account, without diminution because of the insolvency of the ceding insurer or the assuming insurer, only for the following purposes:

    a. To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for the assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement regarding any losses and allocated loss expenses paid by the ceding insurer, but not recovered from the assuming insurer, or for unearned premiums due to the ceding insurer if not otherwise paid by the assuming insurer;

    b. To make payment to the assuming insurer of any amounts held in the trust account that exceed 102 percent of the actual amount required to fund the assuming insurer's obligations under the specific reinsurance agreement; or

    c. Where the ceding insurer has received notification of termination of the trust account and where the assuming insurer's entire obligations under the specific reinsurance agreement remain unliquidated and undischarged ten (10) days prior to the termination date, to withdraw amounts equal to the obligations and deposit those amounts in a separate account, in the name of the ceding insurer in any qualified U.S. financial institution as defined in Section 10-3-704(2), C.R.S. apart from its general assets, in trust for such uses and purposes specified in Subparagraphs (a) and (b) above as may remain executory after such withdrawal and for any period after the termination date.

12. Notwithstanding other provisions of this regulation, when a trust agreement is established to meet the requirements of Section ~~10~~ 11 in conjunction with a reinsurance agreement covering life, annuities or accident and health risks, where it is customary to provide a trust agreement for a specific purpose, the trust agreement may provide that the ceding insurer shall undertake to use and apply amounts drawn upon the trust account, without diminution because of the insolvency of the ceding insurer or the assuming insurer, only for the following purposes:

    a. To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for:

        (1) The assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement of premiums returned, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurer, to the owners of policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement on account of cancellations of the policies; and

(2) The assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement of surrenders and benefits or losses paid by the ceding insurer, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurer, under the terms and provisions of the policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement;

b. To pay to the assuming insurer amounts held in the trust account in excess of the amount necessary to secure the credit or reduction from liability for reinsurance taken by the ceding insurer; or

c. Where the ceding insurer has received notification of termination of the trust and where the assuming insurer's entire obligations under the specific reinsurance agreement remain unliquidated and undischarged ten (10) days prior to the termination date, to withdraw amounts equal to the assuming insurer's share of liabilities, to the extent that the liabilities have not yet been funded by the assuming insurer, and deposit those amounts in a separate account, in the name of the ceding insurer in any qualified U.S. financial institution apart from its general assets, in trust for the uses and purposes specified in Subparagraphs (a) and (b) of this paragraph as may remain executory after withdrawal and for any period after the termination date.

13. Either the reinsurance agreement or the trust agreement must stipulate that assets deposited in the trust account shall be valued according to their current fair market value and shall consist only of cash in United States dollars, certificates of deposit issued by a United States bank and payable in United States dollars, and investments permitted by the Insurance Code or any combination of the above, provided investments in or issued by an entity controlling, controlled by or under common control with either the grantor or the beneficiary of the trust shall not exceed five percent (5%) of total investments. The agreement may further specify the types of investments to be deposited. If the reinsurance agreement covers life, annuities or accident and health risks, then the provisions required by this paragraph must be included in the reinsurance agreement.

C. Permitted conditions.

1. The trust agreement may provide that the trustee may resign upon delivery of a written notice of resignation, effective not less than ninety (90) days after the beneficiary and grantor receive the notice and that the trustee may be removed by the grantor by delivery to the trustee and the beneficiary of a written notice of removal, effective not less than ninety (90) days after the trustee and the beneficiary receive the notice, provided that no such resignation or removal shall be effective until a successor trustee has been duly appointed and approved by the beneficiary and the grantor and all assets in the trust have been duly transferred to the new trustee.

2. The grantor may have the full and unqualified right to vote any shares of stock in the trust account and to receive from time to time payments of any dividends or interest upon any shares of stock or obligations included in the trust account. Any interest or dividends shall be either forwarded promptly upon receipt to the grantor or deposited in a separate account established in the grantor's name.

3. The trustee may be given authority to invest, and accept substitutions of, any funds in the account, provided that no investment or substitution shall be made without prior approval of the beneficiary, unless the trust agreement specifies categories of investments acceptable to the beneficiary and authorizes the trustee to invest funds and to accept substitutions that the trustee determines are at least equal in current fair market value to the assets withdrawn and that are consistent with the restrictions in Subsection D(1)(b) of this section.

4. The trust agreement may provide that the beneficiary may at any time designate a party to which all or part of the trust assets are to be transferred. Transfer may be conditioned upon the trustee receiving, prior to or simultaneously, other specified assets.

5. The trust agreement may provide that, upon termination of the trust account, all assets not previously withdrawn by the beneficiary shall, with written approval by the beneficiary, be delivered over to the grantor.

D. Additional conditions applicable to reinsurance agreements:

1. A reinsurance agreement may contain provisions that:

a. Require the assuming insurer to enter into a trust agreement and to establish a trust account for the benefit of the ceding insurer, and specifying what the agreement is to cover;

b. Require the assuming insurer, prior to depositing assets with the trustee, to execute assignments or endorsements in blank, or to transfer legal title to the trustee of all shares, obligations or any other assets requiring assignments, in order that the ceding insurer, or the trustee upon the direction of the ceding insurer, may whenever necessary negotiate these assets without consent or signature from the assuming insurer or any other entity;

c. Require that all settlements of account between the ceding insurer and the assuming insurer be made in cash or its equivalent; and

d. Stipulate that the assuming insurer and the ceding insurer agree that the assets in the trust account, established pursuant to the provisions of the reinsurance agreement, may be withdrawn by the ceding insurer at any time, notwithstanding any other provisions in the reinsurance agreement, and shall be utilized and applied by the ceding insurer or its successors in interest by operation of law, including without limitation any liquidator, rehabilitator, receiver or conservator of such company, without diminution because of insolvency on the part of the ceding insurer or the assuming insurer, only for the following purposes:

(1) To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for:

(a) The assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement of premiums returned, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurer, to the owners of policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement because of cancellations of such policies;

(b) The assuming insurer's share of surrenders and benefits or losses paid by the ceding insurer pursuant to the provisions of the policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement; and

(c) Any other amounts necessary to secure the credit or reduction from liability for reinsurance taken by the ceding insurer;

(2) To make payment to the assuming insurer of amounts held in the trust account in excess of the amount necessary to secure the credit or reduction from liability for reinsurance taken by the ceding insurer.

2. The reinsurance agreement also may contain provisions that:

a. Give the assuming insurer the right to seek approval from the ceding insurer, which shall not be unreasonably or arbitrarily withheld, to withdraw from the trust account all or any part of the trust assets and transfer those assets to the assuming insurer, provided:

(1) The assuming insurer shall, at the time of withdrawal, replace the withdrawn assets with other qualified assets having a current fair market value equal to the market value of the assets withdrawn so as to maintain at all times the deposit in the required amount; or

(2) After withdrawal and transfer, the current fair market value of the trust account is no less than 102 percent of the required amount.

b. Provide for the return of any amount withdrawn in excess of the actual amounts required for Paragraph (1)(d) of this subsection, and for interest payments at a rate not in excess of the prime rate of interest on such amounts;

c. Permit the award by any arbitration panel or court of competent jurisdiction of:

(1) Interest at a rate different from that provided in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph;

(2) Court or arbitration costs;

(3) Attorney's fees; and

(4) Any other reasonable expenses.

E. Financial reporting. A trust agreement may be used to reduce any liability for reinsurance ceded to an unauthorized assuming insurer in financial statements required to be filed with this department in compliance with the provisions of this regulation when established on or before the date of filing of the financial statement of the ceding insurer. Further, the reduction for the existence of an acceptable trust account may be up to the current fair market value of acceptable assets available to be withdrawn from the trust account at that time, but such reduction shall be no greater than the specific obligations under the reinsurance agreement that the trust account was established to secure.

F. Existing agreements. Notwithstanding the effective date of this regulation, any trust agreement or underlying reinsurance agreement in existence prior to January 1, 2015 will continue to be acceptable until January 1, 2016, at which time the agreements will have to fully comply with this regulation for the trust agreement to be acceptable.

G. The failure of any trust agreement to specifically identify the beneficiary as defined in Subsection A of this section shall not be construed to affect any actions or rights that the Commissioner may take or possess pursuant to the provisions of the laws of this state.

Section ~~12~~13 Letters of Credit Qualified under Section ~~10~~11

A. The letter of credit must be clean, irrevocable, unconditional and issued or confirmed by a qualified United States financial institution as defined in Section 10-3-704(1), C.R.S. The letter of credit shall contain an issue date and expiration date and shall stipulate that the beneficiary need only draw a sight draft under the letter of credit and present it to obtain funds and that no other document need be presented. The letter of credit also shall indicate that it is not subject to any condition or qualifications outside of the letter of credit. In addition, the letter of credit itself shall not contain reference to any other agreements, documents or entities, except as provided in Subsection H(1) of this ~~S~~section ~~12~~. As used in this section, "beneficiary" means the domestic insurer for whose benefit the letter of credit has been established and any successor of the beneficiary by operation of law. If a court of law appoints a successor in interest to the named beneficiary, then the named beneficiary includes and is limited to the court appointed domiciliary receiver (including conservator, rehabilitator or liquidator).

B. The heading of the letter of credit may include a boxed section containing the name of the applicant and other appropriate notations to provide a reference for the letter of credit. The boxed section shall be clearly marked to indicate that such information is for internal identification purposes only.

C. The letter of credit shall contain a statement to the effect that the obligation of the qualified United States financial institution under the letter of credit is in no way contingent upon reimbursement with respect thereto.

D. The term of the letter of credit shall be for at least one year and shall contain an "evergreen clause" that prevents the expiration of the letter of credit without due notice from the issuer. The "evergreen clause" shall provide for a period of no less than thirty (30) days notice prior to expiration date or nonrenewal.

E. The letter of credit shall state whether it is subject to and governed by the laws of this state or the Uniform Customs and Practice for Documentary Credits of the International Chamber of Commerce Publication 600 (UCP 600) or International Standby Practices of the International Chamber of Commerce Publication 590 (ISP98), or any successor publication, and all drafts drawn thereunder shall be presentable at an office in the United States of a qualified United States financial institution.

F. If the letter of credit is made subject to the Uniform Customs and Practice for Documentary Credits of the International Chamber of Commerce Publication 600 (UCP 600) or International Standby Practices of the International Chamber of Commerce Publication 590 (ISP98), or any successor publication, then the letter of credit shall specifically address and provide for an extension of time to draw against the letter of credit in the event that one or more of the occurrences specified in Article 36 of Publication 600 or any other successor publication, occur.

G. If the letter of credit is issued by a financial institution authorized to issue letters of credit, other than a qualified United States financial institution as described in Subsection A of this section, then the following additional requirements shall be met:

1. The issuing financial institution shall formally designate the confirming qualified United States financial institution as its agent for the receipt and payment of the drafts; and

2. The "evergreen clause" shall provide for thirty (30) days notice prior to expiration date for nonrenewal.

H. Reinsurance agreement provisions.

1. The reinsurance agreement in conjunction with which the letter of credit is obtained may contain provisions that:

a. Require the assuming insurer to provide letters of credit to the ceding insurer and specify what they are to cover;

b. Stipulate that the assuming insurer and ceding insurer agree that the letter of credit provided by the assuming insurer pursuant to the provisions of the reinsurance agreement may be drawn upon at any time, notwithstanding any other provisions in the agreement, and shall be utilized by the ceding insurer or its successors in interest only for one or more of the following reasons:

(1) To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for:

(a) The assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement of premiums returned, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurers, to the owners of policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement on account of cancellations of such policies;

(b) The assuming insurer's share, under the specific reinsurance agreement, of surrenders and benefits or losses paid by the ceding insurer, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurers, under the terms and provisions of the policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement; and

(c) Any other amounts necessary to secure the credit or reduction from liability for reinsurance taken by the ceding insurer;

(2) Where the letter of credit will expire without renewal or be reduced or replaced by a letter of credit for a reduced amount and where the assuming insurer's entire obligations under the reinsurance agreement remain unliquidated and undischarged ten (10) days prior to the termination date, to withdraw amounts equal to the assuming insurer's share of the liabilities, to the extent that the liabilities have not yet been funded by the assuming insurer and exceed the amount of any reduced or replacement letter of credit, and deposit those amounts in a separate account in the name of the ceding insurer in a qualified U.S. financial institution apart from its general assets, in trust for such uses and purposes specified in Subsection H(1)(b)(i) of this section as may remain after withdrawal and for any period after the termination date.

c. All of the provisions of Paragraph (1) of this subsection shall be applied without diminution because of insolvency on the part of the ceding insurer or assuming insurer.

2. Nothing contained in Paragraph (1) of this subsection shall preclude the ceding insurer and assuming insurer from providing for:

a. An interest payment, at a rate not in excess of the prime rate of interest, on the amounts held pursuant to Subparagraph (1)(b) of this subsection; or

b. The return of any amounts drawn down on the letters of credit in excess of the actual amounts required for the above or any amounts that are subsequently determined not to be due.

Section ~~13~~14 Other Security

A ceding insurer may take credit for unencumbered funds withheld by the ceding insurer in the United States subject to withdrawal solely by the ceding insurer and under its exclusive control.

Section ~~14~~15 Reinsurance Contract

Credit will not be granted, nor an asset or reduction from liability allowed, to a ceding insurer for reinsurance effected with assuming insurers meeting the requirements of Sections 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 or ~~10~~ 11 of this regulation or otherwise in compliance with Section 10-3-702, et. seq. after the adoption of this regulation unless the reinsurance agreement:

A. Includes a proper insolvency clause, which stipulates that reinsurance is payable directly to the liquidator or successor without diminution regardless of the status of the ceding company, pursuant to Section 10-3-531, C.R.S.;

B. Includes a provision pursuant to Section 10-3-702, et. seq., whereby the assuming insurer, if an unauthorized assuming insurer, has submitted to the jurisdiction of an alternative dispute resolution panel or court of competent jurisdiction within the United States, has agreed to comply with all requirements necessary to give the court or panel jurisdiction, has designated an agent upon whom service of process may be effected, and has agreed to abide by the final decision of the court or panel; and

C. Includes a proper reinsurance intermediary clause, if applicable, which stipulates that the credit risk for the intermediary is carried by the assuming insurer.

Section ~~15~~16 Contracts Affected

All new and renewal reinsurance transactions entered into after January 1, 2015, shall conform to the requirements of Sections 10-3-701 through 10-3-706, C.R.S., and this regulation if credit is to be given to the ceding insurer for such reinsurance.

Section ~~16~~17 Severability

If any provision of this regulation or the application of it to any person or circumstance is for any reason held to be invalid, the remainder of this regulation shall not be affected.

Section ~~17~~18 Enforcement

Noncompliance with this regulation may result in the imposition of any of the sanctions made available in the Colorado statutes pertaining to the business of insurance, or other laws, which include the imposition of civil penalties, issuance of cease and desist orders, and/or suspensions or revocation of license, subject to the requirements of due process.

Components of distance education include synchronous, asynchronous, and hybrid.

1.32 Real Property Appraiser Qualification Criteria (Criteria): Pursuant to section 12-10-606(1) and (2), C.R.S. as amended, the Board incorporates by reference in compliance with section 24-4-103(12.5), C.R.S., the Real Property Appraiser Qualification Criteria adopted by the AQB of TAF on ~~May 15, 2020,~~August 24, 2021, including the Required Core Curricula, Guide Notes, and Interpretations relating to the real property appraiser classifications described in Board Rules 1.13, 1.14, and 1.15. This Board Rule 1.32 excludes and does not incorporate by reference the following: the trainee real property appraiser classification and qualification requirements~~,~~; the supervisory appraiser requirements~~,~~; ~~and~~ supervisory appraiser/trainee appraiser course objectives and outline~~.~~; or any later amendments or additions of the Criteria. A certified copy of the Real Property Appraiser Qualification Criteria is on file and available for public inspection at the Office of the Board at 1560 Broadway, Suite 925, Denver, Colorado 80202. Copies of the Real Property Appraiser Qualification Criteria may be examined at the Internet website of TAF at www.appraisalfoundation.org, and copies may be ordered through that mechanism. The Real Property Appraiser Qualification Criteria is effective as of January 1, ~~2021~~2022.

1.58 Synchronous Distance Education: The instructor and students interact simultaneously online, similar to a phone call, video chat, live webinar, or web-based meeting.

1.59 Asynchronous Distance Education: The instructor and student interaction is non-simultaneous; the students progress at their own pace and follow a structured course content and quiz/exam schedule.

1.60 Hybrid Course Education: Learning environments that allow for both in-person (synchronous) and online (asynchronous) interaction.

1.61 Bio-Metric Proctoring: A student's identity is continually verified through processes, such as facial recognition, consistency in keystroke cadence, and the observation of activity in the testing location. Aberrant behavior or activity can be readily observed.

CHAPTER 3: STANDARDS FOR REAL ESTATE APPRAISAL QUALIFYING EDUCATION PROGRAMS

3.5 The number of hours credited must be equivalent to the actual number of contact hours of in-class or synchronous distance education instruction and testing. An hour of education is defined as at least fifty (50) minutes of instruction out of each 60-minute segment. For asynchronous distance education, the number of hours credited must be that number of hours allowed by the CAP as defined in Board Rule 1.39. For hybrid course education, the number of hours credited will be equivalent for each specific course delivery method. Parts of the course that are delivered in-class or synchronously and delivered asynchronously must meet their respective requirements as set forth in this Board Rule 3.5.

3.14 To be acceptable for qualifying appraisal education, asynchronous distance education offerings must incorporate methods and activities that promote active student engagement and participation in the learning process. Among those methods and activities acceptable are written exercises which are graded and returned to the student, required responses to computer based presentations, provision for students to submit questions during teleconferences, and examinations proctored by an independent third party, who is an official approved by the college or university, or by the sponsoring organization. Bio-metric proctoring is acceptable. Simple reading, viewing or listening to materials without active student engagement and participation in the learning process is not sufficient to satisfy the requirements of this Board Rule 3.14.

3.16 To be acceptable for qualifying real estate appraisal education, synchronous distance education and asynchronous distance education courses must meet the other requirements of Chapter 3 of these Rules, and must include a written, closed book final examination proctored by an independent third party, or other final examination testing procedure acceptable to the Board. Bio-metric proctoring is acceptable. Examples of acceptable examination proctors include public officials who do not supervise the student, secondary and higher education school officials, and public librarians. Failure to observe this requirement may result in rejection of the course and/or course provider by the Board for that applicant, and may result in the Board refusing or withdrawing approval of any courses offered by the provider.

3.18 Course providers must provide each student who successfully completes a qualifying real estate appraisal education course in the manner prescribed in Board Rule 3.7 a course completion certificate. The Board will not mandate the exact form of course completion certificates; however, the following information must be included:

A. Name of course provider;

B. Course title, which must describe topical content, or the Real Property Appraiser Qualification Criteria Core Curriculum module title;

C. Course number, if any;

D. Course dates;

E. Number of approved education hours;

F. Statement that the required examination was successfully completed;

G. Course location, which for synchronous distance education and asynchronous distance education modalities must be the principal place of business of the course provider;

H. Name of student; and

I. For all USPAP courses begun on and after January 1, 2003, the name(s) and AQB USPAP instructor certification number(s) of the instructor(s).

3.19 The provisions of Board Rule 3.3 notwithstanding, qualifying education courses begun on and after January 1, 2004 and offered through asynchronous distance education modalities must be approved through the CAP as defined in Board Rule 1.39. The Board will not accept asynchronous distance education courses begun on and after January 1, 2004 that have not been approved through the CAP.

CHAPTER 5: STANDARDS FOR REAL ESTATE APPRAISAL EXPERIENCE

5.8 There need not be a client in a traditional sense (~~i.e.~~e.g., a client hiring an appraiser for a business purpose) in order for an appraisal to qualify for experience~~, . but experience~~Experience gained for work without a traditional client ~~cannot exceed fifty percent (50%)~~can meet any portion of the total experience requirement. ~~A client may include a government entity or a court of competent jurisdiction.~~

Practicum courses that are approved by the CAP or the Board can satisfy the nontraditional client experience requirement. A practicum course must include the generally applicable methods of appraisal practice for the credential level. Content includes, but is not limited to: requiring the student to produce credible appraisals that utilize an actual subject property; performing market research, containing sales analysis; and applying and reporting the applicable appraisal approaches in conformity with the USPAP. Assignments must require problem solving skills for a variety of property types for the credential level. Experience credit will be granted for the actual classroom hours of instruction, and hours of documented research and analysis as awarded from the practicum course approval process.

CHAPTER 7: CONTINUING EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS

7.6 Continuing appraisal education must be at least two (2) class hours in duration including examination time (if any). Continuing appraisal education programs and courses are intended to maintain and improve the appraiser's skill, knowledge, and competency. Continuing appraisal education courses and programs may include, without limitation, these real estate and real estate appraisal topics:

A. Ad valorem taxation;

B. Arbitration, dispute resolution;

C. Courses related to the practice of real estate appraisal or consulting;

D. Development cost estimating;

E. Ethics and standards of professional practice, USPAP;

F. Valuation bias, fair housing, and/or equal opportunity;

~~F~~G. Land use planning, zoning;

~~G~~H. Management, leasing, timesharing;

~~H~~I. Property development, partial interests;

~~I~~J. Real estate law, easements, and legal interests;

~~J~~K. Real estate litigation, damages, condemnation;

~~K~~L. Real estate financing and investment;

~~L~~M. Real estate appraisal related computer applications;

~~M~~N. Real estate securities and syndication;

~~N~~O. Developing opinions of real property value in appraisals that also include personal property and/or business value;

~~O~~P. Seller concessions and impact on value;

~~P~~Q. Energy efficient items and "green building" appraisals; and/or

~~Q~~R. Other topics as the Board may approve, upon its own motion or upon petition by the course provider or the licensee in a form acceptable to the Board.

7.12 Continuing real estate appraisal education must be successfully completed by the licensee. Successful completion means either in-class or synchronous distance education attendance at the offering and participation in class activities. Successful completion of courses undertaken through asynchronous distance education requires compliance with the provisions of Board Rule 7.14. ~~Teaching~~ The teaching of continuing real estate appraisal education will constitute successful completion, if also in compliance with Board Rule 7.8; however, credit will be given for only one (1) presentation of a particular offering during each licensing period.

7.13 The number of hours credited will be equivalent to the actual number of contact hours of in-class or synchronous distance education instruction and testing. An hour of appraisal education and training is defined as at least fifty (50) minutes of instruction out of each 60-minute segment. For asynchronous distance education offerings, the number of hours credited must be that number of hours allowed by the CAP as defined in Board Rule 1.39. For hybrid course education, the number of hours credited will be equivalent for each specific course delivery method. Parts of the course that are delivered in-class or synchronously and delivered asynchronously must meet their respective requirements as set forth in this Board Rule 7.13.

7.14 ~~Distance~~ Asynchronous distance education offerings must include methods and activities which promote active student engagement and participation in the learning process. Among those methods and activities acceptable are written exercises which are graded and returned to the student, required responses in computer based presentations, provision for students to submit questions during teleconferences, and examinations proctored by an independent third party. Biometric proctoring is acceptable. Simple reading, viewing, or listening to materials is not sufficient engagement in the learning process to satisfy the requirements of this Board Rule 7.14.

7.22 Course providers must provide each student who successfully completes a continuing education course in the manner prescribed in Board Rule 7.12 a course completion certificate. The Board will not mandate the exact form of course certificates; however, the following information must be included:

A. Name of course provider;

B. Course title, which must describe topical content;

C. Course number, if any;

D. Course dates;

E. Number of continuing education hours;

F. Statement that the required examination was successfully completed, if an examination is a regular part of the course;

G. Course location, which for synchronous distance education and asynchronous distance education modalities must be the principal place of business of the course provider;

H. Name of student; and

I. For USPAP courses begun on and after January 1, 2003, the name and AQB USPAP instructor certification number of the instructor.

7.23 The provisions of Board Rule 7.4 notwithstanding, real estate appraisal continuing education offered through asynchronous distance education must be approved through the CAP, unless the provider is a government agency that has sought an exemption from the Board.

CHAPTER 13: DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURES

13.12 A controlling appraiser, or an approved designee of a licensed appraisal management company, must inform the Board in writing within ten (10) days regarding the following:

A. ~~when an~~An owner of an appraisal management company, possessing more than ten percent ownership of the licensed entity, has been convicted of, entered a plea of guilty to, entered a plea of nolo contendere, entered an alford plea, or receiving a deferred judgment and sentence to any misdemeanor or felony relating to the conduct of an appraisal, theft, embezzlement, bribery, fraud, misrepresentation, or deceit, or any other like crime under Colorado law, federal law, or the laws of other jurisdictions~~.~~; and

CHAPTER 17: LICENSING REQUIREMENTS FOR APPRAISAL MANAGEMENT COMPANIES

17.19 Applicants for licensure, renewal, or reinstatement as an appraisal management company must complete the following:

A. The controlling appraiser must report and certify:

1. The number of licensed or certified appraisers that provided an appraisal in connection with a Covered Transaction on the appraisal management company's Panel in Colorado during the Reporting Period;

2. The Director may order the petitioner to file a written brief, memorandum or statement of position.

3. The Director may set the petition, upon due notice to petitioner, for a non-evidentiary hearing.

4. The Director may dispose of the petition on the sole basis of the matters set forth in the petition.

5. The Director may request the petitioner to submit additional facts in writing. In such event, such additional facts will be considered as an amendment to the petition.

6. The Director may take administrative notice of facts pursuant to the State Administrative procedures Act §24-4-105(8), C.R.S., and may utilize available experience, technical competence and specialized knowledge in the disposition of the petition.

B. The Director may, in the Director's discretion, set the petition for hearing, upon due notice to petitioner, for the purpose of obtaining additional facts or information or to determine the truth of any facts set forth in the petition or to hear oral argument on the petition. Subjects and issues involved

To consider revisions to Regulation Number 7 and Regulation Number 22 to address legislative and policy directives, that: reduce emissions from the upstream and midstream segments of the oil and gas industry as identified in the oil and gas sector and industrial sector of the Greenhouse Gas (GHG) Roadmap, including potential requirements for Leak Detection and Repair, natural gas processing plants, pigging and blowdown system maintenance operations, midstream fuel combustion equipment, well maintenance operations, and upstream GHG intensity; impose additional practices to ensure the efficacy of air pollution control equipment; impose additional reporting requirements to ensure the verifiability and enforceability of the regulatory requirements; and achieve reductions of GHG and co-pollutants in disproportionately impacted communities. These revisions to Regulation Numbers 7 and 22 are currently proposed on a state-wide and state-only basis, but the Commission may consider State Implementation Plan (SIP) revisions to Regulation Number 7, specific to flare performance, as necessary to address Ozone Nonattainment Area requirements related to previously submitted SIP revisions.

II.A.45. "Centrifugal Compressor" means any machine used for raising the pressure of natural gas by drawing in low pressure natural gas and discharging significantly higher pressure natural gas by means of mechanical rotating vanes or impellers. Screw, sliding vane, and liquid ring compressors are not centrifugal compressors.

II.A.56. "Class II Disposal Well Facility" means a facility that injects underground fluids which are brought to the surface in connection with natural gas storage operations or oil or natural gas production and that may be commingled with waste waters from gas plants which are an integral part of production operations, unless those waters are classified as a hazardous waste at the time of injection. Class II disposal well facilities do not include wells which inject fluids for enhanced recovery of oil or natural gas or for storage of hydrocarbons which are liquid at standard temperature and pressure.

II.A.67. "Commencement of oOperation" means when a source first conducts the activity that it was designed and permitted for. In addition, for oil and gas well production facilities, commencement of operation is the date any permanent production equipment is in use and product is consistently flowing to sales lines, gathering lines, or storage tanks from the first producing well at the stationary source, but no later than end of well completion operations (including flowback).

II.A.78. "Component" means each pump seal, flange, pressure relief device (including thief hatches or other openings on a controlled storage tank), connector, and valve that contains or contacts a process stream with hydrocarbons, except for components in process streams consisting of glycol, amine, produced water, or methanol.

II.A.~~8~~9. “Connector” means flanged, screwed, or other joined fittings used to connect two pipes or a pipe and a piece of process equipment or that close an opening in a pipe that could be connected to another pipe. Joined fittings welded completely around the circumference of the interface are not considered connectors.

II.A.10. “Disproportionately Impacted Community” (DI community) means a community that is in a census block group, as determined in accordance with the most recent United States census, where the proportion of households that are low income (meaning the median household income is less than or equal to two hundred percent of the federal poverty guideline) is greater than forty percent; the proportion of households that identify as minority is greater than forty percent, or the proportion of households that are housing cost-burdened (meaning a household that spends more than thirty percent of its income on housing) is greater than forty percent; or is any other community as identified or approved by a state agency, if: the community has a history of environmental racism perpetuated through redlining, anti-indigenous, anti-immigrant, anti-Hispanic, or anti-black laws; or the community is one where multiple factors, including socioeconomic stressors, disproportionate environmental burdens, vulnerability to environmental degradation, and lack of public participation, may act cumulatively to affect health and the environment and contribute to persistent disparities.

II.B. (State Only) General Provisions

II.B.1. General requirements for prevention of emissions and good air pollution control practices for all oil and gas exploration and production operations~~,~~; Class II disposal well facilities~~,~~; well production facilities~~,~~; and midstream segment operations, including natural gas compressor stations~~,~~ and natural gas processing plants.

II.B.1.a. All hydrocarbon liquids and produced water collection, storage, processing, and handling operations, regardless of size, must be designed, operated, and maintained so as to minimize emission of VOCs and other hydrocarbons to the atmosphere to the extent reasonably practicable.

II.B.1.b. At all times, including periods of start-up and shutdown, the facility and air pollution control equipment must be maintained and operated in a manner consistent with good air pollution control practices for minimizing emissions. Determination of whether or not acceptable operation and maintenance procedures are being used will be based on information available to the Division, which may include, but is not limited to, monitoring results, opacity observations, review of operation and maintenance procedures, and inspection of the source.

II.B.2. General requirements for air pollution control equipment used to comply with Section II.

II.B.2.a. All air pollution control equipment must be operated and maintained pursuant to the manufacturing specifications or equivalent to the extent practicable, and consistent with technological limitations and good engineering and maintenance practices. The owner or operator must keep manufacturer specifications or equivalent on file. In addition, all such air pollution control equipment must be adequately designed and sized to achieve the control efficiency rates and to handle reasonably foreseeable fluctuations in emissions of VOCs and other hydrocarbons during normal operations. Fluctuations in emissions that occur when the separator dumps into the tank are reasonably foreseeable.

II.B.2.b. If a combustion device is used to control emissions of VOCs and other hydrocarbons, it must be enclosed, have no visible emissions during normal operation, and be designed so that an observer can, by means of visual observation from the outside of the enclosed combustion device, or by other means approved by the Division, determine whether it is operating properly.

II.B.2.c. Any of the effective dates for installation of controls on storage tanks, dehydrators, and/or internal combustion engines may be extended at the Division’s discretion for good cause shown.

II.B.2.d. Auto-igniters: All combustion devices used to control emissions of hydrocarbons must be equipped with and operate an auto-igniter as follows

II.B.2.d.(i) All combustion devices installed on or after May 1, 2014, must be equipped with an operational auto-igniter upon installation of the combustion device.

II.B.2.d.(ii) All combustion devices installed before May 1, 2014, must be equipped with an operational auto-igniter by or before May 1, 2016, or after the next combustion device planned shutdown, whichever comes first.

II.B.2.e. Alternative emissions control equipment will qualify as air pollution control equipment, and may be used in lieu of, or in combination with, combustion devices and vapor recovery units to achieve the emission reductions required by this Section II., if the Division approves the equipment, device, or process. As part of the approval process the Division, at its discretion, may specify a different control efficiency than the control efficiencies required by this Section II.

II.B.2.f. Owners or operators must conduct weekly visual inspections of air pollution control equipment.

II.B.2.f.(i) Visual inspections must begin

II.B.2.f.(i)(A) February 14, 2022, for owners or operators of storage tanks subject to Section II.C.1.

II.B.2.f.(i)(C) Within thirty (30) days of commencement of operation for air pollution control equipment constructed on or after February 14, 2022.

II.B.2.f.(ii) Weekly visual inspections must include, at a minimum

II.B.2.f.(ii)(C) Inspection or monitoring of each combustion device to ensure the burner tray is not visibly clogged.

II.B.2.f.(ii)(D) Inspection of each combustion device for the presence or absence of smoke. If smoke is observed, either the equipment must be immediately shut-in to investigate the potential cause for smoke and perform repairs, as necessary, or EPA Method 22 must be conducted to determine whether visible emissions are present for a period of at least one (1) minute in fifteen (15) minutes.

II.B.2.f.(ii)(E) Inspection or monitoring of each vapor recovery unit to ensure that the unit is operating and that vapors are being routed to the unit.

II.B.2.f.(ii)(F) Inspection or monitoring of air pollution control equipment to ensure that valves for the piping of gas to the air pollution control equipment are open.

II.B.2.f.(ii)(G) Recording the flow meter readings, once installed pursuant to Section II.B.2.g.(i). An owner or operator may use automation to continuously record flow to the air pollution control equipment for which flow meters are required under Section II.B.2.g.

II.B.2.g. Owners or operators must install and operate a flow meter at the inlet to the air pollution control equipment.

II.B.2.g.(i) Flow meters must be installed and operating by

II.B.2.g.(iii)(C) Where installation of the flow meter is technically or economically infeasible, as demonstrated by the owner or operator to the Division's reasonable satisfaction, or where the Division approves the use of an alternate parameter (and associated recordkeeping and reporting).

II.B.2.h. Beginning February 14, 2022, the owner or operator must conduct performance tests for each enclosed combustion device for which Regulation Number 7 requires the device to achieve at least 95% control efficiency for hydrocarbons. A performance test that does not demonstrate that an enclosed combustion device is achieving at least 95% control efficiency for hydrocarbons is considered a failing test.

II.B.2.h.(i) Performance test requirements.

II.B.2.h.(i)(A) Performance tests are not required for enclosed combustion devices serving solely as control devices during vapor recovery unit downtime.

II.B.2.h.(i)(B) Owners or operators must test all enclosed combustion devices used to control the same piece of equipment or operation (e.g., a bank of enclosed combustion devices controlling a storage tank) over the course of the same testing event, which may occur over multiple working days.

II.B.2.h.(i)(C) Performance tests must be conducted in accordance with a Division-approved test protocol.

II.B.2.h.(i)(D) For the calendar year of the performance test, owners or operators must calculate enclosed combustion device emissions (or the emissions for the source controlled) pursuant to Sections II.G. and V. with the results of the most recent performance test.

II.B.2.h.(i)(E) Owners or operators of enclosed combustion devices that fail a performance test must follow the manufacturer's repair instructions, if available, or best combustion engineering practices to return the device to compliant operation within thirty (30) days or shut-in all equipment or operations controlled by the enclosed combustion device.

II.B.2.h.(i)(F) Owners or operators must retest the enclosed combustion device within ninety (90) days of a failed test or upon return to operation if the equipment or operations controlled by the enclosed combustion device were shut-in as a response to a failed test.

II.B.2.h.(i)(G) As an alternative to Section II.B.2.h.(i)(F), the owner or operator may replace the failing enclosed combustion device with a different enclosed combustion device and test the replacement enclosed combustion device upon commencement of operation. The owner or operator does not have to test the replacement enclosed combustion device if the device is newly manufactured (has never been in operation anywhere else) and has been tested by the manufacturer in accordance with the requirements of 40 CFR Part 60, Subpart OOOOa, Section 60.5413a(d) (June 3, 2016).

II.B.3. Requirements for compressor seals and open-ended valves or lines

II.B.3.a. Beginning January 1, 2015, each open-ended valve or line at well production facilities and natural gas compressor stations must be equipped with a cap, blind flange, plug, or a second valve that seals the open end at all times except during operations requiring process fluid flow through the open-ended valve or line. Open-ended valves or lines in an emergency shutdown system which are designed to open automatically in the event of a process upset are exempt from the requirement to seal the open end of the valve or line. Alternatively, an open-ended valve or line may be treated as if it is a “component” as defined in Section II.A.7., and may be monitored under the provisions of Section II.E.

II.B.3.b. Beginning January 1, 2015, uncontrolled actual hydrocarbon emissions from wet seal fluid degassing systems on wet seal centrifugal compressors must be reduced by at least 95%, unless the centrifugal compressor is subject to 40 CFR Part 60, Subpart OOOO (February 23, 2014) or 40 CFR Part 60, Subpart OOOOa (June 3, 2016) on that date or thereafter.

II.B.3.c. Beginning January 1, 2015, the rod packing on any reciprocating compressor located at a natural gas compressor station must be replaced every 26,000 hours of operation or every thirty-six (36) months, unless the reciprocating compressor is subject to the reciprocating compressor emission control, monitoring, recordkeeping, and reporting requirements of 40 CFR Part 60, Subpart OOOO (February 23, 2014) or 40 CFR Part 60, Subpart OOOOa (June 3, 2016) on that date or thereafter. The measurement of accumulated hours of operation (26,000) or months elapsed (36) begins on January 1, 2015.

II.B.3.d. Beginning February 14, 2022, the rod packing on any reciprocating compressor located at a natural gas processing plant must be replaced every 26,000 hours of operation or every thirty-six (36) months, unless the reciprocating compressor is subject to the reciprocating compressor emission control, monitoring, recordkeeping, and reporting requirements of Section I.J.2., 40 CFR Part 60, Subpart OOOO (February 23, 2014), or 40 CFR Part 60, Subpart OOOOa (June 3, 2016) on that date or thereafter. The measurement of accumulated hours of operation (26,000) or months elapsed (36) begins on February 14, 2022.

II.C.1.d. (State Only) Beginning May 1, 2014, or the applicable compliance date in Sections II.C.1.b.(i) or II.C.1.c.(i), whichever comes later, owners or operators of storage tanks subject to Section II.C.1. must conduct audio, visual, olfactory (AVO) and additional visual inspections of the storage tank and any associated equipment (e.g., separator, air pollution control equipment, or other pressure reducing equipment) at the same frequency as liquids are loaded out from the storage tank. These inspections are not required more frequently than every seven (7) days but must be conducted at least every thirty-one (31) days. Monitoring is not required for storage tanks or associated equipment that are unsafe, difficult, or inaccessible to monitor, as defined in Section II.C.1.e. The additional visual inspections must include, at a minimum:

II.C.1.d.(i) Visual inspection of any thief hatch, pressure relief valve, or other access point to ensure that they are closed and properly sealed.

II.C.1.d.(ii) ~~Visual inspection or monitoring of the air pollution control equipment to ensure that it is operating, including that the pilot light is lit on combustion devices used as air pollution control equipment.~~Repealed.

II.C.1.d.(iii) Repealed.~~If a combustion device is used, visual inspection of the auto-igniter and valves for piping of gas to the pilot light to ensure they are functioning properly.~~

II.C.1.d.(iv) Repealed.~~Visual inspection of the air pollution control equipment to ensure that the valves for the piping from the storage tank to the air pollution control equipment are open.~~

II.C.1.d.(v) Repealed.~~If a combustion device is used, inspection of the device for the presence or absence of smoke. If smoke is observed, either the equipment must be immediately shut-in to investigate the potential cause for smoke and perform repairs, as necessary, or EPA Method 22 must be conducted to determine whether visible emissions are present for a period of at least one (1) minute in fifteen (15) minutes.~~

II.C.1.d.(vi) Beginning May 1, 2020, or the applicable compliance date in Section II.C.1.c.(i), whichever comes later, visual observation of the dump valve(s) of the last separator(s) before the storage tank(s) to ensure the dump valve is free of debris and not stuck open. The owner or operator is not required to observe the actuation of the dump valve during this inspection; however, if a dump event occurs during the inspection, the owner or operator must confirm proper operation of the valve.

II.C.1.d.(vii) Beginning May 1, 2020, or the applicable compliance date in Section II.C.1.c.(i), whichever comes later, a check for the presence of liquids in liquid knockout vessels that do not drain automatically, underground lines, and aboveground piping.

II.C.2. (State Only) Capture and monitoring requirements for storage tanks that are fitted with air pollution control equipment as required by Sections I.D. or II.C.1.

II.C.2.a. Owners or operators of storage tanks must route all hydrocarbon emissions to air pollution control equipment, and must operate without venting hydrocarbon emissions from the thief hatch (or other access point to the tank) or pressure relief device during normal operation~~,~~. This requirement does not apply where ~~unless~~ venting is reasonably required for maintenance, unless the control of maintenance emissions is required pursuant to Section II.H.2.; gauging ~~(,~~ unless the use of a storage tank measurement system is required pursuant to and the operator ~~compiles~~ complies with Section II.C.4.~~;),~~ or safety of personnel and equipment. Compliance must be achieved in accordance with the schedule in Section II.C.2.b.(ii).

II.C.2.a.(i) Venting is emissions from a controlled storage tank thief hatch, pressure relief device, or other access point to the storage tank, which:

II.C.2.a.(i)(A) Are primarily the result of over-pressurization, whether related to design, operation, or maintenance; or

II.C.2.a.(i)(B) Are the result of an open, unlatched, or visibly unseated pressure relief device (e.g., thief hatch or pressure relief valve), an open vent line, or an unintended opening in the storage tank (e.g., crack or hole).

II.C.2.a.(ii) When emissions from a controlled storage tank are observed, the Division may require the owner or operator to submit sufficient information demonstrating whether or not the emissions were primarily the result of over-pressurization. Absent a demonstration that such emissions were not primarily the result of over-pressurization, such emissions will be considered venting for purposes of Section II.C.2.a.

II.C.2.a.(iii) When venting is observed, the owner or operator must confirm within twenty-four (24) hours of taking action to return the storage tank to operation without venting that the action(s) taken was effective. If the venting was observed using an approved instrument monitoring method, the confirmation must be made using an approved instrument monitoring method.

II.C.2.b. Owners or operators of storage tanks subject to the control requirements of Sections I.D., II.C.1.a, II.C.1.b., or II.C.1.c. must develop, certify, and implement a documented Storage Tank Emission Management System (STEM) plan to identify, evaluate, and employ appropriate control technologies, monitoring practices, operational practices, and/or other strategies designed to meet the requirements set forth in Section II.C.2.a. Owners or operators must update the STEM plan as necessary to achieve or maintain compliance. Owners or operators are not required to develop and implement STEM for storage tanks containing only stabilized liquids. The minimum elements of STEM are listed.

>>>>>>>

II.C.2.b.(ii) Owners or operators must achieve the requirements of Sections II.C.2.a. and II.C.2.b. and begin implementing the required approved instrument monitoring method in accordance with the following schedule

II.C.2.b.(ii)(I) Following the first approved instrument monitoring method inspection, owners or operators must continue conducting approved instrument monitoring method inspections in accordance with the inspection frequency in Table ~~1~~2.

(State Only) Recordkeeping: The owner or operator of each storage tank subject to Sections I.D. or II.C. must maintain records of STEM, if applicable, including the plan, any updates, and the certification, and make them available to the Division upon request. In addition, for a period of two (2) years, the owner or operator must maintain records of any required monitoring and make them available to the Division upon request, including

II.C.3.a. The AIRS ID for the storage tank.

II.C.3.b. The date and duration of any period where the thief hatch, pressure relief device, or other access point are found to be venting hydrocarbon emissions, except for venting that is reasonably required for maintenance (unless the control of maintenance emissions is required pursuant to Section II.H.2.), gauging (unless use of a storage tank measurement system is required pursuant to and the operator complies with Section II.C.4.), or safety of personnel and equipment.

II.C.3.c. The date and duration of any period where the air pollution control equipment is not operating.

II.C.3.d. Records of the inspections required in Sections II.C.1.d. and II.C.2.b.(ii), including the time and date of each inspection and a description of any problems observed, description and date of any corrective action(s) taken, and name of employee or third party performing corrective action(s).

II.E.1. The following provisions of Section II.E. apply in lieu of any directed inspection and maintenance program requirements established pursuant to Regulation Number 3, Part B, Section III.D.2.

II.E.2. Owners or operators of well production facilities or natural gas compressor stations that monitor components as part of Section II.E. may estimate uncontrolled actual emissions from components for the purpose of evaluating the applicability of component fugitive emissions to Regulation Number 3 by utilizing the emission factors defined as less than 10,000 ppmv of Table 2-8 of the 1995 EPA Protocol for Equipment Leak Emission Estimates (Document EPA-453/R-95-017).

II.E.3. Beginning January 1, 2015, owners or operators of natural gas compressor stations must inspect components for leaks using an approved instrument monitoring method, in accordance with the following schedule

II.E.3.a. Approved instrument monitoring method inspections must begin within ninety (90) days after January 1, 2015, or the date the natural gas compressor station commences operation if such date is after January 1, 2015, for natural gas compressor stations with fugitive VOC emissions greater than zero (0) but less than or equal to fifty (50) tons per year, based on a rolling twelve-month total.

II.E.3.a.(i) Annual approved instrument monitoring method inspections at natural gas compressor stations with fugitive VOC emissions greater than zero (0) but less than or equal to twelve (12) tons per year, based on a rolling twelve-month total, must begin within ninety (90) days after January 1, 2015, or the date the natural gas compressor station commences operation if such date is after January 1, 2015. > 50	Monthly

II.E.4. Requirements for well production facilities

II.E.4.a. Owners or operators of well production facilities constructed on or after October 15, 2014, must identify leaks from components using an approved instrument monitoring method no sooner than fifteen (15) days and no later than thirty (30) days after the facility commences operation. This initial test constitutes the first, or only for facilities subject to a one time approved instrument monitoring method inspection, of the periodic approved instrument monitoring method inspections. Thereafter, approved instrument monitoring method and AVO inspections must be conducted in accordance with the Inspection Frequencies in Table ~~3~~4.

II.E.4.b. Owners or operators of well production facilities constructed before October 15, 2014, must identify leaks from components using an approved instrument monitoring method within ninety (90) days of the Phase-In Schedule in Table ~~3~~4; within thirty (30) days for well production facilities subject to monthly approved instrument monitoring method inspections; or by January 1, 2016, for well production facilities subject to a one time approved instrument monitoring method inspection. Thereafter, approved instrument monitoring method and AVO inspections must be conducted in accordance with the inspection frequencies in Table ~~3~~4.

II.E.4.c. Beginning calendar year 2020, owners or operators of well production facilities with estimated uncontrolled actual VOC emissions greater than or equal to two (2) but less than or equal to twelve (12) tons per year as calculated in accordance with Section II.E.4.e., based on a rolling twelve-month total, must inspect components for leaks using an approved instrument monitoring method at least semi-annually.

II.E.4.d. Beginning calendar year 2020, owners or operators of well production facilities with estimated uncontrolled actual VOC emissions greater than or equal to two

(2) tons per year as calculated in accordance with Section II.E.4.eg., based on a rolling twelve-month total, and located within 1,000 feet of an occupied area must inspect components for leaks using an approved instrument monitoring method in accordance with the inspection frequency in Table 34.

II.E.4.e. Beginning January 1, 2023, owners or operators of well production facilities located within a disproportionately impacted community must inspect components for leaks using an approved instrument monitoring method in accordance with the inspection frequency in Table 4.

II.E.4.f. Owners or operators of well production facilities that commence operation on or after May 1, 2022, must inspect components for leaks using an approved instrument monitoring method at least monthly, unless the owner or operator meets the requirements of Sections II.E.4.f.(i) or (ii), in which case the owner or operator must inspect components for leaks using an approved instrument monitoring method in accordance with the inspection frequency in Table 4.

II.E.4.f.(i) The owner or operator installs and operates an automatic pressure management and pilot light system, consistent with a Division-approved protocol, on each storage tank at a well production facility with storage tanks subject to the requirements of Section II.C. The Division-approved protocol must ensure that the automatic pressure management and pilot light system

II.E.4.f.(i)(A) Is capable of continuously tracking the pressure in the storage tank(s) and monitoring the pilot light on combustion devices used as air pollution control equipment;

II.E.4.f.(i)(B) Accurately identifies when storage tank pressure levels both drop and rise substantially to indicate venting (e.g., both when a thief hatch is open and when pressure rises above the level where venting might occur);

II.E.4.f.(i)(C) Accurately identifies when a pilot light is out and subsequently re-lit;

II.E.4.f.(i)(D) Will shut-in flow to the storage tank(s) under the circumstances in Sections II.E.4.f.(i)(B) and II.E.4.f.(i)(C);

II.E.4.f.(i)(E) Triggers a site investigation by the owner or operator upon the occurrence of potential venting and pilot light outages; and

II.E.4.f.(i)(F) Includes sufficient recordkeeping and reporting requirements to demonstrate compliance.

II.E.4.f.(ii) The owner or operator installs and operators an approved air quality monitoring plan pursuant to Section VI. to detect, evaluate, and reduce, as necessary, VOC or methane emissions. Except as further specified in Sections II.E.4.f.(ii)(A) and II.E.4.f.(ii)(B), owners or operators must continue to comply with Sections VI.C.2. and VI.C.3. for as long as the monitoring system is in use.

II.E.4.f.(ii)(A) Owners or operators must keep records of the air quality monitoring plan for as long as the monitoring system is in use and provide records to the Division upon request.

II.E.4.f.(ii)(B) Owners or operators must submit and keep records of the monthly reports of monitoring conducted that meet the requirements of Section VI.C.2.b. for as long as the monitoring system is in use and provide records to the Division upon request.

II.E.4.eg. The estimated uncontrolled actual VOC emissions from the highest emitting storage tank at the well production facility determines the frequency at which inspections must be performed. If no storage tanks storing oil or condensate are located at the well production facility, owners or operators must rely on the facility emissions (controlled actual VOC emissions from all permanent equipment, including emissions from components determined by utilizing the emission factors defined as less than 10,000 ppmv of Table 2-8 of the 1995 EPA Protocol for Equipment Leak Emission Estimates).

II.E.5. If a component is unsafe, difficult, or inaccessible to monitor, the owner or operator is not required to monitor the component until it becomes feasible to do so.

II.E.5.a. Difficult to monitor components are those that cannot be monitored without elevating the monitoring personnel more than two (2) meters above a supported surface or are unable to be reached via a wheeled scissor-lift or hydraulic type scaffold that allows access to components up to 7.6 meters (25 feet) above the ground.

If the follow-up EPA Method 21 monitoring shows that the emission is a leak requiring repair as set forth in Section II.E.6., the leak must be repaired in accordance with Section II.E.7.a. and remonitored in accordance with Section II.E.7.c.

II.E.6.f. Beginning on March 1, 2021, for leaks identified using an approved non-quantitative instrument monitoring method or AVO at a well production facility located within 1,000 feet of an occupied area, owners or operators have the option of either repairing the leak in accordance with the repair schedule set forth in Section II.E.7.b. or conducting follow-up monitoring using EPA Method 21 within five (5) working days of the leak detection. If the follow-up EPA Method 21 monitoring shows that the emission is a leak requiring repair as set forth in Sections II.E.6.a. through II.E.6.d., the leak must be repaired as follows and remonitored in accordance with Section II.E.7.c.

II.E.6.f.(i) If EPA Method 21 indicates a leak greater than 500 ppm and less than 10,000 ppm hydrocarbons, the leak must be repaired in accordance with Section II.E.7.a.

II.E.6.g. Beginning January 1, 2023, for leaks identified using an approved non-quantitative instrument monitoring method or AVO at a well production facility located within a disproportionately impacted community, owners or operators have the option of either repairing the leak in accordance with the repair schedule set forth in Section II.E.7.b. or conducting follow-up monitoring using EPA Method 21 within five (5) working days of the leak detection. If the follow-up EPA Method 21 monitoring shows that the emission is a leak requiring repair as set forth in Sections II.E.6.a. through II.E.6.d., the leak must be repaired as follows and remonitored in accordance with Section II.E.7.c.

II.E.6.g.(i) If EPA Method 21 indicates a leak greater than 500 ppm and less than 10,000 ppm hydrocarbons, the leak must be repaired in accordance with Section II.E.7.a.

II.E.6.g.(ii) If EPA Method 21 is not performed or indicates a leak greater than or equal to 10,000 ppm hydrocarbons, the leak must be repaired in accordance with Section II.E.7.b.

II.E.7. Repair and remonitoring

II.E.7.a. Except as provided in Section II.E.7.b., the first attempt to repair a leak must be made no later than five (5) working days after discovery and repair of a leak discovered on or after January 1, 2018, completed no later than thirty (30) working days after discovery, unless parts are unavailable, the equipment requires shutdown to complete repair, or other good cause exists.

II.E.7.a.(i) If parts are unavailable, they must be ordered promptly and the repair must be made within fifteen (15) working days of receipt of the parts.

II.E.7.a.(ii) If shutdown is required, a repair attempt must be made during the next scheduled shutdown and final repair completed within two (2) years after discovery.

II.E.7.a.(iii) If delay is attributable to other good cause, repairs must be completed within fifteen (15) working days after the cause of delay ceases to exist.

II.E.7.a.(iv) Beginning January 1, 2023, the owner or operator must take action(s) where technically feasible to mitigate emissions from leaks placed on delay of repair.

II.E.7.b. For leaks requiring repair pursuant to Sections II.E.6.f. and II.E.6.g., the first attempt to repair must be made as soon as practicable but no later than five (5) working days after discovery and completed within five (5) working days after discovery. If repair is not completed within five (5) working days after discovery, the owner or operator must use other means to stop the leak including, but not limited to, isolating the component or shutting in the well, unless such other means will cause greater emissions.

II.E.7.b.(i) If the owner or operator cannot repair or stop the leak within five (5) working days after discovery, the owner or operator must notify the local government with jurisdiction over the location and the Division as soon as possible, but no later than seven (7) working days after the leak is discovered. The notice must include

II.E.7.b.(i)(A) Identification of the facility, the leaking component, and contact information of the owner or operator representative;

II.E.7.b.(i)(B) The concentration of hydrocarbons using EPA Method 21, if available;

II.E.7.b.(i)(D) The approximate distance of the facility to the closest occupied area that is not an outdoor area;

II.E.7.b.(i)(E) The basis for the delay of repair and justification for not isolating the component or shutting in the well; and

II.E.7.b.(i)(F) The estimated date of repair.

II.E.7.c. Within fifteen (15) working days of completion of a repair, the leak must be remonitored using an approved instrument monitoring method to verify that the repair was effective.

II.E.7.d. Leaks discovered pursuant to the leak detection methods of Section II.E.6. are not subject to enforcement by the Division unless the owner or operator fails to perform the required repairs in accordance with Section II.E.7. or keep required records in accordance with Section II.E.8.

II.E.8. Recordkeeping: The owner or operator of each facility subject to the leak detection and repair requirements in Section II.E. must maintain the following records for a period of two (2) years and make them available to the Division upon request.

II.E.8.a. Documentation of the initial approved instrument monitoring method inspection for new well production facilities;

II.E.8.b. The date, facility name, and facility AIRS ID or facility location if the facility does not have an AIRS ID for each inspection;

II.E.8.c. ~~A~~ For each inspection, a list of the leaking components requiring repair and the monitoring method(s) used to determine the presence of the leak;

PART FStatements of Basis, Specific Statutory Authority, and Purpose

X. Adopted: December 17, 2021

Revisions to Part D, Sections II., III., V., and VI.

This Statement of Basis, Specific Statutory Authority, and Purpose complies with the requirements of the State Administrative Procedure Act, § 24-4-103(4), C.R.S., the Colorado Air Pollution Prevention and Control Act, §§ 25-7-110 and 25-7-110.5., C.R.S., and the Air Quality Control Commission's (Commission) Procedural Rules, 5 Code Colo. Reg. §1001-1.

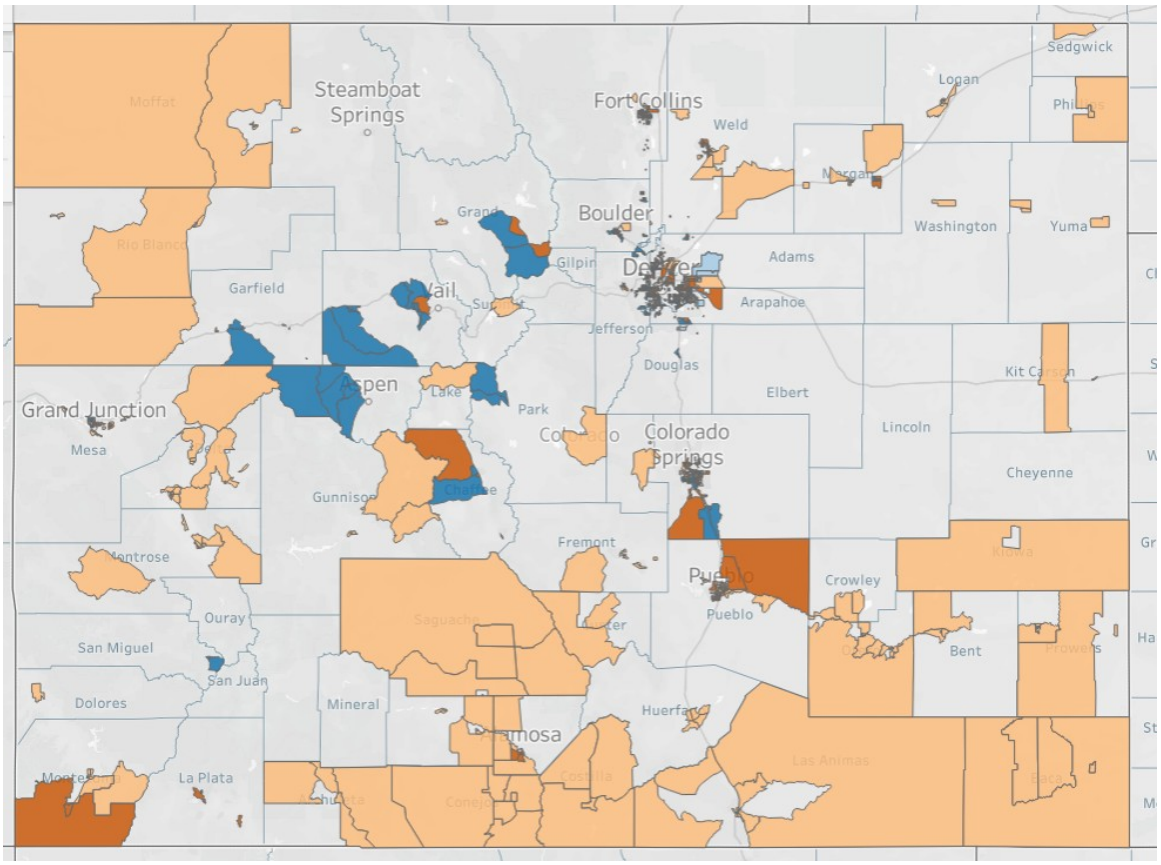
Basis

During the 2019 legislative session, Colorado's General Assembly adopted revisions to several Colorado Revised Statutes in Senate Bill 19-181 (SB 19-181) (Concerning additional public welfare protections regarding the conduct of oil and gas operations) that include directives for both the Oil and Gas Conservation Commission and the Air Quality Control Commission. Further, the General Assembly declared in House Bill 19-1261 (HB 19-1261) that "climate change adversely affects Colorado's economy, air quality and public health, ecosystems, natural resources, and quality of life[,]" acknowledged that "Colorado is already experiencing harmful climate impacts[,]" and that "many of these impacts disproportionately affect" certain disadvantaged communities. Colorado's statewide greenhouse gas (GHG) reduction goals seek a 26% reduction of statewide GHG emissions by 2025; 50% reduction by 2030; and 90% reduction by 2050 as compared to 2005 levels.

In October 2020, the Commission established a target for the O&G Sector of a 36% reduction from the 2005 baseline by 2025 and a 60% reduction from the 2005 baseline by 2030 (an estimated 13 million metric tons (MMT) CO2e by 2025 and 8 MMT CO2e by 2030). Commission targets for the sector including residential, commercial, and industrial combustion emissions (RCI Sector) seek a 20% reduction from 2005 numbers by 2030. House Bill 21-1266 (HB 21-1266), signed into law on July 2, 2021, memorializes percentage reductions in statute, and provides additional requirements for the rulemakings to achieve these goals. The GHG Pollution Reduction Roadmap ("GHG Roadmap") developed by the Colorado Energy Office and CDPHE identifies the largest contributors to state GHG emissions and quantifies the baselines from which these reduction percentages are to be estimated. The oil and gas industry is a large source of GHG emissions, and the largest anthropogenic source of methane in Colorado. For the oil and gas industry, not all of its emissions are found in the "O&G Sector", also referred to as the "Oil & Gas Fugitive Emissions" category of the GHG Roadmap. Methane emissions from upstream and midstream activities, along with estimates of methane "leakage" from pipelines in the transmission & storage and distribution segments, are in the O&G Sector. In contrast, most of the emissions from fuel combustion at oil and gas sources in the upstream and midstream segments are actually found in the "RCI Sector" of the GHG Roadmap (specifically in the "industrial" category, which is the subject of new HB 21-1266).

In this rulemaking action, the Commission has adopted requirements for upstream and midstream segment operations, to reduce GHG emissions from those operations, sufficient - when taken in combination with other regulatory and voluntary actions across the state - to achieve the GHG reduction requirements of HB 21-1266. The Commission did not adopt regulations applicable to the transmission and storage segment or the distribution segment. With regard to the transmission and storage segment, the Commission adopted a performance-based program for this segment in 2019 designed to materially reduce greenhouse gas emissions from transmission and storage operations; reporting of progress has not yet begun under that program and the Commission believes it reasonable to evaluate the progress of that program before modifying it. The Commission did not adopt regulations applicable to the distribution segment because legislation passed in the 2021 session invests the Colorado Public Utility Commission (PUC) with authority over this segment of the oil and gas industry. SB 21-264 requires that gas distribution utilities will submit a comprehensive clean heat plan that demonstrates projected reductions in methane and carbon dioxide emissions that meet prescribed reduction targets. Each clean heat plan must outline the utility's proposal to reduce carbon dioxide and methane emission levels by 4% in 2025 and 22% in 2030. Gas distribution utilities, depending on their size, must submit clean heat plans to the PUC by August 1, 2023, and January 1, 2024. Thus, the Commission believes that the transmission & storage performance program and the clean heat plans are likely to achieve reductions of emissions necessary from these segments to achieve the goals of §25-7-105(1)(e)(XII).

In the 2021 legislative session, in HB 21-1266, the General Assembly determined that "state action to correct environmental injustice is imperative, and state policy can and should improve public health and the environment and improve the overall well-being of all communities… [and] efforts to right past wrongs and move toward environmental justice must focus on disproportionately impacted communities and the voices of their residents." HB 21-1266 also requires the Commission to ensure that there are additional protections for, and reductions of co-pollutants in, disproportionately impacted communities. CDPHE developed a map of the disproportionately impacted communities that meet the definition of HB 21-1266. While this map is expected to change over time, the disproportionately impacted communities that have been identified at the time of this program's adoption are as set forth in the following map:



Specific Statutory Authority

The Colorado Air Pollution Prevention and Control Act, § 25-7-101, C.R.S., et seq. (the State Air Act or the Act), specifically § 25-7-105(1), directs the Commission to promulgate such rules and regulations as are consistent with the legislative declaration set forth in § 25-7-102 and that are necessary for the proper implementation and administration of Article 7. The Act broadly defines air pollutant to include essentially any gas emitted into the atmosphere and provides the Commission broad authority to regulate air pollutants.

Section 25-7-106 provides the Commission maximum flexibility in developing an effective air quality program and promulgating such combination of regulations as may be necessary or desirable to carry out that program. Section 25-7-106 also authorizes the Commission to promulgate emission control regulations applicable to the entire state, specified areas or zones, or a specified class of pollution. Section 25-7-106(6) further authorizes the Commission to require owners and operators of any air pollution source to monitor, record, and report information. Section 25-7-109(10) directs the Commission to adopt emission control regulations to minimize emissions of methane, other hydrocarbons, VOC, and NOx from oil and gas operations

Pursuant to HB 21-1266, the Commission must, by January 1, 2022, adopt regulations to ensure that the state meets its greenhouse gas reduction targets for the oil and gas sector (36% by 2025 and 60% by 2030). The Commission must also ensure that industrial sector emissions (including those from oil and gas fuel combustion equipment) are reduced by 20% from the 2015 baseline by 2030. These revisions to Regulation Number 7 will, taking into account other relevant laws and rules (including the revisions to Regulation Number 22 adopted as part of this rulemaking action), as well as voluntary actions taken by local communities and the private sector, achieve the state's GHG reduction goals through 2030 for the oil and gas industry. The revisions include protections for disproportionately impacted communities that ensure reductions of pollutants other than GHGs, additional requirements for monitoring and leak detection and repair, and improve the state's current emission inventory reporting program in Regulation Number 7, Part D, Section V.

Purpose

The following section sets forth the Commission's purpose in adopting the revisions to Regulation Number 7, Part D, and includes the technological and scientific rationale for the adoption of the revisions.

Definitions: Section II.A.

The Commission has adopted definitions for new terms to facilitate implementation of the new regulatory program. Where these terms are also proposed for definition in Regulation Number 22, these explanations are intended to address both regulations.

The Commission has revised the definition of Approved Instrument Monitoring Method (AIMM) to clarify that when the Division approves an alternative AIMM, the Division's approved AIMM may address both AIMM and AVO leak inspections.

The Commission has defined "disproportionately impacted community" consistent with the definition in HB 21-1266. However, the statute does not specifically identify which communities are considered disproportionately impacted. CDPHE is developing a tool, called "enviroscreen" that will be utilized for members of the public and the regulated community to understand which communities in Colorado are disproportionately impacted. However, this tool was not ready at the time of this rulemaking. Therefore, the Commission has determined that the disproportionately impacted communities existing at the time of adoption of this program, and therefore the communities in which provisions of this program apply, are identified in the map above.

The Commission defined "midstream segment", "natural gas processing segment", "natural gas transmission and storage segment" and "oil and natural gas compression segment" in this regulation to be consistent with definitions in other regulations, including Regulation Number 7, Part D, Section IV. and Regulation Number 22, Part B, Sections III. and IV.

Air Pollution Control Equipment: Section II.B.

The Commission established updated maintenance and performance test requirements for air pollution control equipment in Section II.B.

In Section II.B.2.f., the Commission set forth the weekly visual inspections required for all air pollution control equipment used to comply with Section II. In this context, the Commission intends "weekly" to mean every seven calendar days. These requirements - as they applied to air pollution control equipment controlling storage tanks - were previously located in Section II.C.1.d. of this regulation (in Section II.C.1. and II.C.3., the Commission repealed these provisions that moved to Section II.B.2.); however, to ensure requirements for air pollution control equipment were in one location, the Commission has repealed the provisions of Section II.C.1.d. that are now found in Section II.B.2.f. The Commission does not intend that there is any period of time where air pollution control equipment is not subject to either Section II.C.1.d. or II.B.2.f.

Section II.B.2.g. requires owners and operators to install and operate a flow meter at the inlet to air pollution control equipment covered by this section, with some exceptions. A flow meter is a device that measures the amount of gas entering the enclosed combustion device and can be used to help determine whether an enclosed combustion device is functioning properly. The Commission believes that flow meters are an important tool to help the Division ensure that air pollution control equipment achieves at least 95% control efficiency for hydrocarbons. Flow meters also provide valuable information to help the Division verify the emission calculations for this equipment reported under Regulation Number 7, Part D, Section V. In Section II.B.3.g.(iii)(C), the Commission recognizes that the use of flow meters may not always be feasible; for example, flow meters can be less effective where the control device is a “low flow” device - i.e. where the flow to the device is not consistent or high enough to achieve generally accurate readings from the meter. The Commission encourages operators to provide alternative mechanisms for tracking flow data to air pollution control equipment for those situations in which flow meters are less efficient or accurate.

In Section II.B.2.h., the Commission established performance testing requirements for enclosed combustion devices. Truly voluntary control equipment is not subject to these provisions. Historically, the Commission has assumed that enclosed combustion devices were achieving at least 95% control efficiency for hydrocarbons. However, the Commission determined that it was appropriate to promulgate regulatory requirements that will additionally ensure that enclosed combustion devices in the state are, in fact, operating at and achieving 95% control efficiency for hydrocarbons. Section II.B.2.h.(ii)(A) contains a table that sets forth the schedule for the initial testing of enclosed combustion devices that commenced operation before December 31, 2021 (unless the Division approves an alternative testing schedule). The Commission prioritized the testing of ECDs in disproportionately impacted communities and, after that, devices in the 8-hour Ozone Control Area/northern Weld County. Some stakeholders wanted the Commission to formally adopt these requirements as part of expanding the nonattainment area boundary for the 2015 ozone NAAQS; however, at the time of the proposal for this regulation, the state was still waiting on final action from the U.S. EPA, and such a change must be accomplished in the state implementation plan, not in Section II of Regulation Number 7, Part D, which contains state-only requirements.

The Commission strongly encourages owners and operators to prioritize the testing of the enclosed combustion devices at the biggest sites and the oldest enclosed combustion devices. The Commission believes that underperforming, older enclosed combustion devices at large sites could be responsible for a larger portion of uncontrolled emissions and, therefore, such devices should be identified sooner rather than later in order to more effectively limit the amount of uncontrolled emissions. In addition, the Commission believes that, due to their age, older enclosed combustion devices are more likely to malfunction and, therefore, underperform than newer enclosed combustion devices. Thus, the Commission believes that a greater amount of uncontrolled emissions could be avoided by prioritizing the testing of higher capacity or older enclosed combustion devices, especially those in DI communities. However, the Commission also recognizes that older enclosed combustion devices may not have been manufactured or installed with appropriate ports for traditional stack test methods, which will affect timing for performance testing where modifications to existing equipment must first be made. Such considerations should be included as operators develop schedules to perform required testing.

With regard to the testing schedule and other testing deadlines set forth in Section II.B.2.h.(ii) (see, for example, Section II.B.2.h.(ii)(C)), an enclosed combustion device that is relocated by an owner or operator to another facility that is also controlled by that same owner or operator may maintain the same testing schedule as if it had not been relocated.

Section II.B.2.h.(iii) provides that owners or operators of enclosed combustion devices subject to Section II.B.2.h.(ii) must submit a notification to the Division with certain specified information no later than July 31, 2022. Such notification must be submitted in writing and may be amended as long as the testing schedule set forth in Section II.B.2.h.(ii) is met. Section II.B.2.h.(iii)(A) identifies some of the specific information that must be included in the notification, including the location of the enclosed combustion device. When providing the location of the enclosed combustion device in a written notification, the owner or operator must also state whether or not the enclosed combustion device is located within a DI community and/or the 8-hour Ozone Control Area/northern Weld County.

The Commission has determined that performance tests must be conducted pursuant to a Division-approved protocol. The Commission intends that as an alternative to a site-specific protocol, operators may submit to the Division a company-specific protocol for approval for that company’s different types of site configurations, to which an operator would certify that it followed for each performance test conducted pursuant to that protocol. The Commission also anticipates that the U.S. EPA will be releasing a protocol for an outlet-only testing method; the Division is directed to consider publishing that protocol on its website as a pre-approved test protocol for ECD performance testing, to which operators would certify they followed in conducting a performance test. The Division may also develop a statewide protocol that may be followed by any owner or operator. If utilizing the Division's statewide protocol, an owner or operator need only provide a notice prior to conducting testing pursuant to the protocol. The Commission also directs the Division to consider approving different protocols for different types of devices. For example, the Commission would support a different test protocol for devices operating at such low-flow that supplementing the gas stream to the device would be required for purposes of the test.

In Section II.B.2.h.(i)(D), the Commission explained how operators should use the results of the performance test in calculating emissions for purposes of the annual emissions inventory reporting under Sections II.G and V. If a performance test is conducted on June 1, and the ECD fails the test, and a retest is conducted on July 1, and the ECD passes the test, the operator should use the results of the failing performance test for emission calculations from January 1 through June 30, and the results of the passing performance test from July 1 through December 31 of that year.

In Section II.B.2.i and j, the Commission established recordkeeping and reporting requirements. The Commission deferred most of the reporting to the annual emission reports in Section V, but did require some additional reporting. When an ECD fails its performance test, the Commission believes it is critical that the Division be made aware as soon as possible, and so has required notification be provided within fourteen (14) days of a failing test.

Rod packing at natural gas processing plants: Section II.B.3.

In 2014, the Commission recognized that rod-packing replacement is an effective, and cost-effective, method for reducing emissions from this equipment - both VOC and other hydrocarbons. However, the Commission's 2014 action applied only to reciprocating compressors at compressor stations, and not gas plants. In 2017, the Commission adopted rod-packing replacement requirements for compressors at gas plants in the 8-hour Ozone Control Area. In this rulemaking, in Section II.B.3., the Commission expands rod packing replacement requirements to natural gas processing plants statewide except where the reciprocating compressor is subject to the rod packing requirements of NSPS OOOO or NSPS OOOOa. Under these revisions, beginning upon the effective date, anticipated for February 14, 2022, operators will need to track hours of operation for purposes of compliance.

In Section II.B.3.c., the Commission clarified that the rod packing requirements adopted in 2014 did not apply where the compressor was subject to the reciprocating compressor requirements of NSPS OOOO. The revision to specifically identify the rod packing requirements was not a change to the meaning of the provision.

Leak Detection and Repair: Sections II.E. and II.I.

Section II.E. of Regulation Number 7 establishes additional requirements under the leak detection and repair (LDAR) program for well production facilities and natural gas compressor stations. In 2014, 2017, and in 2019, the Commission established LDAR inspection frequencies to identify leaking components and require repairs in a timely fashion to eliminate excess emissions. LDAR inspection frequencies are typically based on the rolling twelve-month tons per year fugitive VOC emission rates of well production facilities and compressor stations and their location.

In 2019, the Commission adopted more stringent inspection and repair requirements for well production facilities in proximity to an occupied area. In this rulemaking action, the Commission increased the frequency of inspections at compressor stations and well production facilities in disproportionately impacted communities (see map above for the specific communities in which these requirements apply). The Commission has determined that faster repair schedules and additional monitoring is required to protect public health and the environment within these disproportionately impacted communities.

In Section II.E.4.f., the Commission has set a static frequency of AIMM inspections for newly constructed well production facilities - regardless of emissions. That is, any newly constructed well production facility will have a monthly AIMM inspection frequency. The Commission does want to encourage the use of alternative technologies, rather than just the traditional infrared (IR) camera. Technological advances in leak detection can outpace regulations. The Commission expects that many new technologies can be approved through the Division's existing alternative AIMM review process. The Commission does note, however, that some alternative AIMM may be appropriate for statewide inspection requirements, but not to supersede SIP inspection requirements (e.g., requirements of Regulation Number 7, Part D, Section I.L.). The Commission encourages the Division to consider, where appropriate, approving technologies as alternative AIMM for purposes of this Section II.E even where the technology may not be approvable as alternative AIMM for Section I.L. The Commission has also recognized two scenarios where new well production facilities need only comply with Table 4 (formerly, Table 3) frequencies and need not conduct monthly AIMM inspections. These scenarios include: 1) where the operator installs and uses systems to continuously monitor and adjust pressures in the storage tanks to prevent venting and to ensure lit pilot lights; and 2) where the operator continues operation of its air quality monitoring plan approved under Regulation Number 7, Section VI., for VOC or methane. For the former, the Commission directs the Division to issue a protocol for the use of these automated systems, based on the Division's work in evaluating closed loop vapor control systems. For both scenarios, if an operator were to cease using either of these scenarios, the facility would revert to a monthly AIMM schedule.

In Section II.I, the Commission determined that natural gas processing plants state-wide must now have LDAR programs consistent with NSPS OOOO or OOOOa, rather than just the gas plants in the 8-hour Ozone Control Area.

Separator Control Requirements: Section II.F.

Section II.F had previously required capture or control of hydrocarbon emissions from separation equipment for a well-constructed, fracked, or recompleted after 2014; in this revision, the Commission required the capture or control of hydrocarbon emissions from all separation equipment, regardless of construction date. This is consistent with the recent Colorado Oil and Gas Conservation Commission (COGCC) mission change rulemaking, which essentially requires capture and prohibits the venting or even flaring of gas from the separation equipment unless a variance is obtained from the COGCC. Where the COGCC determines that a variance for venting (as that term is defined by the COGCC) is appropriate, that operation is exempt from this Section II.F.2. of the Commission's regulation (though not from Section II.F.1. or other applicable provisions, such as Regulation Number 3 reporting and permitting or Regulation Number 7, Part D, Section V. annual emission reporting).

Further, Section II.F. was revised to clarify that all control equipment controlling separators is subject to Section II.B.2. requirements (separators subject to Section II.F were already subject to II.B.1.).

Well Maintenance Requirements: Section II.G.

Certain activities - such as well liquids unloading, well maintenance events, and well plugging - can result in emissions to the atmosphere. The Commission has long required that operators use best management practices to reduce the need to emit during these activities, and to reduce the amount of gas emitted during these activities. However, the Commission has determined that it is necessary to specify some of the practices that must be employed. Section II.G. therefore identifies several best management practices that operators must use to reduce the need for emissions from all these activities. For example, the Commission intends that in constructing a new well production facility, operators must consider how to reduce the need for well liquids unloading or well maintenance over the life of the well, and design accordingly.

The Commission also recognizes that well unloading occurs to remove liquid build-up to restore productivity. When attempting to relieve atmospheric pressure through emitting to the atmosphere to remove liquid buildup in these wells, particularly when the emissions occur multiple times each year over the life of a well, there can be significant hydrocarbon emissions. The Commission considers well swabbing to be a well liquids unloading event. Technology and practices have advanced such that it is possible to use equipment - including equipment more typically considered process equipment - to reduce the need to emit during well liquids unloading. For example, the use of an artificial lift, such as a plunger lift, can both reduce the need to emit during well liquids unloading and reduce the volume of gas emitted during a manual liquids unloading event.

Pigging and Blowdown Requirements: Section II.H.

The Commission was presented with data reported to EPA and to the Division that generally agrees that the largest sources of greenhouse gas emissions from the midstream segment is the fuel combustion equipment; however, these data sets also agree that emissions (particularly methane emissions) from operations and maintenance activities - such as pigging and blowdowns - are significant, and, the Commission has determined they are cost-effective to address. The Commission recognizes that depressurizing pig launchers and receivers in natural gas gathering operations can emit volatile organic compound (VOC) emissions. This gas released from pigging activities is under the same pressure as the pipeline and contains methane, ethane, and VOCs including benzene, toluene, ethylbenzene, and xylene. Pig receivers can also contain collected condensate liquid that had accumulated in the pipeline.

The Commission mandated that owner/operators capture and recover gas from pigging activities, and if not possible, to request Division approval to install and operate air pollution control equipment, such as vapor recovery, flare/combustors, or a Division-approved alternative to achieve a 95% reduction in hydrocarbon emissions. The requirement to capture or control hydrocarbon emissions associated with pigging operations applies when the operator - across all its operations, not just at one facility - conducts pigging operations more than 12 times per year. Where capture and control are not required, the Commission directs operators to use best management practices to reduce emissions from pigging. The Commission understands from operators that design techniques can minimize the frequency of pigging and the volume of gas emitted during pigging. Because the value of the specific BMPs identified by the Commission may change depending on future design considerations, the Commission has authorized the Division to approve alternatives that achieve equal to or better emission reductions. The Division can issue one or more guidance documents with pre-approved alternatives as understanding of pigging emissions and technologies and practices to reduce them improve.

The Commission mandated recordkeeping and reporting requirements in Sections II.H.3.a. and V. applicable to pigging operations to ensure compliance with and to track the efficacy of the established emission reduction measures. Emissions from pigging must be included in Regulation Number 7, Part D, Section V. annual reports.

In Section II.H.2., the Commission established that midstream segment owners or operators must capture or control hydrocarbon emissions from blowdowns at natural gas compressor stations and natural gas processing plants. For blowdowns along midstream pipelines - where not located within the boundaries of a natural gas compressor station or gas plant - the Commission determined it was appropriate to require the use of BMPs. The Commission does not intend that operators will use each BMP during every midstream pipeline blowdown event, but does intend that these BMPs be used where practicable.

The Commission also updated Section II.C.2.a. and III.C. to reflect that the “operate without venting” mandate, and associated recordkeeping, applies during pigging and blowdown activities where reductions are required. The venting from storage tanks resulting from these operations and maintenance activities at midstream operations are no longer automatically assumed to be appropriate or necessary.

In addition to the recordkeeping and reporting requirements applicable to pigging events, the Commission also required records of blowdowns. The records must outline the cause of blowdowns, the location, date, time, and duration of the emissions and records of best management practices employed to capture or control these blowdown emissions.

Pneumatic Controller Revisions: Section III.

The rule also expands the applicability of controller requirements and inspection and enhanced response requirements state-wide to natural gas processing plants. The Commission's proposal would require new gas plants to install, and existing gas plants to retrofit natural gas driven controllers with, zero-bleed controllers, unless certain safety exemptions are met. The Commission's proposal also requires that any remaining gas-driven controllers be subject to the find and fix program.

In Section III.C.3.a., the Commission clarified a revision made in February 2021. In February, the Commission revised this section to add an end-date of May 1, 2021, given the new requirements in III.C.4. However, the requirements of Section III.C.4. do not apply as widely as Section III.C.3.a., so the Commission here clarified that Section III.C.3.a. continues to apply unless a specific provision of Section III.C.4. is controlling (i.e., under the principle that the more specific controls over the general, in the event of a conflict between Section III.C.3.a. and III.C.4., Section III.C.4. would control).

Annual Emissions Reporting: Section V.

The Commission made several updates to Section V., some for clarification and some to better ensure the accuracy and verifiability of the annual emissions reports. In Sections V.B.1.e. through V.B.1.g., the Commission clarified that operators must use Division-approved calculation methods; the Commission considers this a clarification of the program adopted in 2019, which required operators to use the Division-approved form. The Commission adopted this clarification to ensure that operators are aware of the duty to recalculate and resubmit their annual emissions reports if the Division disapproves of a calculation methodology (if, for example, the methodology was not approved ahead of the report's submission).

In Section V.B.1.h., the Commission expressly required that operators who submit emissions information using a calculation methodology different from that used to submit the annual greenhouse gas reports to the U.S. EPA under the Greenhouse Gas Reporting Program also submit to the Division: 1) the emissions information using the same calculation method as used in the GHGRP program; and 2) a justification for the change in calculation methodology. The Commission believes that flexibility in calculation methodology is an important tool to ensure more accuracy across operations; however, it is necessary to understand deviations from EPA's approved methodology to ensure appropriate comparisons and to provide transparency. The Commission has also recognized again the Division's authority to require recalculation of emissions data if the alternative calculation methodology is not deemed approvable by the Division.

In Section V.B.1.j., the Commission has required that operators using emission factors to calculate emissions must either use Division-approved emission factors or may use a site-specific emission factor. However, the Commission recognizes that gas composition may change over time, and therefore has determined to require periodic gas composition analysis to support the continued use of site-specific emission factors. The Commission expects that the Division will, as appropriate, update any default factors based upon collected gas composition data.

In Section V.C.2., the Commission clarified the type of information that must be submitted. The requirements adopted in 2019 specified that operators must submit information including the emissions, emission factors, assumptions, and calculation methodology. And Section V.B.1.c. required submission of information about the activities and equipment covered by the report. The Commission now clarifies that other information the Division deems necessary to support the emissions reported must be included, to avoid operator reluctance to share this information based upon the previous regulatory language.

In Section V.C.2.d., beginning with the June 2024 report for calendar year 2023, the Commission requires owners or operators to report emissions, along with other supporting information, resulting from blowdowns from facility equipment and piping where the physical volume of the piping between isolation valves is greater than or equal to 50 cubic feet. The Commission notes its interpretation that the 50 cubic foot exemption never applied to blowdowns of pipeline segments between facilities that were previously reported under Section V.C.2.s. (now Section V.C.2.t.). The Commission has also rearranged the requirement to report emissions and other supporting information for pigging operations such that it no longer falls under Section V.C.2.d. and now stands alone under Section V.C.2.s. The allowance to exclude blowdowns from facility equipment and piping as well as from pigging operations where the physical volume of the piping between isolation valves is greater than or equal to 50 cubic feet continues through the June 2023 report for the 2022 calendar year. The Commission understands that accurate tracking of gas volumes from equipment and piping where the physical volume of the piping between isolation valves is greater than or equal to 50 cubic feet can be difficult. Therefore, the Commission directs the Division to accept appropriate actual and approximated reported volumes for this subcategory of blowdowns.

In Section V.C.2.k., the Commission specified that operators must report component counts and gas speciation data used to support fugitive emission calculations. The Commission acknowledges that component counts can be representative, and are not necessarily specific counts per facility. However, where operators are using representative component counts, that must be noted on the submittal.

The Commission made other clarifications and updates, and included the date of both reporting year and year of report submittal where necessary to ensure that operators have adequate time to capture any new information.

Miscellaneous

In Section II.B.2. and II.B.3., the Commission updated the section regarding requirements for compressors (reciprocating and centrifugal) to reflect that compliance with either NSPS OOOO or NSPS OOOOa is sufficient.

The revisions made to Regulation Number 7 also renumber tables and provisions to accommodate the new requirements, and correct typographical, grammatical, and formatting errors.

Incorporation by Reference

The Commission will update regulatory references as needed as opportunities arrive.

Additional Considerations

The following are additional findings of the Commission made in accordance with the Act:

Section 25-7-110.5(5)(b), C.R.S.

As these revisions exceed and may differ from the federal rules under the federal act, in accordance with Section 25-7-110.5(5)(b), C.R.S., the Commission determines:

(I) Any federal requirements that are applicable to this situation with a commentary on those requirements;

There are existing federal regulations that seek to identify and reduce methane emissions from the oil and gas industry, such as the Greenhouse Gas Reporting Program (Part 98) and NSPS KKK, OOOO, and OOOOa. The EPA will soon release proposals to address greenhouse gas emissions from oil and gas equipment, but EPA's proposal does not address the particular situations addressed by the Commission's revisions here.

Under Regulation Number 7, Part D, Section I.G, natural gas processing plants in the 8-hour Ozone Control Area must comply with the LDAR program in New Source Performance Standard (NSPS) OOOO or NSPS OOOOa. Natural gas processing plants outside the 8-hour Ozone Control Area may also be subject to NSPS OOOO or NSPS OOOOa, depending on the date of construction. In these revisions, the Commission subjected gas plants statewide to requirements that had previously only applied within the 8-hour Ozone Control Area. EPA also has regulations and guidance for compressors

(e.g., rod packing replacement) and pneumatic controllers. Colorado's requirements - both existing and as proposed herein - meet or exceed these federal requirements. For example, many federal requirements are applicable in ozone nonattainment areas, while Colorado's provisions apply statewide.

Through Part D, as revised, the Commission builds upon established federal LDAR requirements and closes additional monitoring gaps by eliminating limits on NSPS OOOOa applicability by location for certain natural gas sources and to establish a more robust LDAR program throughout the state.

EPA also asks states to consider environmental justice as part of their actions, though there are no specific federal regulatory requirements at this time. In this revision, Part B, Sections III and IV expand on environmental justice considerations by incorporating the definition of "disproportionately impacted communities" (DI Community), and seeking to prioritize reductions in DI communities.

(II) Whether the applicable federal requirements are performance-based or technology-based and whether there is any flexibility in those requirements, and if not, why not;

The federal requirements addressing methane reductions from the oil and gas sector (though not applicable in this situation) as described above are both performance-based and technology-based. Current federal requirements for methane reductions speak to achieving a control efficiency, with minimal flexibility. Some requirements also mandate the use of technology to detect methane emissions; however, EPA does provide some flexibility in the technology that can be used.

(III) Whether the applicable federal requirements specifically address the issues that are of concern to Colorado and whether data or information that would reasonably reflect Colorado's concern and situation was considered in the federal process that established the federal requirements;

There are federal requirements that seek to reduce greenhouse gas from oil and gas operations, though none that are addressed to the specific goals of these revisions. The Commission's revisions address Colorado-specific requirements and needs, like those of HB 19-1261 and HB 21-1266, which were not considered in any federal process.

(IV) Whether the proposed requirement will improve the ability of the regulated community to comply in a more cost-effective way by clarifying confusing or potentially conflicting requirements (within or cross-media), increasing certainty, or preventing or reducing the need for costly retrofit to meet more stringent requirements later;

The proposed midstream and upstream requirements ensure that the regulated community can achieve required GHG emissions reductions in cost-effective ways and reduce the need for costlier retrofits later.

(V) Whether there is a timing issue which might justify changing the time frame for implementation of federal requirements;

This is a state-specific rule that is not implementing federal requirements. Thus, no timing issue exists with respect to implementation of federal requirements.

(VI) Whether the proposed requirement will assist in establishing and maintaining a reasonable margin for accommodation of uncertainty and future growth;

The regulatory provisions allow a reasonable amount of time for affected entities to comply with the new revisions. As such, affected businesses or industrial sectors are afforded a reasonable margin for accommodation of uncertainty and future growth.

(VII) Whether the proposed requirement establishes or maintains reasonable equity in the requirements for various sources;

The Commission's revisions establish and maintain reasonable equity because they subject similar sources statewide with similar emitting activities to similar requirements. Climate change is not a local problem, and these rules demonstrate that the sources everywhere must contribute to the solution.

(VIII) Whether others would face increased costs if a more stringent rule is not enacted;

The Commission believes that the cost of inaction would be greater to industry and the public than the costs associated with the revisions to Regulation Number 7, Part D. Not only with respect to the social cost of climate change, but also more direct costs. These revisions are designed with the maximum flexibility for the regulated community. Under HB 21-1266, if the state is not on track to achieve the emission reduction goals, the Commission must adopt further regulations to achieve those goals. Future efforts are likely to be not as cost-effective as the flexible programs in these revisions.

(IX) Whether the proposed requirement includes procedural, reporting, or monitoring requirements that are different from applicable federal requirements and, if so, why and what the "compelling reason" is for different procedural, reporting, or monitoring requirements;

Reporting requirements beyond those required under federal Part 98 are necessary to effectively quantify and measure Colorado's progress toward statewide GHG reductions and to achieve the public health, safety, and welfare goals set forth in Section 25-7-102, C.R.S. Many of the reporting requirements associated with these programs are in existing Commission regulations, in Regulation Number 7, Part D. However, these revisions do require some additional reporting. Under these requirements, owners and operators of these sources will be required to compile and report directly to the Division information collected by or available to them for business or other regulatory purposes. While this may overlap with some other federal reporting requirements, it is expected there will be reporting beyond what is required federally.

(X) Whether demonstrated technology is available to comply with the proposed requirement;

Demonstrated technology exists to enable compliance with the requirements of these revisions. The Commission has also embedded maximum flexibility to take advantage of future technological developments.

(XI) Whether the proposed requirement will contribute to the prevention of pollution or address a potential problem and represent a more cost-effective environmental gain;

These revisions will cost-effectively reduce statewide GHG emissions to meet the legislative directive of the State Air Act, as revised by SB 19-181, HB 19-1261, and HB 21-1266. As noted above, the General Assembly has acknowledged that climate change impacts Colorado's economy and directed that GHG emissions should be reduced across the many sectors of our economy. Colorado has established specific GHG reduction goals within its statutes. Programs established in this rulemaking action - in both Regulation Numbers 7 and 22 - provide mechanisms for GHG reductions to occur cost-effectively across a specific, high-emitting sector of the state's economy.

(XII) Whether an alternative rule, including a no-action alternative, would address the required standard.

The new regulatory requirements and amendments are needed to achieve the statutorily mandated emission reductions. As noted above, the State Air Act requires the Commission to implement GHG emission reduction strategies in order to secure reductions of pollution consistent with the statewide GHG emission reduction goals. Currently, emissions projections over the next decade demonstrate that a no-action alternative would fall short of achieving Colorado's reduction goals. Additionally, no alternative combination of sector-specific regulations has been identified that is sufficient to meet the state's GHG emissions reductions goals.

Findings of Fact

To the extent that § 25-7-110.8, C.R.S., requirements apply to this rulemaking, and after considering all the information in the record, the Commission hereby makes the determination that:

(I) These rules are based upon reasonably available, validated, reviewed, and sound scientific methodologies, and the Commission has considered all information submitted by interested parties.

(II) Evidence in the record supports the finding that the rules shall result in a demonstrable reduction of greenhouse gas and VOC emissions.

(III) Evidence in the record supports the finding that the rules shall bring about reductions in risks to human health and the environment that justify the costs to implement and comply with the rules.

(IV) The rules are the most cost-effective to achieve the necessary reduction in air pollution and provide the regulated entity flexibility.

(V) The selected regulatory alternative will maximize the air quality benefits of regulation in the most cost-effective manner.

STATUTORY AUTHORITY FOR THE COMMISSION'S ACTIONS:
The Colorado Air Pollution Prevention and Control Act, § 25-7-101, C.R.S., et seq. (the State Air Act or the Act), specifically § 25-7-105(1), directs the Commission to promulgate such rules and regulations as are consistent with the legislative declaration set forth in § 25-7-102 and that are necessary for the proper implementation and administration of Article 7. The Act broadly defines air pollutant to include essentially any gas emitted into the atmosphere and provides the Commission broad authority to regulate air pollutants.

Section 25-7-106 provides the Commission maximum flexibility in developing an effective air quality program and promulgating such combination of regulations as may be necessary or desirable to carry out that program. Section 25-7-106 also authorizes the Commission to promulgate emission control regulations applicable to the entire state, specified areas or zones, or a specified class of pollution. Section 25-7-106(6) further authorizes the Commission to require owners and operators of any air pollution source to monitor, record, and report information. Section 25-7-109(10) directs the Commission to adopt emission control regulations to minimize emissions of methane, other hydrocarbons, VOC, and NOx from oil and gas operations.

Pursuant to HB 21-1266, the Commission must, by January 1, 2022, adopt regulations to ensure that the state meets its greenhouse gas reduction targets for the oil and gas sector (36% by 2025 and 60% by 2030). The Commission must also ensure that industrial sector emissions (including those from oil and gas fuel combustion equipment) are reduced by 20% from the 2015 baseline by 2030. These revisions will, taking into account other relevant laws and rules (including the revisions to Regulation Numbers 7 and 22 adopted as part of this rulemaking action), as well as voluntary actions taken by local communities and the private sector, achieve the state's GHG reduction goals through 2030 for the oil and gas industry.

The rulemaking hearing will be conducted in accordance with Sections 24-4-103 and 25-7-110, 25-7-110.5 and 25-7-110.8 C.R.S., as applicable and amended, the Commission's Procedural Rules, all other applicable rules and regulations, and as otherwise stated in this notice. This list of statutory authority is not intended as an exhaustive list of the Commission's statutory authority to act in this matter.

III. Control of Emissions from Oil and Natural Gas Midstream Segment

III.A. Definitions

III.A.1. "8-hour ozone control area" means the Counties of Adams, Arapahoe, Boulder (includes part of Rocky Mountain National Park), Douglas, and Jefferson; the Cities and Counties of Denver and Broomfield; and the following portions of the Counties of Larimer and Weld

III.A.1.a. For Larimer County (includes part of Rocky Mountain National Park), that portion of the county that lies south of a line described as follows: Beginning at a point on Larimer County's eastern boundary and Weld County's western boundary intersected by 40 degrees, 42 minutes, and 47.1 seconds north latitude, proceed west to a point defined by the intersection of 40 degrees, 42 minutes, 47.1 seconds north latitude and

III.A.2. "Company emission reduction plan" or "company ERP" means a plan prepared by a midstream segment owner or operator, consistent with the guidance issued by the midstream steering committee, to achieve that owner or operator's proportionate reductions of greenhouse gas emissions to meet the requirements of Section III.

III.A.3. "Disproportionately impacted community" (DI community) means a community that is in a census block group, as determined in accordance with the most recent United States census, where the proportion of households that are low income (meaning the median household income is less than or equal to two hundred percent of the federal poverty guideline) is greater than forty percent; the proportion of households that identify as minority is greater than forty percent, or the proportion of households that are housing cost-burdened (meaning a household that spends more than thirty percent of its income on housing) is greater than forty percent; or is any other community as identified or approved by a state agency, if: the community has a history of environmental racism perpetuated through redlining, anti-Indigenous, anti-Immigrant, anti-Hispanic, or anti-Black laws; or the community is one where multiple factors, including socioeconomic stressors, disproportionate environmental burdens, vulnerability to environmental degradation, and lack of public participation, may act cumulatively to affect health and the environment and contribute to persistent disparities.

II.A.4. "Midstream fuel combustion equipment" means engines, turbines, process and other heaters, boilers, and reboilers in the midstream segment.

III.A.5. "Midstream segment" means the oil and natural gas compression segment and the natural gas processing segment that are physically located in Colorado and that are upstream of the natural gas transmission and storage segment.

III.A.6. "Midstream segment emission reduction plan" or "segment ERP" means a plan establishing the process and timelines for the midstream segment to achieve twenty percent (20%) reduction in greenhouse gas emissions (in CO2e) from midstream segment fuel combustion equipment no later than December 31, 2030.

III.A.7. "Midstream steering committee" means a committee comprised of members approved by the Division to serve as a technical working group tasked with developing program guidance documents and developing a midstream segment emission reduction plan. To the extent practicable, the committee members will include two members representing the electric utility sector; three members representing the midstream segment (at least one representing the oil and natural gas compression segment and one representing the natural gas processing segment), or industry trade organizations representing owners or operators; two local government representatives (one from inside the 8-hour ozone control area and northern Weld County and one from outside the 8-hour ozone control area and northern Weld County); two members representing the general public (a representative of an environmental organizations and a representative of a disproportionately impacted community); and at least one Division staff person. The steering committee may also include two additional members: a representative from the Colorado Energy Office and a representative from the Public Utilities Commission.

III.A.8. "Natural gas processing segment" means the operations engaged in the separation of natural gas liquids (NGLs) or non-methane gases from produced natural gas, or the separation of NGLs into one or more component mixtures. Separation includes one or more of the following: forced extraction of natural gas liquids, sulfur and carbon dioxide removal, fractionation of NGLs, or the capture of CO2 separated from natural gas streams. This segment also includes all residue gas compression equipment owned or operated by the natural gas processing plant.

III.A.9. "Natural gas transmission and storage segment" includes onshore natural gas transmission pipelines, onshore natural gas transmission compression, underground natural gas storage, and liquefied natural gas (LNG) storage, as these terms are defined in 40 CFR Part 98, Section 98.230 (October 22, 2015) that are physically located in Colorado.

III.A.10. "Northern Weld County" means the portion of the county that does not lie south of a line described as follows: Beginning at a point on Weld County's eastern boundary and Logan County's western boundary intersected by 40 degrees, 42 minutes, 47.1 seconds north latitude, proceed west on 40 degrees, 42 minutes, 47.1 seconds north latitude until this line intersects Weld County's western boundary and Larimer County's eastern boundary.

III.A.11. "Oil and natural gas compression segment" means the gathering pipelines and other equipment used to collect oil and/or natural gas from gas or oil wells and used to compress, dehydrate, sweeten, or transport the oil and/or natural gas to a natural gas processing facility, a natural gas transmission pipeline, or to a natural gas distribution pipeline. For purposes of Section III., equipment located at a well production facility, including but not limited to compressors, is excluded from the oil and natural gas compression segment.

III.A.12. "Residue gas" and "residue gas compression" mean, respectively, production lease natural gas from which gas liquid products and, in some cases, non-hydrocarbon components have been extracted such that it meets the specifications set by a pipeline transmission company, and/or a distribution company; and the compressors operated by the processing facility, whether inside the processing facility boundary fence or outside the fence-line, that deliver the residue gas from the processing facility to a transmission pipeline.

III.B. Beginning January 1, 2022, each midstream segment owner or operator must participate in this Section III. program to reduce greenhouse gas emissions from midstream fuel combustion equipment by at least twenty percent (20%) over the 2015 baseline as determined by Section 25-7-140(2)(a)(II), C.R.S.

IV.B. Greenhouse gas intensity targets for the upstream segment.

IV.B.1. Beginning January 1, 2023, upstream segment owners or operators must participate in this greenhouse gas intensity program to reduce preproduction and production emissions in Colorado. An owner or operator that fails to achieve any of the applicable targets in Section IV.B. must achieve additional reductions in preproduction and/or production emissions in the subsequent calendar year to address the difference between the owner or operator's reported intensity for that calendar year and the applicable target.

IV.B.2. For calendar year 2025, owners or operators subject to Section IV.B.1. must achieve the following greenhouse gas intensity targets for preproduction and production emissions.

IV.B.2.a. Majority Operator: 10.94 mtCO2e/kBOE.

IV.B.2.b. Minority Operator: 34.39 mtCO2e/kBOE.

IV.B.6. Acquisitions. Except as provided below, if an owner or operator acquires or takes over operation of an oil or natural gas well in Colorado after January 1, 2025, that owner or operator must meet the greenhouse gas intensity target in Sections IV.B.2. through IV.B.5. applicable to those assets at the time of the transaction for the calendar years.

IV.B.6.a. If a majority operator merges with, acquires, or takes over operation of an oil or natural gas well in Colorado from a minority operator after January 1, 2025, the majority operator (or surviving entity) must at least comply with the applicable minority operator greenhouse gas intensity target for the preproduction and production emissions from the acquired well(s) for the calendar year of the acquisition. Beginning with the calendar year after the acquisition, the applicable majority owner or operator must comply with the applicable majority operator targets for all its upstream segment operations, including the acquired well(s).

IV.C. New facility greenhouse gas intensity targets.

IV.C.1. Beginning January 1, 2023, upstream segment owners or operators of well production facilities that commence operation after December 31, 2022, must also meet the new facility greenhouse gas intensity target(s) for those facilities as set forth in Sections IV.C.2. through IV.C.4. in the calendar year of and the calendar year after the well production facility commences operation. These targets are in addition to the targets applicable to all of the owner or operator's upstream segment operations as specified in Section IV.B.

IV.C.1.a. For purposes of Section IV.C., "new facility greenhouse gas intensity" means the production emissions in CO_2e from all well production facilities commencing operation in a calendar year divided by the production of oil and natural gas from those facilities in kBOE for that calendar year.

IV.D.1. Owners or operators must account for production from all well production facilities in which the owner or operator holds more than a 50% interest in the entity operating the well production facility during the time in which the owner or operator holds that interest. If no one owner or operator holds more than a 50% interest in the entity listed as the well production facility operator, the owner or operator with the largest ownership share must account for the production. Production can only be allocated to one owner or operator for the same time period.

IV.D.2. Owners or operators must calculate kBOE by dividing the million standard cubic feet (MMscf) volume of natural gas produced by the conversion rate of 5.8 MMscf/BOE.

IV.E. Company-wide greenhouse gas intensity plans. By January 31, 2023, each upstream segment owner or operator subject to Section IV.B.1. must submit to the Division a proposed greenhouse gas intensity plan demonstrating how the owner or operator intends to meet the applicable greenhouse gas intensity targets in Section IV.B.2.

IV.F. Verification.

IV.F.1. By no later than March 2023, the Division will submit a proposed verification plan for how upstream segment owners or operators will demonstrate compliance with applicable greenhouse gas intensity targets in Sections IV.B. and IV.C. to the Air Quality Control Commission and request a rulemaking hearing in 2023. In preparing the proposed verification plan, the Division must IV.F.1.a. Propose appropriate calculation methodologies for the emissions categories to be included in a demonstration with the greenhouse gas intensity targets in Section IV.

IV.F.1.b. Ensure the proposal addresses the relative completeness and reliability of the annual emission reports submitted pursuant to Regulation Numbers 7, Part D, Sections II.G. and V.

IV.F.1.c. Ensure the proposal addresses the results of the aerial and ground-based method surveys conducted by the Division in 2021 and how those surveys may be used to ensure abnormal operating conditions and other large hydrocarbon emission events are accounted for in the annual emission reports.

PART D Statement of Basis, Specific Statutory Authority, and Purpose

IV. Adopted: December 17, 2021

Revisions to Regulation Number 22, Part B, Sections III. and IV.

This Statement of Basis, Specific Statutory Authority, and Purpose complies with the requirements of the State Administrative Procedure Act, § 24-4-101, C.R.S., et seq., the Colorado Air Pollution Prevention and Control Act, § 25-7-101, C.R.S., et seq., and the Air Quality Control Commission's (Commission) Procedural Rules, 5 C.C.R. §1001-1.

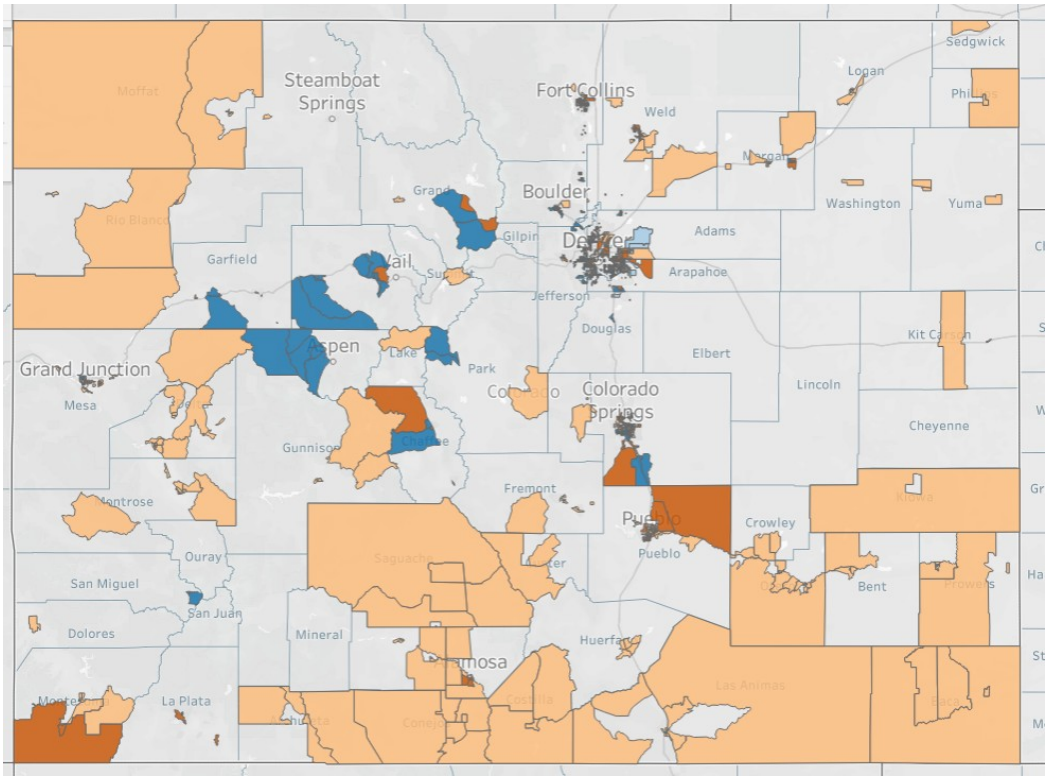
Basis

During the 2019 legislative session, Colorado's General Assembly adopted revisions to several Colorado Revised Statutes in Senate Bill 19-181 (SB 19-181) (Concerning additional public welfare protections regarding the conduct of oil and gas operations) that include directives for both the Oil and Gas Conservation Commission (OGCC) and this Commission. In the same session, the General Assembly adopted House Bill 19-1261 (HB 19-1261), setting statewide greenhouse gas (GHG) reduction goals. The General Assembly declared in HB 19-1261 that "climate change adversely affects Colorado's economy, air quality and public health, ecosystems, natural resources, and quality of life[,]" acknowledged that "Colorado is already experiencing harmful climate impacts[,]" and that "many of these impacts disproportionately affect" certain disadvantaged communities. The goals set in HB 19-1261 seek a 26% reduction of statewide GHG emissions by 2025; 50% reduction by 2030; and 90% reduction by 2050 as compared to 2005 levels. The GHG Pollution Reduction Roadmap ("GHG Roadmap") developed by the Colorado Energy Office and CDPHE identifies the largest contributors to state GHG emissions and quantifies the baselines from which these reduction percentages are to be estimated.

In October 2020, the Commission established a target for the O&G Sector of a 36% reduction from the 2005 baseline by 2025 and a 60% reduction from the 2005 baseline by 2030 (an estimated 13 million metric tons (MMT) CO2e by 2025 and 8 MMT CO2e by 2030). Commission targets for the sector including residential, commercial, and industrial combustion emissions (RCI Sector) include a 20% reduction from 2005 numbers by 2030. House Bill 21-1266 (HB 21-1266), signed into law on July 2, 2021, memorializes these percentage reductions in statute, and provides additional requirements for the rulemakings to achieve these goals. The oil and gas industry is a large source of GHG emissions, and the largest anthropogenic source of methane in Colorado. For the oil and gas industry, not all of its emissions are found in the "O&G Sector", also referred to as the "Oil & Gas Fugitive Emissions" category of the GHG Roadmap. Most methane emissions from upstream and midstream activities, along with estimates of methane "leakage" from pipelines in the transmission & storage and distribution segments, are in the O&G Sector. In contrast, the emissions from fuel combustion at oil and gas sources in the upstream and midstream segments are largely found in the "RCI Sector" of the GHG Roadmap (specifically in the "industrial" category, which is the subject of specific requirements in HB 21-1266).

In this rulemaking action, the Commission has adopted requirements for upstream and midstream segment operations, to reduce GHG emissions from those operations, sufficient - when taken in combination with other regulatory and voluntary actions across the state - to achieve the GHG reduction requirements of HB 21-1266. In this action, the Commission did not adopt regulations applicable to the transmission and storage segment or the distribution segment. With regard to the transmission and storage segment, the Commission adopted a performance-based program for this segment in 2019 designed to materially reduce greenhouse gas emissions from transmission and storage operations; reporting of progress has not yet begun under that program and the Commission believes it reasonable to evaluate the progress of that program before modifying it. The Commission did not adopt regulations applicable to the distribution segment because legislation passed in the 2021 session invests the Colorado Public Utility Commission (PUC) with authority over this segment of the oil and gas industry. Senate Bill 21-264 (SB 21-264) requires that gas distribution utilities will submit a comprehensive clean heat plan that demonstrates projected reductions in methane and carbon dioxide emissions that meet prescribed reduction targets. Each clean heat plan must outline the utility's proposal to reduce carbon dioxide and methane emission levels by 4% in 2025 and 22% in 2030. Gas distribution utilities, depending on their size, must submit clean heat plans to the PUC by August 1, 2023 and January 1, 2024. Thus, the Commission believes that the transmission & storage performance program and the clean heat plans are likely to achieve reductions of emissions necessary from these segments to achieve the goals of § 25-7-105(1)(e)(XII).

In the 2021 legislative session, in HB 21-1266, the General Assembly also determined that "state action to correct environmental injustice is imperative, and state policy can and should improve public health and the environment and improve the overall well-being of all communities… [and] efforts to right past wrongs and move toward environmental justice must focus on disproportionately impacted communities and the voices of their residents." HB 21-1266 also requires the Commission to ensure additional protections for, and reductions of co-pollutants in, disproportionately impacted communities. CDPHE developed a map of the disproportionately impacted communities that meet the definition of HB 21-1266. While this map is expected to change over time, the disproportionately impacted communities that have been identified at the time of this program's adoption are as set forth in the following map:



Specific Statutory Authority

The Colorado Air Pollution Prevention and Control Act, § 25-7-101, C.R.S., et seq. (the State Air Act or the Act), specifically § 25-7-105(1), directs the Commission to promulgate such rules and regulations as are consistent with the legislative declaration set forth in § 25-7-102 and that are necessary for the proper implementation and administration of Article 7. The Act provides the Commission broad authority to regulate air pollutants, including GHG and its constituent gasses (particularly carbon dioxide, methane, and nitrous oxide).

Section 25-7-106 provides the Commission maximum flexibility in developing an effective air quality program and promulgating such combination of regulations as may be necessary or desirable to carry out that program. Section 25-7-106 also authorizes the Commission to promulgate emission control regulations applicable to the entire state, specified areas or zones, or a specified class of pollution. Section 25-7-106(6) further authorizes the Commission to require owners and operators of any air pollution source to monitor, record, and report information. Section 25-7-109(10) directs the Commission to adopt emission control regulations to minimize emissions of methane, other hydrocarbons, VOC, and NOx from oil and gas operations.

Pursuant to HB 21-1266, the Commission must, by January 1, 2022, adopt regulations to ensure that the state meets its greenhouse gas reduction targets for the oil and gas sector in the GHG Roadmap (36% by 2025 and 60% by 2030). The Commission must also ensure that industrial sector emissions (including those from oil and gas fuel combustion equipment) are reduced by 20% from the 2015 baseline by 2030. These revisions ensure that the state meets its statutory goals. These revisions to Regulation Number 22 will, taking into account other relevant laws and rules (including the revisions to Regulation Number 7 adopted as part of this rulemaking action), as well as voluntary actions taken by local communities and the private sector, achieve the state's GHG reduction goals through 2030 for the oil and gas industry. The revisions include protections for disproportionately impacted communities that ensure reductions of pollutants other than GHGs, additional requirements for monitoring and leak detection and repair, and improve the state's current emission inventory reporting program in Regulation Number 7, Part D, Section V.

Purpose

The following section sets forth the Commission's purpose in adopting the revisions to Regulation Number 22, and includes the technological and scientific rationale for the adoption of the revisions.

Definitions: Sections III.A. and IV.A.

In Sections III.A and IV.A, the Commission included several defined terms from Regulation Number 7 and intends that the same terms have the same meaning in both regulations unless otherwise specified (i.e., unless the regulation states that a term is defined specifically for purposes of that regulation). The Commission intends that terms used in Sections III or IV, even if only defined in one of those Sections, have the same meaning.

The Commission defined both the midstream segment and the upstream segment of the oil and gas industry. The upstream segment is not intended to necessarily be co-extensive with the use of the term "exploration and production operations" in Regulation Number 7. The Commission recognizes that there is some "compression" undertaken at well production facilities, and intends that those operations are part of the upstream segment, not the midstream segment (even if they would otherwise fall under the gathering and boosting segment as that term is used in the EPA's Greenhouse Gas Reporting Program).

The Commission has defined "disproportionately impacted community" consistent with the definition in HB 21-1266. However, the statute does not call out which communities are considered disproportionately impacted. CDPHE is developing a tool, called "enviroscreen", that will be utilized for members of the public and the regulated community to understand which communities in Colorado are disproportionately impacted. However, this tool was not ready at the time of this rulemaking. Therefore, the Commission has determined that the disproportionately impacted communities existing at the time of this program - and therefore the communities in which provisions of this program apply - are identified in the map above.

The Commission added a definition of "preproduction emissions" and "production emissions". It is the intent of the Commission that all emissions from the well, wellhead equipment (both permanent and temporary), the well production facility, and the piping between the wellhead and the well production facility are accounted for in one of these two definitions.

Midstream Steering Committee for Fuel Combustion Equipment: Part B, Section III.

The Commission recognizes that emissions from midstream fuel combustion equipment are a significant portion of the midstream segment's greenhouse gas emissions. Emissions from fuel combustion equipment covered by this program include not only the carbon dioxide emissions, but also the methane and other greenhouse gases from that same equipment. For example, "methane slip" from engines, meaning the methane that is not combusted and that escapes unburnt into the atmosphere, is included in this program. The Commission also recognizes that reducing emissions from fuel combustion equipment, particularly as it involves electrification of large combustion equipment, will need to be carefully coordinated to ensure the continued reliability of Colorado's power grid. As a result, the Commission established the Midstream Steering Committee to develop a guidance document for operators on how to develop each operator's company-specific emission reduction plan, addressing the mechanisms and timetable for reducing greenhouse gas from fuel combustion equipment. The Commission adopted minimum requirements for participation on the steering committee, recognizing that the Commission does not have the authority to require participation by the Colorado Energy Office or Public Utilities Commission staff.

The rules adopted by the Commission mandate that midstream segment owners and operators submit certain specified information to the steering committee by July 31, 2022. If the midstream steering committee determines that it needs additional information, it may request it. The rules provide that such additional information should be requested by April 30, 2022; however, this does not limit the Division's authority to use existing statutes and regulatory authority to require the submittal of additional information to the Division or the midstream steering committee. The Division must preserve trade secrets and other confidential business information, if provided to the Division, as required by the Colorado Open Records Act.

The Division will provide the steering committee with the 2015 baseline for industrial greenhouse gas emissions, from which the midstream segment needs to achieve a twenty-percent (20%) reduction by 2030. While the Commission intends that reductions should be achieved as quickly as possible, the Commission does not demand a linear reduction in emissions between 2025 and 2030.

The midstream steering committee will prepare a guidance document (or series of documents) to help midstream segment owners and operators in preparing their own company-specific emission reduction plans. The Commission intends that the guidance document will specify methods for calculating emissions from fuel combustion equipment, and that the Division must approve of the calculation methods before they can be included in the guidance. Specifically, the Commission directs the Division to evaluate calculation methods used in the annual emission reports to the Division under Regulation Number 7, Part D, Section V, compare those with methods used to report to the U.S. EPA under the greenhouse gas reporting program and other available calculation methods, and determine the appropriate methods to be used by operators. The Commission expects consistency in the methods used by operators, as much as practicable.

Operators must submit company emission reduction plans to the steering committee in accordance with the requirements of Section III.D.4 and containing the information specified in the guidance document. The Commission intends that the Division will prepare emission reduction requirements for any midstream owner or operator that does not timely submit its company ERP; however, if a company ERP is submitted late, the Division may nonetheless approve of inclusion of that company ERP into the segment ERP.

The Commission structured the rule such that the midstream steering committee submits a proposed regulatory package - with supporting analysis - to the Division instead of directly to the Commission. The Commission intends that the Division will review the steering committee's proposal, and use its independent judgment as to whether the proposal will ensure compliance with the requirements of §25-7-105(1)(e)(XIII), C.R.S. - i.e. achieves a 20% reduction in CO2e from the 2015 baseline - for the midstream segment. The midstream segment emission reduction plan submitted by the Division to the Commission will therefore be based on the segment-wide emission reduction plan developed by the midstream steering committee, but will take into account the public comments received and the Division's evaluation of whether the steering committee's emission reduction plan will achieve the state's goals for CO2 reductions from midstream segment fuel combustion equipment.

Upstream Greenhouse Gas Intensity: Part B, Section IV.

In these revisions, the Commission has set targets for greenhouse gas intensity that step-down over time to achieve the GHG reductions required of upstream segment operations to meet the requirements of HB 21-1266. There is currently no regulatory greenhouse intensity program in the United States of which the Commission is aware. However, there are a number of voluntary programs, including ONE Future, the Natural Gas Sustainability Initiative, etc. Multiple Colorado operators are already participating in voluntary methane intensity programs.

The Commission, for consistency across Colorado operations, determined that in converting natural gas production to barrels of oil equivalent, owners and operators should use the conversion factor of 5800 standard cubic feet of natural gas per barrel of oil equivalent. To clarify the calculation for intensity, which requires use of oil and natural gas production in thousand barrels of oil equivalent (kBOE), as well as the common units used for reporting natural gas production of million standard cubic feet (MMscf), operators should divide natural gas production reported in MMscf by 5.8 MMscf/BOE.

The Commission set intensity targets to cover all preproduction emissions and production emissions from upstream oil and gas operations. The intensity program covers emissions in both the “Industrial” sector and the “Oil and Gas” sector in the GHG Roadmap. The Commission recognizes that these sectors have different statutory targets for GHG reductions; the “Industrial” sector must meet a 20% reduction from the 2015 baseline by 2030, and the “Oil and Gas” sector must meet a 36% reduction from the 2005 baseline by 2025 and a 60% reduction from the 2005 baseline by 2030. The Commission adopted the projected throughput from the GHG Roadmap inventory work for purposes of setting these targets. However, the Commission understands that some stakeholders may sponsor a study of production forecasts to further inform and refine the established intensity targets. The Commission is willing to consider the results of such a study, and directs that the Division consider the results of any such study in the 2023 verification rulemaking (discussed below) and propose updating targets as appropriate.

The Commission determined that it was appropriate to set more stringent intensity targets for the larger producers in the state (i.e., “majority producers”), than for the smaller producers (i.e., “minority producers”). The threshold set by the Commission for determining majority producers was based on accounting for the operators representing at least 80% of the state’s oil and natural gas production. The Commission recognizes that the smaller producers - that largely operate wells with declining production - have less opportunity to reduce intensity than the larger operators. However, the Commission does not intend that older facilities with declining production should just be permitted to operate with ever-increasing intensities, and directs the Division to study a potential facility-specific maximum allowable intensity and propose it as part of the 2023 verification rulemaking, if appropriate.

The Commission adopted provisions providing how to adjust operator-specific reduction requirements upon the occurrence of asset transfer or other business realities. Generally, if an owner or operator sells its interest in a well or facility at some point during a calendar year, the owner or operator will report the production and emissions for the time period of its ownership, and the purchasing entity will report the production and emissions for the time period of its ownership, triggered by the closing date of the transaction. However, because majority and minority operators have different targets, the Commission clarifies how those situations should be addressed. First, if a majority operator acquires assets from a minority operator, the majority operator would have some time before the acquired assets would be subject to the majority operator intensity targets. During the year of the acquisition, the majority operator need only demonstrate that the emissions and production from the acquired assets meet the minority operator targets. However, in the calendar year after the acquisition, the majority operator would include the emissions and production from the acquired assets in its company-wide intensity calculation and need to meet the majority operator targets. Second, if a minority operator acquires assets from a majority operator, for the year of and the year following the acquisition, those assets would be included in the company-wide intensity calculation subject to the minority operator target. However, if the minority operator would now otherwise have been a majority operator - i.e., if in the calendar year after the acquisition the minority operator has production over 10,000 kBOE - then in the second full calendar year after the acquisition, the minority operator would become a majority operator and be subject to those targets (and other rules applicable to majority operators). Otherwise, if a majority operator acquires assets (or merges with) a majority operator, the majority targets are still met. Similarly, if a minority operator acquires assets (or merges with) a minority operator, the minority targets are still met. If a majority operator sells assets, the majority operator targets must still be met, even if that operator’s production falls below 10,000 kBOE. If an operator not currently operating in Colorado acquires the assets of a minority operator, the minority operator targets apply; similarly, if an operator not currently in Colorado acquires the assets of a majority operator, the majority operator targets apply.

The Commission also determined that it was necessary to set a "new facility greenhouse gas intensity" target, to recognize that new well production facilities must continue to improve their performance, and reduce GHG emissions associated with new production. The Commission relied upon studies of intensity at oil and gas operations to determine that a new facility GHG intensity should be approximately 78.5% of the majority operator greenhouse gas intensity target. These new facility targets are in addition to the majority operator/minority operator targets in Section IV.B. So, a majority operator who constructs a new well production facility in 2027 must meet: (1) the greenhouse gas intensity target in Section IV.B.3.a. for all its upstream segment operations including the newly constructed well production facility (and subsequent majority operator targets in Section IV.B.); (2) the new facility greenhouse gas intensity target in Section IV.C.3. for calendar year 2027 for the newly constructed well production facility; and (3) the new facility greenhouse gas intensity target in Section IV.C.4. for calendar year 2028 for the newly constructed well production facility.

In Section IV.E, the Commission requires that owners or operators submit greenhouse gas intensity plans. The primary purpose of these plans is for owners or operators to demonstrate to the Division how they intend to meet the 2025 greenhouse gas intensity targets in Section IV.B.2. The Commission does not intend that these plans be separately enforceable; however, the updates required in Section IV.E.3 are enforceable. For example, if an operator submits in January 2023 a greenhouse gas intensity plan, proposing that the operator will meet the 2025 targets by, among other things, replacing gas driven pneumatic controllers with instrument air controllers at four sites, that January 2023 submittal is not enforceable by the Division. However, if that operator submits an update in June 2024, stating that the company did, in fact, retrofit pneumatic controllers at those four sites, the Division can enforce the operator's obligation to have done that (i.e., if, upon inspection, the Division observes that the operator did not actually replace those gas driven pneumatic controllers consistent with the June 2024 update, the operator would be out of compliance with this regulation). The Commission did not require submittal of plans demonstrating how operators will meet all applicable targets in Section IV.B. Instead, the Commission expects the Division to review the 2023 submittals and propose requirements for plan submittals for future targets as part of the 2023 verification rule.

In Section IV.F, the Commission directs the Division to develop a mechanism to track progress towards meeting the state's GHG reduction goals and to evaluate compliance with the greenhouse gas intensity targets in Sections IV.B and IV.C. The Commission determined that it was advisable to give the Division time in 2021 and 2022 to evaluate the annual emission reports submitted in 2021 and 2022, to evaluate different calculation methodologies for different emitting activities and equipment, and to consider the impact and results of the aerial and grounds-based survey work being conducted by the Division (and contractors) in 2021 (because this data will not be fully available until the spring of 2022). In 2023, the Commission expects that the Division will propose verification requirements after considering the current status of oil and gas GHG emissions, based primarily on Regulation Number 7 reporting and recognizing top-down monitoring results, production increases or decreases based on data reported to the OGCC, the aerial and ground-based survey work, and other important considerations.

Miscellaneous

The revisions made to Regulation Number 22 also correct typographical, grammatical, and formatting errors.

Incorporation by Reference

The Commission will update regulatory references as needed as opportunities arrive.

Additional Considerations

The following are additional findings of the Commission made in accordance with the Act:

Section 25-7-110.5(5)(b), C.R.S.

As these revisions exceed and may differ from the federal rules under the federal act, in accordance with Section 25-7-110.5(5)(b), C.R.S., the Commission determines:

(I) Any federal requirements that are applicable to this situation with a commentary on those requirements;

There are no federal regulations applicable to the situations covered by the provisions of Part B, Sections III and IV. However, there are existing federal regulations that seek to identify and reduce methane emissions from the oil and gas industry, such as the Greenhouse Gas Reporting Program (Part 98) and NSPS KKK, OOOO, and OOOOa. Part B, Sections III and IV do not conflict with any applicable current federal regulations. The EPA will soon release proposals to address greenhouse gas emissions from oil and gas equipment, but EPA's proposal does not address the particular situations addressed by the Commission's revisions here.

EPA also asks states to consider environmental justice as part of their actions, though there are no specific regulatory requirements at this time. In this revision, Part B, Sections III and IV expand on environmental justice considerations by incorporating the definition of "disproportionately impacted communities" (DI Community), and seeking to prioritize reductions in DI communities.

(II) Whether the applicable federal requirements are performance-based or technology-based and whether there is any flexibility in those requirements, and if not, why not;

The federal requirements addressing methane reductions from the oil and gas sector (though not applicable in this situation) as described above are both performance-based and technology-based. Current federal requirements for methane reductions speak to achieving a control efficiency, with minimal flexibility. Some requirements also mandate the use of technology to detect methane emissions; however, EPA does provide some flexibility in the technology that can be used.

(III) Whether the applicable federal requirements specifically address the issues that are of concern to Colorado and whether data or information that would reasonably reflect Colorado's concern and situation was considered in the federal process that established the federal requirements;

There are federal requirements that seek to reduce greenhouse gas from oil and gas operations, though none that are addressed to the specific goals of Part B, Sections III and IV. The Commission's revisions address Colorado-specific requirements and needs, like those of HB 19-1261 and HB 21-1266, which were not considered in any federal process.

(IV) Whether the proposed requirement will improve the ability of the regulated community to comply in a more cost-effective way by clarifying confusing or potentially conflicting requirements (within or cross-media), increasing certainty, or preventing or reducing the need for costly retrofit to meet more stringent requirements later;

The proposed midstream and upstream programs will ensure that the regulated community can achieve required GHG emissions reductions in cost-effective ways by giving covered entities options to reduce emissions through direct regulation and development of company-specific plans to ensure compliance with state targets.

(V) Whether there is a timing issue which might justify changing the time frame for implementation of federal requirements;

This is a state-specific rule that is not implementing federal requirements. Thus, no timing issue exists.

(VI) Whether the proposed requirement will assist in establishing and maintaining a reasonable margin for accommodation of uncertainty and future growth;

The regulatory provisions allow a reasonable amount of time for affected entities to comply with the new revisions. As such, affected businesses or industrial sectors are afforded a reasonable margin for accommodation of uncertainty and future growth.

The rules adopted by the Commission establish a new midstream steering committee to assist in analyzing the technical feasibility and economic reasonability of future means of reducing emissions in this segment. The midstream steering committee will prepare a guidance document (or series of documents) to help midstream segment owners and operators in preparing their own company-specific emission reduction plans, thus allowing for additional time to achieve compliance. The upstream intensity program also accommodates uncertainty, by allowing for an additional year (at least) to consider and develop a verification program.

(VII) Whether the proposed requirement establishes or maintains reasonable equity in the requirements for various sources;

With respect to any sources already operating within the upstream segment, the rule establishes reasonable equity because it takes into account the size of the operator, the percentage of ownership each operator claims, and the location of the facility. With respect to any new well production facilities subject to the upstream statewide intensity program requirements, the rule establishes reasonable equity as requirements are the same for each source type based on age of the production well. This is also demonstrated for the midstream segment with the establishment of the midstream steering committee to ensure equity across operators based on location and utility provider.

(VIII) Whether others would face increased costs if a more stringent rule is not enacted;

The Commission believes that the cost of inaction would be greater to industry and the public than the costs associated with the revisions to Part B, Sections III and IV. Not only with respect to the social cost of climate change, but also more direct costs. These revisions are designed with the maximum flexibility for the regulated community. Under HB 21-1266, if the state is not on track to achieve the emission reduction goals, the Commission must adopt further regulations to achieve those goals. Future efforts are likely to be not as cost-effective as the flexible programs in these revisions.

(IX) Whether the proposed requirement includes procedural, reporting, or monitoring requirements that are different from applicable federal requirements and, if so, why and what the “compelling reason” is for different procedural, reporting, or monitoring requirements;

Reporting requirements beyond those required under federal Part 98 are necessary to effectively quantify and measure Colorado’s progress toward statewide GHG reductions and to achieve the public health, safety, and welfare goals set forth in Section 25-7-102, C.R.S. Many of the reporting requirements associated with these programs are in existing Commission regulations, in Regulation Number 7, Part D. However, these revisions do require some additional reporting. Under these requirements, owners and operators of these sources will be required to compile and report directly to the Division information collected by or available to them for business or other regulatory purposes. While this may overlap with some other federal reporting requirements, it is expected there will be reporting beyond what is required federally.

(X) Whether demonstrated technology is available to comply with the proposed requirement;

Demonstrated technology exists to enable compliance with the requirements of these revisions.

(XI) Whether the proposed requirement will contribute to the prevention of pollution or address a potential problem and represent a more cost-effective environmental gain;

These revisions will cost-effectively reduce statewide GHG emissions to meet the legislative directive of the State Air Act, as revised by SB 19-181, HB 19-1261, and HB 21-1266. As noted above, the General Assembly has acknowledged that climate change impacts Colorado's economy and directed that GHG emissions should be reduced across the many sectors of our economy. Colorado has established specific GHG reduction goals within its statutes. Programs established in this rulemaking action - in both Regulation Numbers 7 and 22 - provide mechanisms for GHG reductions to occur cost-effectively across a specific, high-emitting sector of the state's economy.

(XII) Whether an alternative rule, including a no-action alternative, would address the required standard.

The new regulatory requirements and amendments are needed to achieve the statutorily mandated emission reductions. As noted above, the State Air Act requires the Commission to implement GHG emission reduction strategies in order to secure reductions of pollution consistent with the statewide GHG emission reduction goals. Currently emissions projections over the next decade demonstrate that a no-action alternative would fall short of achieving Colorado's reduction goals. Additionally, no alternative combination of sector-specific regulations has been identified that is sufficient to meet the state's GHG emissions reductions goals.

Findings of Fact

To the extent that § 25-7-110.8, C.R.S., requirements apply to this rulemaking, and after considering all the information in the record, the Commission hereby makes the determination that:

(I) These rules are based upon reasonably available, validated, reviewed, and sound scientific methodologies, and the Commission has considered all information submitted by interested parties.

(II) Evidence in the record supports the finding that the rules shall result in a demonstrable reduction of greenhouse gas and VOC emissions.

(III) Evidence in the record supports the finding that the rules shall bring about reductions in risks to human health and the environment that justify the costs to implement and comply with the rules.

(IV) The rules are the most cost-effective to achieve the necessary reduction in air pollution and provide the regulated entity flexibility.

(V) The selected regulatory alternative will maximize the air quality benefits of regulation in the most cost-effective manner.

SUBJECT:
The Air Quality Control Commission will hold a rulemaking hearing to consider revisions to Regulation Number 7 and Regulation Number 22 to address legislative and policy directives, that: reduce emissions from the upstream and midstream segments of the oil and gas industry as identified in the oil and gas sector and industrial sector of the Greenhouse Gas (GHG) Roadmap, including potential requirements for Leak Detection and Repair, natural gas processing plants, pigging and blowdown system maintenance operations, midstream fuel combustion equipment, well maintenance operations, and upstream GHG intensity; impose additional practices to ensure the efficacy of air pollution control equipment; impose additional reporting requirements to ensure the verifiability and enforceability of the regulatory requirements; and achieve reductions of GHG and co-pollutants in disproportionately impacted communities.

These revisions to Regulation Numbers 7 and 22 are currently proposed on a state-wide and state-only basis, but the Commission may consider State Implementation Plan (SIP) revisions to Regulation Number 7, specific to flare performance, as necessary to address Ozone Nonattainment Area requirements related to previously submitted SIP revisions. Further, these revisions will include any typographical, grammatical and formatting errors throughout each of the regulations. Alternative proposals to achieve additional GHG reductions or compliance verification from sources and source categories affected by the Division's proposal may also be considered.

STATUTORY AUTHORITY FOR THE COMMISSION'S ACTIONS:
The Colorado Air Pollution Prevention and Control Act, § 25-7-101, C.R.S., et seq. (the State Air Act or the Act), specifically § 25-7-105(1), directs the Commission to promulgate such rules and regulations as are consistent with the legislative declaration set forth in § 25-7-102 and that are necessary for the proper implementation and administration of Article 7. The Act broadly defines air pollutant to include essentially any gas emitted into the atmosphere and provides the Commission broad authority to regulate air pollutants.

Section 25-7-106 provides the Commission maximum flexibility in developing an effective air quality program and promulgating such combination of regulations as may be necessary or desirable to carry out that program. Section 25-7-106 also authorizes the Commission to promulgate emission control regulations applicable to the entire state, specified areas or zones, or a specified class of pollution. Section 25-7-106(6) further authorizes the Commission to require owners and operators of any air pollution source to monitor, record, and report information. Section 25-7-109(10) directs the Commission to adopt emission control regulations to minimize emissions of methane, other hydrocarbons, VOC, and NOx from oil and gas operations.

Pursuant to HB 21-1266, the Commission must, by January 1, 2022, adopt regulations to ensure that the state meets its greenhouse gas reduction targets for the oil and gas sector (36% by 2025 and 60% by 2030). The Commission must also ensure that industrial sector emissions (including those from oil and gas fuel combustion equipment) are reduced by 20% from the 2015 baseline by 2030. These revisions will, taking into account other relevant laws and rules (including the revisions to Regulation Numbers 7 and 22 adopted as part of this rulemaking action), as well as voluntary actions taken by local communities and the private sector, achieve the state's GHG reduction goals through 2030 for the oil and gas industry.

The rulemaking hearing will be conducted in accordance with Sections 24-4-103 and 25-7-110, 25-7-110.5 and 25-7-110.8 C.R.S., as applicable and amended, the Commission's Procedural Rules, all other applicable rules and regulations, and as otherwise stated in this notice. This list of statutory authority is not intended as an exhaustive list of the Commission's statutory authority to act in this matter.

Subject: Request for a Rulemaking Hearing concerning 5 CCR 1006-1

The department is implementing SENATE BILL 20-166 (Short Title "Simplifying Requirements for New Birth Certificate") which updates the requirements for minors when submitting a request to change their sex as presented on their birth certificates. The new requirements supersede those which previously required minors to provide a statement from a professional medical or health care provider stating that the minor had undergone treatment for gender transition. The new requirements only state that the minor must present a statement from a healthcare provider attesting that the "sex designation on the birth certificate does not align with the minor's gender identity."

STATEMENT OF BASIS AND PURPOSE AND SPECIFIC STATUTORY AUTHORITY for New Rule
Senate Bill 20-166
CRS 25-2-113.8

Basis and Purpose.
The Vital Statistics Act of 1984 (Title 25, Article 2), hereinafter "Act," governs the administration of vital event registration and vital statistics reporting. The Act contains specific requirements for the department and its designees. The Act also authorizes the Board of Health to promulgate any rules needed to implement the statute. Overall, the rule does not repeat the statutory requirements; rather, the rule elaborates upon the statute to provide direction and clarity for those performing these public health services. To the extent the statute is repeated, this occurs to ensure the program maintains alignment between current and best practices, and the statutory directive.

The department reviewed the rule pursuant to Section 24-4-103.3, C.R.S. Several technical edits to improve readability and update the rule to align with current practice are proposed. These changes:

- Remove language that contradicts the revised statute: 25-2-113.8

The proposed rule also includes substantive changes. These include:

- The current rule concerning birth certificate sex change for minors is being updated. Under the rule, minors needed to obtain a statement from licensed healthcare provider which stated that the minor had undergone "surgical, hormonal, or other treatment in order to obtain the birth certificate sex change." Under the changes brought about by SB 20-166, minors only need a statement signed by a healthcare provider in good standing stating that the sex designation on their birth certificate does not align with the minor's gender identity. This will be a change to Section 5.5 C. 2. c. I. of 5 CCR 1006-1.

The proposed rule updates the language to ensure that it reflects the updated requirements in C.R.S. 25-2-113.8.

Specific Statutory Authority.
Statutes that require or authorize rulemaking: C.R.S. 25-2-103

Is this rulemaking due to a change in state statute?
____X__ Yes, the bill number is ___ SB20-166___. Rules are ___ authorized __X_ required.
_____ No

Does this rulemaking include proposed rule language that incorporate materials by reference?
_____ Yes ___ URL
___X___ No

Does this rulemaking include proposed rule language to create or modify fines or fees?
_____ Yes

___X___ No

Does the proposed rule language create (or increase) a state mandate on local government?

_X__ No.

- The proposed rule does not require a local government to perform or increase a specific activity for which the local government will not be reimbursed;
- The proposed rule requires a local government to perform or increase a specific activity because the local government has opted to perform an activity, or;
- The proposed rule reduces or eliminates a state mandate on local government.

___ Yes.

This rule includes a new state mandate or increases the level of service required to comply with an existing state mandate, and local government will not be reimbursed for the costs associated with the new mandate or increase in service. The state mandate is categorized as:

___ Necessitated by federal law, state law, or a court order

Has an elected official or other representatives of local governments disagreed with this categorization of the mandate? ___Yes ___No. If "yes," please explain why there is disagreement in the categorization.

REGULATORY ANALYSIS

1. A description of the classes of persons affected by the proposed rule, including the classes that will bear the costs and the classes that will benefit from the proposed rule.

Group of persons/entities Affected by the Proposed Rule	Size of the Group	Relationship to the Proposed Rule Select category: C/CLG/S/B
• Clerk and Recorder Offices • U.S. Department of State • Colorado Department of Motor Vehicles • LGBTQ individuals and advocacy organizations	64	S S S B

While all are stakeholders, groups of persons/entities connect to the rule and the problem being solved by the rule in different ways. To better understand those different relationships, please use this relationship categorization key:

C = individuals/entities that implement or apply the rule.
S = individuals/entities that do not implement or apply the rule but are interested in others applying the rule.
B = the individuals that are ultimately served, including the customers of our customers. These individuals may benefit, be harmed by or be at-risk because of the standard communicated in the rule or the manner in which the rule is implemented.

More than one category may be appropriate for some stakeholders.

2. To the extent practicable, a description of the probable quantitative and qualitative impact of the proposed rule, economic or otherwise, upon affected classes of persons.

The only economic impact anticipated is reduced costs upon the families of minors seeking to change sex designation on birth certificates due to no longer requiring surgical, hormonal or other treatments.

Economic outcomes
Summarize the financial costs and benefits, include a description of costs that must be incurred, costs that may be incurred, any Department measures taken to reduce or eliminate these costs, any financial benefits.

C and CLG: Clarifies by legislation how Vital Records should process change of sex birth certificate change requests. As Vital Records was already processing change requests in a similar fashion, this should have minimal economic impact on the department.

Please describe any anticipated financial costs or benefits to these individuals/entities.

S: NA

B: NA

Non-economic outcomes
Summarize the anticipated favorable and non-favorable non-economic outcomes (short-term and long-term), and, if known, the likelihood of the outcomes for each affected class of persons by the relationship category.

C: Slight increase in Vital Records workload due to easing the ability to change minor birth certificates

S: DMV and Department of State are interested in the change in fraud potential for changing sex on birth certificates. While any additional ability to change a portion of a birth certificate opens up additional danger for fraud, there is no evidence to show that allowing transgender individuals to change sex on a birth certificate places any greater danger for fraud than any other ability to change any other portion that has been made in the past.

B: The new rule eases the process for minors to change their sex designation on their birth certificate. The only concern that remains even with the updated requirements is that this change can only be made once without a court order, and so minors need to understand this is the case before making this decision.

3. The probable costs to the agency and to any other agency of the implementation and enforcement of the proposed rule and any anticipated effect on state revenues.

A. Anticipated CDPHE personal services, operating costs or other expenditures:

Anticipated increases in operating costs are negligible, and are covered by standard Birth Modification fees

N/A

B. Anticipated personal services, operating costs or other expenditures by another state agency:

Anticipated Revenues for another state agency:
N/A

4. A comparison of the probable costs and benefits of the proposed rule to the probable costs and benefits of inaction.

Along with the costs and benefits discussed above, the proposed revisions:

___ Comply with a statutory mandate to promulgate rules.
_X_ Comply with federal or state statutory mandates, federal or state regulations, and department funding obligations.
___ Maintain alignment with other states or national standards.

___ Implement a Regulatory Efficiency Review (rule review) result ___ Improve public and environmental health practice.
_X_ Implement stakeholder feedback.

Subjects and issues involved

In 2019, the Department reviewed the existing rule and identified a number of substantial changes that occurred related to the provision of services in these facilities since the last comprehensive update, in addition to changes in statutory definitions and the related federal Conditions of Participation. These proposed changes will update the wording, organization, and readability of the rules, as well as adding needed definitions and ensuring standards exist should a private-pay group home ever submit an application for licensure.

Department of Public Health & Environment

To: Members of the State Board of Health

Subject: Request for a Rulemaking Hearing concerning 6 CCR 1011-1, Chapter 8 – Facilities for Persons with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities

The Department licenses a wide range of facilities pursuant to Section 25-3-101, C.R.S. Chapter 8 of 6 CCR 1011-1 houses the requirements for two different facility types for persons with intellectual and developmental disabilities—Intermediate Care Facilities for Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities and Group Homes.

Pursuant to Section 24-4-103.3, C.R.S., and Department policy, the Department must review its rules every five to seven years to ensure the rules continue to be efficient, effective, and essential. Accordingly, in 2019 the Department reviewed the existing 6 CCR 1011-1, Standards for Hospitals and Health Facilities, Chapter 8 – Facilities for Persons with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities. During this review, the Department identified a number of substantial changes that occurred related to the provision of services in these facilities since the last comprehensive update, in addition to changes in statutory definitions and the related federal Conditions of Participation. This rulemaking is needed to update and clarify the rules in response issues identified during the regulatory review and feedback solicited during a subsequent stakeholder process. This rule update modifies Chapter 8 to update the wording, organization, and readability of the rules, as well as adding needed definitions and ensuring standards exist should a private-pay group home ever submit an application for licensure.

The Department respectfully requests the Board of Health set a rulemaking hearing for updates to 6 CCR 1011-1, Chapter 8 – Facilities for Persons with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities.

STATEMENT OF BASIS AND PURPOSE
AND SPECIFIC STATUTORY AUTHORITY
for Amendments to 6 CCR 1011-1, Chapter 8 –
Facilities for Persons with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities

Basis and Purpose.

Chapter 8 of 6 CCR 1011-1 contains the licensing requirements for two distinct types of facilities for persons with intellectual and developmental disabilities:

- Intermediate Care Facilities for Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities (ICF-IID), which are residential facilities certified by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid (CMS) to provide active treatment, and habilitative, therapeutic, and specialized support services to adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities.
- Group Homes, which are licensed group living situations accommodating between four and eight people in which services and supports are provided to persons with intellectual and developmental disabilities.

The majority of the rules in Chapter 8 apply to both types of facilities. However, there are certain requirements where the standards differ (e.g., administrator qualifications).

The proposed changes to Chapter 8 resulted from a regulatory review and the subsequent stakeholder process undertaken to identify needed changes. Throughout the chapter, language changes were made for consistency, accuracy, and to have rules reflect the requirements of the CMS Home and Community Based Services (HCBS) Settings Final Rule. The CMS rule, released in 2014 and still in its implementation period, codifies a shift toward person-centered care (e.g., emphasizing the person's perspective and preferences in the service planning and provision process). It also requires providers to ensure individuals receiving services have opportunities to be fully integrated into their communities, control their personal resources, and exercise personal choice regarding services and supports.

Definitions were added to ensure an understanding of terms used in the rules, and existing definitions were updated for consistency with statutory changes. The proposed changes also include reorganizations, both within parts and across parts, to improve readability and flow. Requirements related to group home administrator qualifications, criminal history record checks, and specialized care were added to ensure the health, safety, and welfare of the residents in these facilities. The proposed changes also include the elimination of rules that are no longer necessary regarding incorporation by reference and licensing requirements that are duplicative of 6 CCR 1011-1, Chapter 2 – General Licensure Standards, which applies to all licensed facilities.

While the Department is proposing several changes to Chapter 8, it is important to note that, substantively, much remains the same. The following section highlights the substantive changes and the notable word change/organization changes.

Wording changes:
"Practitioner" replaces provider and physician, as appropriate.
"Group Home" replaces community residential home.
"Resident" replaces patient and individual.

Additions and substantive changes:

Part 1-Statutory Authority and Applicability. Rule chapters related to medication administration, medical waste, and hazardous waste were added to the list of regulations specifically called out for providers to follow. While these are not new requirements for providers, the stakeholder group and Department felt there was value in adding them into Chapter 8 to serve as a reminder. Language related to incorporation by reference at Part 1.3 is being struck, as it is no longer needed.

Part 2-Definitions. Modified the definition of community residential home to reflect the common vernacular of group home and updated the definition of intellectual and developmental disability to reflect changes in the statutory definition. Added definitions for practitioner, self-administration (of medication), service plan, special diet, staff, and volunteer, to reflect the need for a clear understanding of those terms as they are used throughout the chapter.

Part 3-Licensing Requirements. The previous Part 3.3, regarding the license term (length), is being struck. When the oversight functions for group homes were transferred to the Department under House Bill 13-1314, the Department kept the license term of two years for those facilities, to hold them harmless in the move from the Department of Human Services. However, at present, group homes are the only health facilities not renewing their licenses annually. Continuing to allow such two-year license terms conflicts with the statutory provision in Section 25-3-102(1)(d), C.R.S., which specifies that "[t]he license expires one year from the date of issuance." Stakeholders agreed that changing the group home licensing term to annually was appropriate, as long as the fee could be adjusted appropriately. Therefore, the proposed change at Part 3.3 sets the annual license fee for group homes at half the fee of the two-year license. With the proposed changes to the group home license term, there is no longer a need for the rule related to license term, as 6 CCR 1011-1, Chapter 2-General Licensure includes rules on the license term that apply to all facilities.

Part 4-Governing Body. While there are not new substantive responsibilities for the governing board, this part has been reorganized, and a rule has been added at Part 4.2, which consolidates governing body responsibilities previously scattered throughout Chapter 8 into one part. A new rule was added at Part 4.5 to clarify that the governing board is responsible for ensuring that a criminal history record check is performed on the administrator.

Part 5-Administrator. Similar to Part 4, while there are few changes to the administrator's responsibilities, the part is reorganized for ease of understanding, and a new rule was added at Part 5.3 to outline the administrator responsibilities that were previously scattered through the remaining parts of the rule. Part 5.2 expands options for administrator qualifications for an ICF-IID and adds administrator qualifications for group homes.

Part 6-Personnel and Staffing. Language regarding criminal history record check requirements was updated at Part 6.2. There are also additions to clarify the following: the content required for personnel records (Part 6.4) and personnel policies (Part 6.6); restrictions on staff working while sick (Part 6.3); and requirements for ensuring sufficient trained staff is on duty (Part 6.8).

Part 7-Training. Part 7.1 was updated to add specific minimum training topics and it clarifies which training/topics are necessary as part of an initial orientation and which training can be given prior to unsupervised contact with residents. Required orientation topics added include the care and services provided by the facility, assignment of duties, infection prevention and control, emergency response policies, reporting requirements, resident rights, prevention of abuse and neglect, and an overview of the facility's policies. Training prior to having unsupervised contact includes training on each specific resident, person-centered care concepts, food safety, and medication administration policies, procedures, and responsibilities.

Part 8-Admissions. No substantive changes were made in this part. Rule language was updated for ease of understanding without altering the meaning of the rules.

Part 9-Resident Rights. Considerable discussion with stakeholders took place regarding the requirements at Part 9.2(F) regarding facility investigations of alleged incidents of abuse, mistreatment, neglect, exploitation, or injuries of unknown origin. Some stakeholders requested that the Department lengthen the time allowed for a facility to complete its investigation, in part due to the length of time it takes outside agencies (e.g. law enforcement, adult protective services) to complete investigations. In reviewing the request, the Department determined failing to complete the investigation report was cited as a deficiency only three times in the past ten years. As such, the Department is proposing the addition of a rule requiring an addendum to the facility's report after the completion of an investigation by an appropriate oversight authority. Additionally, language was updated throughout Part 9 and minor clarifying changes were made.

Part 10-Resident Funds. Language was updated to clarify that facility policies regarding resident funds shall be consistent with legal and regulatory requirements (Part 10.1) and to reflect changes in who can access information regarding resident funds (Part 10.3), which has changed due to the HCBS Settings Final Rule.

Part 11-Resident Records. Additions were made to require documentation of resident's interaction in the community, individual preferences, and any special diet requirements as part of the resident record. Minor wording changes were made for accuracy and clarity.

Part 12-Infectious Disease Prevention and Control. Proposed changes include updating Part 12.1 to require a facility's infectious disease control program be based on nationally recognized standards for infection control and adding requirements commonly found in other facility licensure chapters, such as requiring a facility to have access to an individual trained in infection control. Part 12 was also reorganized for ease of use.

Part 13-Dietary Services. Proposed changes include the addition of Part 13.3, requiring food safety training for staff that handle, prepare, or serve food. Part 13 also includes updates to wording to reflect requirements for resident choice in meals and snacks, as well as residents being allowed to cook unless determined to be incapable of cooking in a safe manner. The wording related to special diet requirements at Part 13.14 was also updated.

Part 14-Medications. The previous Part 14.1 definition of medication is being struck, as the statutory definition referenced in the rules was repealed in 2012. Language was modified at the new Part 14.1 (previously 14.2) to require the monitoring of residents who are self-administering medications be done by a licensed provider who is legally authorized to monitor medications within their own scope of practice. Part 14.5 includes the addition of requirements to be included in facility policies regarding medication administration, including:

- All medications, including medications administered on an "as needed" basis, shall be administered only by persons as authorized by law.
- Residents may self-administer medications unless they are determined to be incapable of safe self-administration. Additional requirements related to reporting non-compliance or other self-administration problems have also been added.
- Facilities may use qualified medication administration persons (QMAPs) to administer medications provided the facility complies with Sections 25-1.5-301 through 303, C.R.S. and 6 CCR 1011-1 Chapter 24-Medication Administration.

Part 15-Medical Services, Therapeutic Services, and Equipment, Supplies, and Assistive Technology. Part 15 has been reorganized for ease of use, grouping rules pertaining to similar requirements together. Definitions for therapeutic services (Part 15.8) and serious and significant changes in weight (Part 15.6) were added for clarity. Other proposed changes include additions to the requirements related to the use of unlicensed staff in providing therapeutic services, including training, monitoring, and documentation requirements. Also included is a new requirement for the facility to document if a resident refuses to use aids such as dentures or eyeglasses.

Part 16-Nursing Services, Specialized Care, and Social Services. In reviewing this part, the Department discovered that rules related to specialized care were inadvertently removed from Chapter 8 when it was modified during the implementation of House Bill13-1314. After consulting the stakeholders, these regulations were added back into the chapter at Part 16.2. This addition includes a list of services that are considered specialized care (e.g., catheter care, tracheostomy care, oxygen saturation monitoring), and the use, training, and monitoring of unlicensed staff in providing specialized care services.

Part 17-Gastrostomy Services. Specific requirements were added in Part 17.2 to clarify the components that are expected to be included in a resident's written, individualized gastrostomy service protocol. Language in the remainder of Part 17 was updated for clarity.

Part 18-Facility Reporting Requirements. No changes were made.

Part 19-Emergency Management Plan and Procedures. Language was updated to add specificity when evaluating the risks to the facility that must be addressed by the emergency management plan (Part 19.1) and also to add specific requirements to the emergency plan itself (Part 19.2).

Part 20-Compliance with FGI Guidelines. The only update to Part 20 was striking an effective date that has passed and thus is no longer needed.

Part 21-Physical Environment. Proposed changes in Part 21 include an updated regulatory citation at Part 21.4, striking Part 21.5(C), which is now in conflict with the Final Settings rule and person-centered care, and minor language updates that improve readability without altering the meaning of the existing rules.

REGULATORY ANALYSIS
for Amendments to 6 CCR 1011-1, Chapter 8 –
Facilities for Persons with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities

1. A description of the classes of persons affected by the proposed rule, including the classes that will bear the costs and the classes that will benefit from the proposed rule.

Group of persons/entities Affected by the Proposed Rule	Size of the Group	Relationship to the Proposed Rule Select category: C/S/B
Licensed Group Homes	107	C
Licensed Intermediate Care Facilities for Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities (ICF-IIDs)	23	C
Residents of Group Homes and ICF-IIDs	955*	B
Advocacy organizations, parents/guardians of residents, and groups of similar nature	unknown	S
* There are 221 licensed ICF-IID beds and 734 Group Home beds

While all are stakeholders, groups of persons/entities connect to the rule and the problem being solved by the rule in different ways. To better understand those different relationships, please use this relationship categorization key:

C = individuals/entities that implement or apply the rule.
S = individuals/entities that do not implement or apply the rule but are interested in others applying the rule.
B = the individuals that are ultimately served, including the customers of our customers. These individuals may benefit, be harmed by or be at-risk because of the standard communicated in the rule or the manner in which the rule is implemented.

More than one category may be appropriate for some stakeholders.

2. To the extent practicable, a description of the probable quantitative and qualitative impact of the proposed rule, economic or otherwise, upon affected classes of persons.

Economic outcomes
Summarize the financial costs and benefits, include a description of costs that must be incurred, costs that may be incurred, any Department measures taken to reduce or eliminate these costs, any financial benefits.

C: Chapter 8 licensees may incur costs of compliance with the proposed rules, but such costs are generally not expected to be substantial, as new standards represent practices that are already being carried out in the facilities. Increased costs were generally not a concern raised during the stakeholder process. However, there is expected to be additional administrative burden on group homes, as they will now need to complete the license renewal application annually instead of every two years.

Please describe any anticipated financial costs or benefits to these individuals/entities.

S: N/A

B: N/A

C: The proposed rule changes increase the readability and clarity of the rules, helping providers have a clear understanding of the standards related to the two distinct types of facilities governed under the chapter. The expansion of administrator qualifications for the ICF-IID facilities should benefit those facilities in improving the pool of qualified candidates for those difficult-to-fill positions, and the addition of qualifications for group home administrators will provide clear expectations on who is considered qualified for those positions.

B: A number of changes will have a non-economic benefit to the residents of the facilities, generally resulting in improved quality of life, but also providing additional safeguards around the care received. The changes to align the rules with a person-centered care approach ensuring the residents have the opportunity for maximum independence and personal choice, including food choices and preparation, activities and community engagement, and self-administration of medication. Including the person-centered language in rules ensures that individuals with developmental disabilities have their preferences respected in their daily lives. The addition of administrator qualifications for group homes has the potential to improve the overall management and environment in those facilities, and the addition of criminal history record check requirements and staff requirements related to first aid and CPR abilities increase the safety of the group home environment.

While this effort to update rules was not specifically targeted toward improving outcomes for previously disenfranchised, un-served or underserved, or marginalized populations, the residents of facilities governed by Chapter 8 receive services funded through Medicaid, as well as have intellectual or developmental disabilities. Historically this population could be considered underserved or marginalized.

No non-favorable non-economic outcomes were identified.

3. The probable costs to the agency and to any other agency of the implementation and enforcement of the proposed rule and any anticipated effect on state revenues.

A. Anticipated CDPHE personal services, operating costs or other expenditures:

The proposed changes are not expected to increase personnel services, operating costs, or other expenditures, since the licensing, survey, and oversight functions driving those costs remain the same. The move from a 2-year license to an annual license for group homes will result in an additional 50 license renewal applications annually. However, the additional work is expected to be absorbed within existing resources.

Anticipated CDPHE Revenues:

The Department does not expect any additional revenues as a result of the rulemaking. While Group Home license renewal is moving from every 2 years to an annual renewal, the fee associated with the renewal is being halved, resulting in the same amount of revenue.

B. Anticipated personal services, operating costs or other expenditures by another state agency:

Anticipated Revenues for another state agency:

None

4. A comparison of the probable costs and benefits of the proposed rule to the probable costs and benefits of inaction.

Along with the costs and benefits discussed above, the proposed revisions:

___ Comply with a statutory mandate to promulgate rules.
_x__ Comply with federal or state statutory mandates, federal or state regulations, and department funding obligations.
___ Maintain alignment with other states or national standards.
_x_ Implement a Regulatory Efficiency Review (rule review) result _x__ Improve public and environmental health practice.

_x__ Advance CDPHE Division-level strategic priorities.

- Regulatory review

The costs and benefits of the proposed rule will not be incurred if inaction was chosen. Costs and benefits of inaction not previously discussed include:

There are multiple non-economic costs of inaction:

- For the Department, inaction would prolong a lack of compliance with statutory requirements for an annual license renewal and limit the ability to cite deficiencies around gastrostomy services, specialized care, and infection control.
- For licensed facilities, inaction increases the potential for misunderstanding and misapplication of outdated and unclear rules and a continued difficulty in finding administrators for the ICF-IIDs.
- For facility residents, inaction prevents regulatory alignment with current practices and philosophies, thus reducing the ability for the Department to hold providers accountable for providing services commensurate with the current standard of care.

5. A determination of whether there are less costly methods or less intrusive methods for achieving the purpose of the proposed rule.

Rulemaking is proposed when it is the least costly method or the only statutorily allowable method for achieving the purpose of the statute. The specific revisions proposed in this rulemaking were developed in conjunction with stakeholders. The benefits, risks, and costs of these proposed revisions were compared to the costs and benefits of other options. The proposed revisions provide the most benefit for the least amount of cost, are the minimum necessary, or are the most feasible manner to achieve compliance with statute.

6. Alternative Rules or Alternatives to Rulemaking Considered and Why Rejected.

Stakeholders advocated for qualified medication administration persons (QMAPs) to be allowed to administer medications on a pro re nata (PRN), or "as needed," basis. In reviewing Section 25-1.5-301(1), C.R.S., the Department determined that to allow such administrations would be noncompliant with the definition of medication administration for a QMAP, which specifies, "'administration' does not include judgement, evaluation, or assessments…" Therefore, the rules specify that medication administration should be compliant with the statute.

7. To the extent practicable, a quantification of the data used in the analysis; the analysis must take into account both short-term and long-term consequences.

Information sources include: the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services Conditions of Participation for Intermediate Care Facilities for Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities, Department of Health Care Policy and Financing rules at 10 CCR 2505-10 8.500 and 8.600, deficiency information from past state licensure surveys, and information regarding person-centered care concepts. These sources informed the Department's determination of best practices to incorporate into the proposed revisions.

STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENT
for Amendments to 6 CCR 1011-1, Chapter 8 –
Facilities for Persons with Intellectual and Development Disabilities

State law requires agencies to establish a representative group of participants when considering to adopt or modify new and existing rules. This is commonly referred to as a stakeholder group.

The Department convened a public stakeholder process including 11 public meetings held remotely via Zoom between September 2, 2020, and August 4, 2021. The meetings took place on the first Wednesday of each month from 1:30-4:30 p.m., except for January when the meeting was canceled. The Department ensured that information was available to stakeholders via the following methods:

- Official public notice to all regulated facilities.
- Public notice posted on the Department's blog.
- Official public notice to all individuals who signed up for an email list for Chapter 8.
- A page on CDPHE's website: https://cdphe.colorado.gov/chapter-8-idd-rewrite-workgroup
- A google drive for working documents where all interested parties could access them: https://drive.google.com/drive/folders/1hehmcHWVwnL5n2FblvaJUtOrvZDgfRTv?usp=sharing

The Department reached out to individual stakeholders, stakeholder associations, or interested parties as certain topics were discussed. For example, subject matter experts in building standards were specifically encouraged to attend during the discussion of physical plant standards.

Prior to each meeting, Department staff reviewed the relevant sections of the rules and compare those rules to: the comments gathered during the regulatory review, current practice, other similar health-care facility rules, federal requirements (where applicable), regulations at other departments, and statutes, then used that information to draft new language where necessary. During the meetings, staff presented draft language for stakeholder discussion. Alternatively, on issues where there was a lack of clarity, the issue was presented, and the changes were guided by the stakeholder group. Staff facilitated discussion on any points that required modification, elimination, or addition. Staff and stakeholder meeting attendees provided input and worked toward consensus language. In most instances, the Department and stakeholders agreed on the negotiated language.

These proposed rules do not contain any local government mandates.

Staff provided information regarding the Board of Health process at the final meeting and will provide this information again via the listserv at an appropriate date.

Stakeholder Group Notification

The stakeholder group was provided notice of the rulemaking hearing and provided a copy of the proposed rules or the internet location where the rules may be viewed. Notice was provided prior to the date the notice of rulemaking was published in the Colorado Register (typically, the 10th of the month following the Request for Rulemaking).

_X_ Not applicable. This is a Request for Rulemaking Packet. Notification will occur if the Board of Health sets this matter for rulemaking.

____ Yes.

Summarize Major Factual and Policy Issues Encountered and the Stakeholder Feedback Received. If there is a lack of consensus regarding the proposed rule, please also identify the Department's efforts to address stakeholder feedback or why the Department was unable to accommodate the request.

The update to 6 CCR 1011-1, Chapter 8 – Facilities for Persons with Intellectual and Development Disabilities includes updates to language in each of the 21 parts of the rule. Since this is a comprehensive update, there were significant discussions throughout the stakeholder process. Issues or questions raised by stakeholders were discussed and resulted in either updated language, retention of existing language, or striking of unnecessary language, generally with consensus between the Department and stakeholders. However, there were two topics where consensus was not reached:

- Timeline for the investigation of alleged incidents of abuse, mistreatment, neglect, exploitation, or injuries of unknown origin. Standards, along with any proposed changes are found in section Chapter 8, Part 9.2.

  Current language requires that, "All alleged incidents of abuse, mistreatment, neglect, injuries of unknown origin or exploitation shall be thoroughly investigated within five (5) working days." The Department is not proposing a change to the 5-day timeline; however, some stakeholders suggested that this timeline was too aggressive and not realistic. Concerns were voiced that such a rapid timeline could lead to numerous citations if the investigation was not thorough enough, or was not completed in a timely manner. There were also concerns that this would be interpreted to mean that the investigation, a report, and all recommendations must be implemented within that timeframe. Staff and stakeholders suggested that the Department pull data from previous surveys to see how many citations had been issued on this topic for group homes or ICF-IDD facilities and that the data be the basis for additional discussion at the next month's meeting.

  The information obtained from Departmental records showed that CDPHE normally cites a deficiency in this area this based on a lack of evidence to show a thorough investigation was completed. Several other citations were for investigations related to injuries of unknown origin. The current regulation has been cited 42 times over the past 10 years, but only 3 of those were related to timeframe: first in 2013 because investigation wasn't completed after 30 days, second in 2016—related to repeated injuries resulting in a citation for immediate jeopardy, and third in 2018 because the investigation had not been started for 30 days. The remaining 38 citations were due to information missing from the report. Thus it appears that this regulation has not been cited extensively, indicating that compliance with this standard is not an issue for the majority of facilities. Additionally, this 5-day requirement mirrors federal requirements for the ICF-IIDs.

  The Department believes it to be in the best interest of public health and safety for the 5-day requirement to remain in place with a minor modification to indicate that a timeline for all actions to be taken must be established in this report, but that not all actions must be completed during this 5-day period. An additional rule was added to clarify that the internal investigation can be, and may need to be, updated if other investigations are ongoing that will inform additional facility actions (e.g. Adult Protective Services, law enforcement).

- Medication administration, particularly medication administration by Qualified Medication Administration Persons (QMAPs). Medications and medication administration are dealt with in Part 14 of proposed Chapter 8.

  The statutory authorization for QMAPs comes from Sections 25-1.5-301 through 25-1.5-303, C.R.S. and includes very prescriptive language regarding the role of QMAPs:

  > "(1) "Administration" means assisting a person in the ingestion, application, inhalation, or, using universal precautions, rectal or vaginal insertion of medication, including prescription drugs, according to the legibly written or printed directions of the attending physician or other authorized practitioner or as written on the prescription label and making a written record thereof with regard to each medication administered, including the time and the amount taken, but "administration" does not include judgment, evaluation, or assessments or the injections of medication, the monitoring of medication, or the self-administration of medication, including prescription drugs and including the self-injection of medication by the resident." 25-1.5-301, C.R.S. (emphasis added).

  Since the definition of administration in the QMAP statute specifically precludes the use of judgment, evaluation, or assessment, the Department has included several items within Chapter 8 regulation to clarify the limited role of QMAPs. This may not be how some facilities have traditionally viewed the role of QMAPs; and stakeholders wanted to allow QMAPs to administer medications on a pro re nata (PRN), or "as needed" basis. However, the Department determined it could not accommodate stakeholder preferences due to the statutory definition not allowing the use of judgement, evaluation, or assessments. The proposed language specifies who may administer medications at Part 14.5(A), and provides the standards for the use of QMAPs at Part 14.5(C).

Please identify the determinants of health or other health equity and environmental justice considerations, values or outcomes related to this rulemaking.

The remaining 38 citations were due to information missing from the report.

1.6 "Employer," as used in the COMPS Order and the PAY CALC Order, has the following definitions:

(A) under CWA, as defined by~~the definition in~~ C.R.S. § 8-4-101(6) ~~(~~"~~'~~Employer~~"~~ ~~'~~ has the same meaning as set forth in the federal "Fair Labor Standards Act", 29 U.S.C. sec 203 (d), and includes a foreign labor contractor and a migratory field labor contractor or crew leader; except that the provisions of the COMPS Order ~~this article 4~~ do not apply to the state or its agencies or entities, counties, cities and counties, municipal corporations, quasi-municipal corporations, school districts, and irrigation, reservoir, or drainage conservation companies or districts organized and existing under the laws of Colorado.~~")~~; ~~and~~

(C) under the Agricultural Labor Rights and Responsibilities Act, Colorado Senate Bill 21-87, as defined by C.R.S. § 8-2-206(1)(c): "agricultural employer" has the "same meaning provided in C.R.S. § 8-3-104(1)" ("a person that is engaged in any service or activity included in section 203(f) of the federal 'Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938', … as amended," or engaged in "agricultural labor, as defined in section 3121 of the federal 'Internal Revenue Code of 1986'," that either (1) contracts with any person who recruits, solicits, hires, employs, furnishes, or transports agricultural employees, or (2) regularly engages the services of one or more agricultural employees).

1.7 "Minor," for purposes of wage provisions specific to minors, means a person under 18 years of age, but not one who has received a high school diploma or a passing score on the general educational development examination. "Emancipated minor" means any individual less than eighteen years of age who meets the definition provided by C.R.S. § 8-6-108.5.

1.8 "Regular rate of pay" means the hourly rate actually paid to employees for a standard, non-overtime workweek. Employers need not pay employees on an hourly basis. If pay is on a piece-rate, salary, commission, or other non-hourly basis, any overtime compensation is based on an hourly regular rate calculated from the employee's pay.

1.8.1 Pay included in regular rate. The regular rate includes all compensation paid to an employee, including set hourly rates, shift differentials, minimum wage tip credits, non-discretionary bonuses, production bonuses, and commissions used for calculating hourly overtime rates for non-exempt employees. Business expenses, bona fide gifts, discretionary bonuses, employer investment contributions, vacation pay, holiday pay, sick leave, jury duty, or other pay for non-work hours may be excluded from regular rates.

1.8.2 Regular rate for employees paid a weekly salary or other non-hourly basis.

(A) A weekly salary or other non-hourly pay may be paid as straight time pay for all work hours, and the regular rate each workweek will be the total paid divided by hours worked, if the parties have a clear mutual understanding that the salary is:

(1) compensation (apart from any overtime premium) for all hours each workweek;

(2) at least the applicable minimum wage for all hours in workweeks with the greatest hours;

(3) supplemented by extra pay for all overtime hours (in addition to the salary that covers the regular rate) of an extra ½ of the regular rate; and

(4) paid for whatever hours the employee works in a workweek.

(B) Where the requirements of (1)-(4) are not carried out, there is not the required "clear mutual understanding" that the non-hourly pay provides the regular rate for all hours with extra pay added for overtime hours. Absent such an understanding, the hourly regular rate is the applicable weekly pay divided by 40, the number of hours presumed to be in a workweek for an employee paid no overtime premium.

1.8.3 Regular rate for employees with multiple, hourly pay rates. The regular rate for an employee working two or more non-exempt jobs at different hourly pay rates for the same employer within a specific workweek shall be calculated as follows:

(A) Rate based on a weighted average: The employee's regular rate for the particular workweek is determined by adding together all the wages earned performing each job, then dividing that amount by the total number of hours worked in all jobs, consistent with the federal Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and resulting in a weighted average rate of pay, or

(B) Rate based on the job actually performed during overtime hours: The employee's regular rate is the regular rate of hourly pay for the job being performed during the actual overtime hours.

If there is no written agreement between the employee and the employer as to the method of calculating the regular rate of pay in advance of performing the work, the employee's regular rate shall be calculated using the "weighted average" method described above in 1.8.3(A).

1.9 "Time worked" means time during which an employee is performing labor or services for the benefit of an employer, including all time s/he is suffered or permitted to work, whether or not required to do so.

1.9.1 Requiring or permitting employees to be on the employer's premises, on duty, or at a prescribed workplace (but not merely permitting an employee completely relieved from duty to arrive or remain on-premises) — including but not limited to, if such tasks take over one minute, putting on or removing required work clothes or gear (but not a uniform worn outside work as well), receiving or sharing work-related information, security or safety screening, remaining at the place of employment awaiting a decision on job assignment or when to begin work, performing clean-up or other duties "off the clock," clocking or checking in or out, or waiting for any of the preceding — shall be considered time worked that must be compensated.

1.9.2 "Travel time" means time spent on travel for the benefit of an employer, excluding normal home to work travel, and shall be considered time worked. At the start or end of the workday, travel to or from a work station, entirely within the employer's premises and/or with employer-provided transportation, shall not be considered time worked, except that such travel is compensable if it is:

(A) time worked under Rule 1.9 – 1.9.1;

(B) after compensable time starts or before compensable time ends under Rule 1.9 – 1.9.1; or

(C) travel in employer-mandated transportation (1) that materially prolongs commute time or (2) in which employees are subjected to heightened physical risk compared to an ordinary commute.

1.9.3 "Sleep time" means time an employee may sleep, which is compensable as follows. Where an employee's shift is 24 hours or longer, up to 8 hours of sleeping time may be excluded from overtime compensation, if:

(A) an express agreement excluding sleeping time exists;

(B) adequate sleeping facilities for an uninterrupted night's sleep are provided;

(C) at least 5 hours of sleep are possible during the scheduled sleep period; and

(D) interruptions to perform duties are considered time worked.

When an employee's shift is less than 24 hours, periods when s/he is permitted to sleep are compensable work time, as long as s/he is on duty and must work when required. Only actual sleep time may be excluded, up to a maximum of 8 hours per workday. When work-related interruptions prevent 5 hours of sleep, the employee shall be compensated for the entire workday.

1.10 "Tipped employee" means any employee engaged in an occupation in which s/he customarily and regularly receives more than $30 per month in tips. Tips include amounts designated as a tip by credit card customers on their charge slips. Nothing in this rule prevents an employer from requiring employees to share or allocate such tips or gratuities on a pre-established basis among other employees who customarily and regularly receive tips. Employer-required sharing of tips with employees who do not customarily and regularly receive tips, such as management or food preparers, or deduction of credit card processing fees from tipped employees, shall nullify allowable tip credits towards the minimum wage.

1.11 "'Wages' or 'compensation'" has the meaning provided by C.R.S. § 8-4-101(14) and includes paid sick leave under the Healthy Families and Workplaces Act, C.R.S. § 8-13.3-402(8)(b).

1.12 "Workday" means any consecutive 24-hour period starting with the same hour each day and the same hour as the beginning of the workweek. The workday is set by the employer and may accommodate flexible shift scheduling.

1.13 "Workweek" means any consecutive set period of 168 hours (7 days) starting with the same calendar day and hour each week.

2.3 Agriculture.

2.3.1 Minimum Wages. All minimum wage laws and rules apply to all employees of all agricultural employers, except as otherwise provided for "range workers" in Rule 2.2.7(E). ~~Workers in jobs in agriculture are exempt from Rule 3 (Minimum Wage), Rule 4 (Overtime), and Rule 5.1 (Meal Periods) if they are not covered by, or are exempt from, the minimum wage provisions of the federal Fair Labor Standards Act (29 U.S.C. §§ 201 et seq.). Other jobs in agriculture are exempt from Rule 4 (Overtime) and Rule 5.1 (Meal Periods). In workdays requiring multiple rest periods under Rule 5.2, rest periods need not total exactly 10 minutes in each 4-hour period, as long as an employee:~~

~~(A) receives rest periods that average, over the workday, at least 10 minutes per 4 hours worked; and~~

~~(B) receives at least 5 minutes of rest in every 4 hours worked.~~

2.3.2 Overtime and Maximum Hours Protections.

(A) Agricultural employees of agricultural employers are exempt from both the 40-hour weekly and the 12-hour daily overtime pay requirements in Rule 4.1.1, provided that such employees receive the following.

(1) Weekly overtime pay, at one and one-half times their regular rate of pay, after 60 hours worked per workweek from November 1, 2022, through December 31, 2023, and thereafter as follows, and as listed in the summary table below:

(a) at a small agricultural employer (defined in (B) below), after 56 hours worked per workweek;

(b) at a highly-seasonal agricultural employer (defined in (C) below), (i) after 56 hours worked per workweek during any 22-week period, or any two periods totaling 22 weeks, that the employer chooses as its peak labor period(s), and (ii) otherwise after 48 hours worked per week; and

(c) at all other agricultural employers, (i) after 54 hours worked per workweek in 2024, and (ii) after 48 hours worked per workweek as of January 1, 2025.

Summary Table of Weekly Overtime Pay Thresholds for Agricultural Employers

Time Period	(a) Small Employers	(b) Highly Seasonal Employers	(c) Other Employers
Until 11/1/22	No overtime pay required
11/1/22-12/31/23	60 hours

2024	56 hours	56 hours for 22 peak weeks 48 hours otherwise	54 hours
2025 -			48 hours

(2) In lieu of daily overtime pay: a 30-minute rest period for their third Rule 5.2 paid rest period, rather than a 10- or 15-minute rest period, in workdays (or shifts spanning two days) with over 12 hours worked, beginning November 1, 2022.

(B) "Small agricultural employer" means an agricultural employer that:

(1) employed fewer than four employees on average over the three prior calendar years (or as many complete prior calendar years as they have been in operation); and

(2) had average adjusted gross income, over the three prior complete taxable years, of no more than the small agricultural employer threshold specified for the applicable year in the PAY CALC Order, which shall be $1,000,000 in 2022, and after 2022 shall be indexed every January 1 by the same Consumer Price Index ("CPI") as the Colorado minimum wage, as stated in the PAY CALC Order. Employers in operation fewer than three complete taxable years shall use as many complete taxable years as they have been in operation; employers not yet in operation for any complete taxable years shall be considered below the threshold until they have any complete taxable years.

(C) "Highly seasonal agricultural employer" means an agricultural employer that

(1) in any 22-week period (or any two periods totaling 22 weeks) in the prior calendar year, had at least twice as many employees as the rest of the year, and

(2) gives employees annual written notice of the period(s) when weekly overtime pay will be after 56 rather than 48 hours:

(a) at least 30 days in advance of any such period(s), except —

(i) for employees who start working for the employer fewer than 30 days in advance, written notice shall be upon hiring, and

(ii) for those employed under, and in compliance with federal requirements for, temporary work visas, no later than the date of the worker's visa application, contemporaneous with required federal pre-employment written disclosures to visa workers ordinarily due by the date of the worker's visa application;

(b) in English and any language that is the first language spoken by at least five percent of the employer's workforce at any point during the year.

(D) Agricultural employees who are the parents, spouses, or children of an agricultural employer (or of an individual or family that owns a majority interest in an agricultural employer) shall be exempt from all overtime pay requirements in the COMPS Order.

(E) How many employees an agricultural employer has, for purposes of the above definitions of "small agricultural employer" in (B), and "highly seasonal agricultural employer" in (C), shall be determined as follows.

(1) Employees shall be counted at the worksite for which the definition is being assessed, and shall count proportionally as follows, based on their average hours worked in all weeks in the preceding year with at least one hour worked:

(a) 35 hours per week or more: 1.0.

(b) Between 15 and 35 hours per week: 0.5; and

(c) Under 15 hours per week: 0.

(2) Employers need not rely on prior staffing levels to qualify for the "small agricultural" or "highly seasonal" employee thresholds if they (a) have been in operation for less than one calendar year, or (b) did not qualify based on their prior staffing levels, but have a good-faith, objectively reasonable belief that they will qualify for the present year. If their belief that they will qualify for the threshold proves incorrect, they must pay affected employees back pay for any additional overtime owed, plus 5%, by 30 days from the date the employer has notice that it will not qualify for the threshold for the year, or (if they lacked notice until the end of the year) by 30 days from the end of that calendar year.

(F)~~2.3.2~~ The Rule 2.3.2~~1~~ exemption does not apply if an employer draws at least 50% of its annual dollar volume of business from sales to the consuming public (rather than for resale) of any services, commodities, articles, goods, wares, or merchandise~~; .[1] 1 P~~prior Orders for decades have covered any such employer, in any industry. E.g., Order #35, Rule 2(A) (covering any employer "that sells or offers for sale, any service, commodity, article, good, … wares, or merchandise to the consuming public" and draws "50% or more of its annual dollar volume … from such sales," rather than from sales to other businesses "for resale.")

2.3.3 Meal and Rest Periods.

(A) In addition to the meal and rest periods required by Rule 5, an agricultural employer shall provide agricultural employees engaged in hand-weeding and hand-thinning an additional, five-minute rest period, which, insofar as is practicable, must be in the middle of each work period.

(B) The requirement of meal and rest periods in Rule 2.3.3 and Rule 5 does not apply to a truck driver whose sole and principal duty is to haul livestock or to a combine or harvester operator while harvesting.

~~2.3.3 "Jobs in agriculture" means jobs with work primarily within the same definition of "agriculture" as under 29 U.S.C. § 203(f) of the federal Fair Labor Standards Act: "farming in all its branches and among other things includes the cultivation and tillage of the soil, dairying, the production, cultivation, growing, and harvesting of any agricultural or horticultural commodities (including … agricultural commodities …), the raising of livestock, bees, fur-bearing animals, or poultry, and any practices (including any forestry or lumbering operations) performed by a farmer or on a farm as an incident to or in conjunction with such farming operations, including preparation for market, delivery to storage or to market or to carriers for transportation to market." "Jobs in agriculture" also includes temporary employees employed directly by the Western Stock Show Association~~

~~for the annual National Western Stock Show, who are exempt from all provisions of the COMPS Order.~~

2.4 Exemptions from Overtime Requirements of the COMPS Order. The following employees are exempt from Rule 4 (Overtime) unless otherwise specified.

2.4.1 Certain Salespersons and Mechanics. Salespersons, parts-persons, and mechanics employed by automobile, truck, or farm implement (retail) dealers; and salespersons employed by trailer, aircraft, and boat (retail) dealers are exempt from Rule 4 (Overtime).

2.4.2 Commission Sales. Sales employees of retail or service industries paid on a commission basis, provided that at least 50% of their total earnings in the pay period is derived from commission sales, and their regular rate of pay is at least one and one-half times the minimum wage, are exempt from Rule 4 (Overtime). This exemption is applicable for only employees of retail or service employers who receive over 75% of their annual dollar volume from retail or service sales.

2.4.3 Ski Industry. Employees of the ski industry performing duties directly related to ski area operations for downhill skiing or snowboarding, and those employees engaged in providing food and beverage services at on-mountain locations, are exempt from (within Rule 4) the 40-hour overtime requirement but not the requirement of overtime pay for over 12 hours that are consecutive or are within a workday. This partial overtime exemption does not apply to ski area employees performing duties related to lodging.

2.4.4 Medical Transportation. Employees of the medical transportation industry who work 24-hour shifts are exempt from the Rule 4.1.1(B)-(C) daily (12-hour) overtime rules if they receive the required Rule 4.1.1(A) weekly (40-hour) overtime pay.

2.4.5 Eight and Eighty Rule. A hospital or nursing home may seek an agreement with individual employees to pay overtime pursuant to the provisions of the federal Fair Labor Standards Act "8 and 80 rule" whereby employees are paid time and one-half their regular rate of pay for any work performed in excess of 80 hours in a 14 consecutive day period and for any work in excess of 8 hours per day.

2.4.6 Drivers, and Driver's Helpers, Subject to the Federal Motor Carrier Act ("MCA"). Drivers and their driver's helpers ~~(as defined in 29 C.F.R. § 782.4)~~ are exempt from Rule 4 (overtime) and Rule 5 (rest and meal periods) while and to the extent that they are:

(A) subject to the federal MCA and exempt from overtime requirements of the ~~Fair Labor Standards Act ("~~FLSA~~")~~ pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 213(b)(1) and regulations promulgated thereunder;

(B) working on MCA-covered non-passenger vehicles, or on MCA-covered passenger vehicles qualifying as ~~"~~commercial motor vehicles~~"~~ requiring a ~~"~~commercial driver's license~~"~~ ("CDL") ~~as defined in 49 C.F.R. § 383.5~~ -- but not on vehicles that transport workers to and from manual work jobs (e.g., landscaping or lawn care, construction or roofing, cleaning or janitorial, or other manual labor) and do not require a CDL; and

(C) paid compensation equivalent to at least 50 hours at the Colorado minimum wage with overtime, ~~i.e., $677.60 per week in 2021~~as specified for the applicable year in the PAY CALC Order, regardless of whether the pay is hourly, salaried, piece rate, or on another basis.

2.4.7 Direct Support and Care. The Rule 4.1.1(B)-(C) daily (12-hour) overtime rule does not apply to companions designated as direct support professionals/direct care workers who are scheduled for, and work, shifts of at least 24 hours providing residential or respite services and who are employed by service providers and agencies that receive at least 75% of their total revenue from Medicaid or other governmental sources, and who provide services within Medicaid home- and community-based service waivers.

2.5 Salary Thresholds for Certain Exemptions.

2.5.1 For COMPS exemptions requiring a salary, the "Salary Requirement" rules of the federal Fair Labor Standards Act in 29 C.F.R. Part 541 Subpart G, apply, except that under the COMPS Order, the salary must be at least the level specified for the applicable year in the PAY CALC Order ~~listed below~~ and sufficient for the minimum wage for all hours in a workweek (with the exception of certain professionals listed in Rule 2.5.2). ~~As detailed below:~~ Except as provided in Rule 2.2.11, t~~T~~he weekly salary from July 1, 2020, through December 31, 2020, shall be $684 ($35,568 per year[2]); ~~, then shall be~~ $778.85 for 2021 ($40,500 per year); ~~,~~ $865.38 for 2022 ($45,000 per year); ~~,~~ $961.54 for 2023 ($50,000 per year); ~~and~~ $1,057.69 for 2024 ($55,000 per year); ~~,~~ and after 2024~~then~~ shall be indexed every January 1 by the same ~~Consumer Price Index ("~~CPI~~")~~ as the Colorado minimum wage, as stated in the PAY CALC Order; except that the 2020 salary did~~does~~ not apply to the following two categories of employers, for~~to~~ whom the above~~below~~ salary schedule applie~~ds~~ only as of January 1, 2021 — (A) non-profit employers with annual total gross revenue of under $50 million, and (B) for-profit employers with annual total gross revenue of under $1 million.[3]

~~2~~ Annual equivalents are based on 2080 hours over 52 weeks of 40 hours, as under the federal Fair Labor Standards Act, and are rounded to the nearest dollar.

~~Date~~	~~Weekly Overtime-Exempt Salary (& Rounded Annual Equivalent)~~
~~July 1, 2020~~	~~$684.00 per week ($35,568 per year)~~
~~January 1, 2021~~	~~$778.85 per week ($40,500 per year)~~
~~January 1, 2022~~	~~$865.38 per week ($45,000 per year)~~
~~January 1, 2023~~	~~$961.54 per week ($50,000 per year)~~
~~January 1, 2024~~	~~$1,057.69 per week ($55,000 per year)~~
~~January 1, 2025~~	~~The 2024 salary adjusted by the same CPI as the Colorado Minimum Wage~~

For any employer that ~~is~~ was not subject to the $684 per week salary under this Rule 2.5.1 for all or part of 2020, the required salary ~~is~~ was the equivalent of the Colorado $12.00 minimum wage, less any applicable lawful credits, for all hours worked in a workweek; .[3]

~~3~~ this salary requirement of minimum wage for all hours work applied under Minimum Wage Order #35 (2019) and prior Minimum Wage Orders.

2.5.2 Exemption for Certain Professionals Exempt from the Salary Requirement under Federal Wage Law. The Rule 2.5.1 salaries do not apply to the following professionals who are exempt from the requirement of a salary under federal wage law.

(A) Doctors, lawyers, and teachers who qualify as exempt Rule 2.2.3 professional employees need not receive any particular salary or hourly pay to be exempt.

(B) Employees in highly technical computer-related occupations, as defined by Rule 2.2.10, must receive at least the lesser of (1) the applicable salary in Rule 2.5.1, or (2) hourly pay that is at least $28.38 in 2021, adjusted annually by CPI thereafter, as specified for the applicable year in the PAY CALC Order.

Rule 3. Minimum Wages.

3.1 Statewide Minimum Wage. Effective January 1, 2021, uUnder the minimum wage requirements of Article XVIII, Section 15, of the Colorado Constitution, all employees (with the exceptions detailed in Rule 3.3), whether employed on an hourly, piecework, commission, time, task, or other basis, shall be paid not less than $12.32 per hourthe Colorado minimum wage, as specified for the applicable year in the PAY CALC Order, less any applicable lawful credits or exceptions noted, for all hours worked, if the employee is covered by either:

(A) Rule 2 (Coverage and Exemptions) of the COMPS Order; or

(B) the minimum wage provisions of the federal Fair Labor Standards Act (29 U.S.C. §§ 201 et seq.).

3.2 Minimum and Overtime Wage Requirements of Other Applicable Jurisdictions. In addition to state wage requirements, federal or local laws or regulations may apply minimum, overtime, or other wage requirements to some or all Colorado employers and employees. If an employee is covered by multiple minimum or overtime wage requirements, the requirement providing a higher wage, or otherwise setting a higher standard, shall apply. The Division accepts state law complaints by employees who claim entitlement to a state, federal, or local minimum or overtime wages under the C.R.S. § 8-4-101(14) definition that the "unpaid wages" recoverable in a state-law claim include "[a]ll amounts for labor or service performed by employees," as long as such amounts are "earned, vested, and determinable, at which time such amount shall be payable to the employee pursuant to this article."

3.3 Reduced Minimum for Certain People with Disabilities and Minors. The minimum wage may be reduced by 15% for (a) non-emancipated minors, as specified for the applicable year in the PAY CALC Order and (b) persons certified by the Director to be less efficient in performance of their job duties due to a physical disability.

Rule 4. Overtime.

4.1 Overtime Wages.

4.1.1 Employees shall be paid time and one-half of the regular rate of pay for any work in excess of any of the following, except as provided below in exemptions or variances in Rule 2:

(A) 40 hours per workweek;

(B) 12 hours per workday; or

(C) 12 consecutive hours without regard to the start and end time of the workday.

4.1.2 Whichever of the three calculations in Rule 4.1.1 results in the greater payment of wages shall apply in any particular situation.

4.1.3 Hours worked in two or more workweeks shall not be averaged for computing overtime.

4.1.4 Performance of work in two or more positions, at different pay rates, for the same employer, shall be computed at the overtime rate based on the regular rate of pay as described in Rule 1.8.3for the position in which the overtime occurs, or at a weighted ~~average of the rates for each position, as provided in the federal Fair Labor Standards Act~~.

4.1.5 In calculating when 12 consecutive hours are worked for purposes of the Rule 4.1.1 requirement of overtime after 12 hours, meal periods may be subtracted, but only if the meal periods comply with the Rule 5.1 requirements for meal periods.

4.2 Effect of Daily Overtime on Workday and Workweek. The requirement to pay overtime for work in excess of 12 consecutive hours will not alter the employee's established workday or workweek, as previously defined.

4.3 Overtime for Minors. Nothing in Rule 4 modifies the provisions on work hours for minors contained in C.R.S. § 8-12-105.

Rule 5. Meal and Rest Periods.

5.1 Meal Periods. Employees shall be entitled to an uninterrupted and duty-free meal period of at least a 30-minute duration when the shift exceeds 5 consecutive hours. Such meal periods, to the extent practical, shall be at least one hour after the start, and one hour before the end of the shift. Employees must be completely relieved of all duties and permitted to pursue personal activities for a period to qualify as non-work, uncompensated time. When the nature of the business activity or other circumstances make an uninterrupted meal period impractical, the employee shall be permitted to consume an on-duty meal while performing duties. Employees shall be permitted to fully consume a meal of choice on the job and be fully compensated for the on-duty meal period without any loss of time or compensation.

5.2 Rest Periods. Every employer shall authorize and permit a compensated 10-minute rest period for each 4 hours of work, or major fractions thereof, for all employees, as follows, except as provided in exemptions or variances in Rule 2:

Work Hours	Rest Periods Required
2 or fewer	0
Over 2, and up to 6	1
Over 6, and up to 10	2
Over 10, and up to 14	3
Over 14, and up to 18	4
Over 18, and up to 22	5
Over 22	6

5.2.1 Rest periods shall be 10 minutes unless,

(A) on a given workday, or in a writing covering up to a one-year period that is signed by both parties, the employee and the employer agree, voluntarily and without coercion, to have two 5-minute breaks, as long as 5 minutes is sufficient, in the work setting, to allow the employee to go back and forth to a bathroom or other location where a bona fide break would be taken; or

(B) If the below conditions are met, rest periods need not be 10 minutes every 4 hours for any employees (i) governed by a collective bargaining agreement at any employer, or (ii) during time they are providing Medicaid-funded services for a service provider or agency receiving at least 75% of its annual total gross revenue from Medicaid or other governmental funds for providing such services within Medicaid home- and community-based services waivers, and the services provided require continuous supervision of the service recipient, or providing a rest period would interfere with ensuring the service recipient's health, safety, and welfare. Employees in category (i) or (ii) must receive:

(1) rest periods that average, over the workday, at least 10 minutes per 4 hours worked; and

(2) at least 5 minutes of rest in every 4 hours worked.

Such an agreement does not change an employee's right to pay for rest periods under Rule 5.2.4. Additionally, when (B)(ii) above applies: When direct support professionals or direct care workers serving individuals with disabilities spend time in community outings with those individuals with disabilities – as part of day programs, supported living services, or one-to-one respite or personal care – time in such outings does not require rest breaks or pay for rest breaks.

5.2.2 Rest periods, to the extent practical, shall be in the middle of each 4-hour work period. It is not necessary that the employee leave the premises for a rest period.

5.2.3 Required rest periods are time worked for the purposes of calculating minimum wage and overtime obligations.

5.2.4 When an employee is not authorized and permitted a required 10-minute rest period, his or her shift is effectively extended by 10 minutes without compensation. Because a rest period requires 10 minutes of pay without work being performed, work during a rest period is additional work for which additional pay is not provided. Therefore, a failure by an employer to authorize and permit a 10-minute compensated rest period is a failure to pay 10 minutes of wages at the employee's agreed-upon or legally required (whichever is higher) rate of pay. This Rule 5.2.4 applies equally to rest periods that Rule 5.2.1 permits to be of different durations and to the rest periods required by Rule 2.3.3.

Rule 6. Deductions, Credits, and Charges.

6.1 Tips or Gratuities. It shall be unlawful for an employer to assert a claim to, right of ownership in, or control over tips or gratuities intended for employees in violation of the Colorado Wage Act, including C.R.S. § 8-4-103(6).

6.2 Credits Toward Minimum Wages. The only allowable credits an employer may take toward the minimum wage are those in Rules 6.2.1 - 6.2.3 below.

6.2.1 Lodging Credit. A lodging credit for housing furnished by the employer and used by the employee may be considered part of the minimum wage if it is:

(A) no greater than the smaller of (1) the reasonable and actual cost to the employer of providing the housing, (2) the fair market value of the housing, or (3) $25 per week for a room (in a shared residence, dormitory, or hotel) or $100 per week for a private residence (an apartment or a house);

(B) accepted voluntarily and without coercion, and primarily for the benefit or convenience of the employee, rather than of the employer; and

(C) recorded in a written agreement (electronic form is acceptable) that states the fact and amount of the credit (but need not be a lease).

6.2.2 Meal Credit. A meal credit, equal to the reasonable cost or fair market value of meals provided to the employee, may be used as part of the minimum hourly wage. No profits to the employer may be included in the reasonable cost or fair market value of such meals furnished. Employee acceptance of a meal must be voluntary and uncoerced.

6.2.3 Tip Credit. A tip credit no greater than $3.02 per hour may be used to offset cash wages for employers of tipped employees. An employer must pay a cash wage of at least ~~$9.30 per hour~~ the amount specified for the applicable year in the PAY CALC Order if it claims a tip credit against its minimum hourly wage obligation; if an employee's tips combined with the cash wage of at least the amount specified for the applicable year in the PAY CALC Order~~$9.30 per hour~~ do not equal the minimum hourly wage, the employer must make up the difference in cash wages.

6.3 Uniforms.

6.3.1 Where wearing a particular uniform or special apparel is a condition of employment, the employer shall pay the cost of purchases, maintenance, and cleaning of the uniforms or special apparel, with the following exceptions:

(A) if the uniform furnished by the employer is plain and washable, and does not need or require special care such as ironing, dry cleaning, pressing, etc., the employer need not maintain or pay for cleaning; and

(B) clothing that is ordinary, plain, and washable that is prescribed as a uniform need not be furnished by the employer unless a special color, make, pattern, logo, or material is required.

6.3.2 The cost of ordinary wear and tear of a uniform or special apparel shall not be deducted from an employee's wages.

Rule 7. Employer Record-Keeping and Posting Requirements.

7.1 Employee Records. Every employer shall keep at the place of employment, or at the employer's principal place of business in Colorado, a true and accurate record for each employee which contains the following information:

(A) name, address, occupation, and date of hire of the employee;

(B) date of birth, if the employee is under 18 years of age;

(C) daily record of all hours worked;

(D) record of credits claimed and of tips; and

(E) regular rates of pay, gross wages earned, withholdings made, and net amounts paid each pay period.

7.2 Issuance of Earnings Statement. An itemized earnings statement of the information in Rule 7.1(D)-(E) and the total hours worked in the pay period, with the employee's and the employer's names, shall be provided to each employee each pay period.

7.3 Maintenance of Earnings Statement Information. An employer shall retain records reflecting the information contained in an employee's itemized earnings statement as described in this rule for at least 3 years after the wages or compensation were due, and for the duration of any pending wage claim pertaining to the employee. Each employer shall provide each employee access to the information in Rules 7.1(A) and (C) in any of the following forms it chooses:

(A) provide the information with the regular earnings statements;

(B) provide each employee with access to a functioning electronic portal that shows the information – but this method is permissible only if the employer knows an email address of the employee; or

(C) provide each employee the information for the entire calendar year by January 31st the following year and, in~~if~~ addition, provide the information to an employee upon a request that an employee may make once per year.

7.4 Posting and Distribution Requirements.

7.4.1 Posting. Every employer subject to the COMPS Order must display a COMPS Order poster for the current year, with applicable dollar figures as stated in the PAY CALC Order for that year, published by the Division in an area frequented by employees where it may be easily read during the workday. If the work site or other conditions make a physical posting impractical (including private residences employing only one worker, and certain entirely outdoor work sites lacking an indoor area), the employer shall provide a copy of the COMPS Order or poster to each employee within his or her first month of employment, and shall make it available to employees upon request. Employers shall be deemed noncompliant if they attempt to minimize the effect of posters or notices required by statute or these Rules, such as by communicating positions contrary to, or discouraging the exercise of rights covered in, the required poster or notice. An employer that does not comply with the above requirements of this paragraph shall be ineligible for any employee-specific credits, deductions, or exemptions in the COMPS Order, but shall remain eligible for employer- or industry-wide exemptions, such as exempting an entire employer or industry from any overtime or meal/rest period requirements in Rules 4-5.

7.4.2 Distribution. Every employer publishing or distributing to employees any handbook, manual, or written or posted policies shall include a copy of the COMPS Order, or a COMPS Order poster published by the Division, with any such handbook, manual, or policies. Every employer that requires employees to sign any handbook, manual, or policy shall, at the same time or promptly thereafter, include a copy of the COMPS Order, or a COMPS Order poster published by the Division, and have the employee sign an acknowledgement of being provided the COMPS Order or the COMPS Order poster.

7.4.3 Translation. Employers with any employees with limited English language ability shall:

(A) use a Spanish-language version of the COMPS Order and poster published by the Division, if the employee(s) in question speak Spanish; or

(B) contact the Division to request that the Division, if possible, provide a version of the COMPS Order and poster in another language that any employee(s) need.

Rule 8. Administration and Interpretation.

8.1 Recovery of Wages.

(A) Availability of court action or Division administrative complaint. An employee receiving less than the full wages or other compensation owed is entitled to recover in a civil action the unpaid balance of the full amount owed, together with reasonable attorney fees and court costs, notwithstanding any agreement to work for a lesser wage, pursuant to C.R.S. §§ 8-4-121, 8-6-118. Alternatively, an employee may elect to pursue a complaint through the Division's administrative procedure as described in the Colorado Wage Act, C.R.S. § 8-4-101, et seq.

(B) No minimum claim size. There is no minimum size of a wage claim, and thus no claim too minimal ("de minimis") for recovery, because Article 4 requires paying "[a]ll wages or compensation" (C.R.S. § 8-4-103(1)(a)), and authorizes civil actions "to recover any amount of wages or compensation" (C.R.S. § 8-4-110(1)) and Division complaints "for any violation" (C.R.S. § 8-4-111(1)(a)).

8.2 Complaints. Any person may register with the Division a written complaint that alleges a violation of the COMPS Order within 2 years of the alleged violation(s), except that actions brought for a willful violation shall be commenced within 3 years.

8.3 Investigations. The Director or a designated agent shall investigate and take all proceedings necessary to enforce the payment of the minimum wage and other provisions of the COMPS Order, pursuant to these rules and C.R.S. Title 8, Articles 1, 4, 6, and 13.3. Violations may be subject to the administrative procedure as described in the Colorado Wage Act, C.R.S. § 8-4-101, et seq.

8.4 Violations. It is theft under the Criminal Code (C.R.S. § 18-4-401) if an employer or agent:

(A) willfully refuses to pay wages or compensation, or falsely denies the amount of a wage claim, or the validity thereof, or that the same is due, with intent to secure for himself, herself, or another person any discount upon such indebtedness or any underpayment of such indebtedness or with intent to annoy, harass, oppress, hinder, coerce, delay, or defraud the person to whom such indebtedness is due (C.R.S. § 8-4-114); or

(B) intentionally pays or causes to be paid to any such employee a wage less than the minimum (C.R.S. § 8-6-116).

8.5 Reprisals. Employers shall not threaten, coerce, or discriminate against any person for the purpose of reprisal, interference, or obstruction as to any actual or anticipated investigation, hearing, complaint, or other process or proceeding relating to a wage claim, right, or rule. Violators may be subject to penalties under C.R.S. §§ 8-1-116, 8-1-140, 8-4-120, and/or 8-6-115.

8.6 Division and Dual Jurisdiction. The Division shall have jurisdiction over all questions arising with respect to the administration and interpretation of the COMPS Order. Whenever employers are subjected to Colorado law as well as federal and/or local law, the law providing greater protection or setting the higher standard shall apply. For information on federal law, contact the U.S. Department of Labor, Wage and Hour Division.

8.7 Construction.

(A) Liberal construction of COMPS, narrow construction of exceptions/ exemptions. Under the C.R.S. § 8-6-102 “Construction” provision (“Whenever this article or any part thereof is interpreted by any court, it shall be liberally construed by such court.”), applicable to rules on “wages which are inadequate to supply the necessary cost of living” (§ 8-6-104), on “conditions of labor detrimental to [worker] health or morals” (§ 8-6-104), on “conditions of labor and hours of employment not detrimental to health or morals for workers” (§ 8-6-106), on “what are unreasonably long hours” (§ 8-6-106), on what requirements are “necessary to carry out the provisions of this article” (§ 8-6-108.5), and on minimum and overtime wages (§§ 8-6-109, -111, -116, -117), and on who qualifies as an “agricultural employer” (§ 8-6-120 (incorporating §§ 8-13.5-201(1); 8-3-104(1)(b))): The provisions of the COMPS Order shall be liberally construed, with exceptions and exemptions accordingly narrowly construed.

(B) Subpart included in cross-references. Where any Division rule references another rule, the reference shall be deemed to include all subparts of the referenced rule.

(C) Minimum Wage Order references. References to the Colorado "Minimum Wage Order" shall be deemed to reference the COMPS Order, as the successor to the Colorado Minimum Wage Order.

8.8 Separability. The COMPS Order is intended to remain in effect to the maximum extent possible. If any part (including any section, sentence, clause, phrase, word, or number) is held invalid, (A) the remainder of the COMPS Order remains valid, and (B) if the provision is held not wholly invalid, but merely in need of narrowing, the provision should be retained in narrowed form.

8.9 Basis for Calculation. Calculations in the PAY CALC and COMPS Orders are based on Section 15 of Article XVIII of the Colorado Constitution ("Section 15") ("Colorado's minimum wage is … adjusted annually for cost of living increases, as measured by the … Consumer Price Index used for Colorado"); C.R.S. Article 8, Title 6; and the COMPS Order. All inflation-adjusted values applicable to the COMPS and PAY CALC Orders are based on the CPI used for Colorado, the Denver-Aurora-Lakewood CPI published by the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics. To effectuate the above provisions that employees must be paid not less than the prior year's minimum wage adjusted for inflation, Division rules and practice must round up, to the nearest cent, any fractional cents yielded by the inflation adjustment. Other than in the annual minimum wage calculation, Division rules and practice round fractional cents of at least 0.5 up, and of under 0.5 down.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING CONCERNING PROPOSED RULES:

Notice is hereby given of a public hearing to afford all interested persons an opportunity to be heard prior to adoption of the below three sets of proposed rules, under authority granted to the Division of Labor Standards and Statistics by the Administrative Procedure Act, C.R.S. § 24-4-103, and provisions of C.R.S. Title 8, Articles 1, 2, 4, 6, 12, 13.3, and 13.5, including but not limited to the statutory sections cited in Rule 1 of COMPS Order #38 (7 CCR 1103-1), Rule 1 of Wage Protection Rules (7 CCR 1103-7), and Rule 2 of the 2022 PAY CALC Order (7 CCR 1103-14), all of which proposed rules accompany and are incorporated into this notice.

(1) 2022 Publication And Yearly Calculation of Adjusted Labor Compensation Order ("2022 PAY CALC Order," or "PAY CALC"), 7 CCR 1103-14 (effective January 1, 2022). This new set of rules serves to calculate and publish pay and income figures — e.g., Colorado minimum wages, and minimum earnings levels for various full or partial labor law exemptions — that adjust annually or other periodic bases under the Colorado Overtime and Minimum Pay Standards Order ("COMPS Order," or "COMPS"), 7 CCR 1103-1, or other laws. The pay and income figures in PAY CALC previously were (or, for figures new in 2022, would have been) published in various provisions throughout the COMPS Order. PAY CALC consolidates and facilitates access to such figures by consolidating all of them into an annually published one-page rule, with PAY CALC and COMPS each referencing and incorporating the other.

(2) Colorado Overtime and Minimum Pay Standards Order ("COMPS Order," or "COMPS") #38, 7 CCR 1103-1 (effective January 1, 2022). These rules amend the prior version of COMPS (Order #37, 2021), Colorado's broad set of wage and hour rules, as follows (in addition to certain non-substantive edits):

(A) removing annually or otherwise periodically adjusted pay and income figures — e.g., Colorado minimum wages, and minimum earnings levels for various full or partial labor law exemptions — from the various COMPS provisions where each has appeared, and replacing them with references to the PAY CALC Order (described above), which now consolidates all such figures;

(B) adding an exemption for "highly compensated employees" not covered by other existing exemptions, substantially similar to the exemption under the federal Fair Labor Standards Act;

(C) adding rules on minimum wages, overtime and maximum hours protections, and meal and rest periods for agricultural employees, pursuant to the Colorado Senate Bill 21-87 requirements that agricultural employees be provided such rights, and that the Division promulgate rules accordingly; and

(D) Rules further detailing how to calculate the "regular rate of pay" of an employee with more than one hourly rate, and expanding this definition to other uses of "regular rate of pay" in the COMPS Order other than calculation of the overtime rate, are added.

(3) Wage Protection Rules, 7 CCR 1103-7 (effective January 1, 2022). These rules amend the Wage Protection Act Rules, 7 CCR 1103-7, which implement the Colorado Wage Act ("CWA," as amended by the Wage Protection Act ("WPA"), C.R.S. § 8-4-101 et seq.), Healthy Families and Workplaces Act ("HFWA," C.R.S. § 8-13.3-401 et seq.), and Agricultural Labor Rights and Responsibilities Act (codified in relevant part at C.R.S. §§ 8-6-101.5, 8-6-120, 8-13.5-201 et seq.), as follows (in addition to certain non-substantive edits):

(A) defining "vacation pay," following a court ruling that vacation pay is non-forfeitable;

(B) clarifying the pay rates and hours for HFWA leave for employees with certain irregular pay or hours;

(C) confirming the acceptability of electronic signatures at the Division;

(D) clarifying employers' HFWA record-keeping requirements; and

(E) clarifying the HFWA exemption for when a CBA provides equivalent or more generous leave.

WAGE PROTECTION RULES

7 CCR 1103-7

As proposed on September 29, 2021; if aAdopted on February 23, 2021, to be effective January 1April 14, 20221.

Rule 1. Statement of Purpose and Authority

1.1 The general purpose of these Wage Protection Rules (Rules) is to implement labor laws within the jurisdiction of the Division, including but not limited to the Colorado Wage Act (CWA) as amended by the Wage Protection Act (WPA) of 2014, C.R.S. § 8-4-101 et seq., and the Healthy Families and Workplaces Act (HFWA) of 2020, C.R.S. § 8-13.3-401 et seq., and the Agricultural Labor Rights and Responsibilities Act, as codified in relevant part at C.R.S. §§ 8-6-101.5, 8-6-120, and 8-13.5-201 et seq. These rules are adopted pursuant to the Division's authority in C.R.S. §§ 8-1-103(3), -107(2)(p), -111; C.R.S. § 8-4-101 et seq.; and C.R.S. § 8-13.3-401 et seq.to adopt and amend rules and regulations to enforce, execute, apply, and interpret Articles 1, 2, 4, 6, and 13.3, and 13.5 of Title 8, C.R.S. (2022), and all rules, regulations, investigations, and other proceedings of any kind thereunder, by the Administrative Procedure Act, C.R.S. § 24-4-103, and provisions of Articles 1, 2, 4, 6, and 13.3, and 13.5, including but not limited to §§ 8-1-101, 103, 107, 108, 111, 130; § 8-4-111; §§ 8-6-102, 104, 105, 106, 108, 109, 111, 116, 117, 120; § 8-12-115; and §§ 8-13.3-401, 403-405, 407-411, and 416; and § 8-13.5-202, 203, 204.

1.2 Incorporation by Reference. Title 8, Articles 1, 2, 4, 6, 12, and 13.3 of the Colorado Revised Statutes (20221) are hereby incorporated by reference, except that earlier versions of such laws and rules may apply to events that occurred in prior years. Such incorporation excludes later amendments to or editions of the statutes. These statutes are available for public inspection at the Colorado Department of Labor and Employment, Division of Labor Standards & Statistics, 633 17th Street, Denver CO 80202. Copies may be obtained from the Division of Labor Standards & Statistics at a reasonable charge. These statutes can be accessed electronically from the website of the Colorado Secretary of State. Pursuant to C.R.S. § 24-4-103(12.5)(b), the agency shall provide certified copies of the statutes incorporated at cost upon request or shall provide the requestor with information on how to obtain a certified copy of the material incorporated by reference from the agency originally issuing the statutes. All Division Rules are available to the public at www.coloradolaborlaw.gov. Where these Rules have provisions different from or contrary to any incorporated or referenced material, the provisions of these Rules govern so long as they are consistent with Colorado statutory and constitutional provisions.

1.3 Separability. These Rules are intended to remain in effect to the maximum extent possible. If any part of a rule (including any section, sentence, clause, phrase, word, or number) is held invalid, (A) the remainder of the rule remains valid, and (B) if the provision is held not wholly invalid, but merely in need of narrowing, the provision should be retained in narrowed form.

1.4 The Director of the Division of Labor Standards and Statistics in the Department of Labor and Employment (Director) has the authority to enforce the statutes cited in Rule 1.1 aboveC.R.S. § 8-4-101 et seq., C.R.S. § 8-13.3-401 et seq., and these Rules.

Rule 2. Definitions and Clarifications

2.1 "Administrative procedure" means the process used by the Division to investigate wage complaints in accordance with C.R.S. § 8-4-111 and C.R.S. §§ 8-13.3-407(4), -410, and -411.

2.2 "Authorized representative" means a person designated by a party to a wage complaint to represent the party during the Division's administrative procedure. To designate an authorized representative, the party must comply with the requirements of Rule 4.3.

2.3 "Average daily earnings," as used in C.R.S. § 8-4-109(3)(b), will be calculated as follows, unless the Division identifies a legitimate reason to use a different method of calculation:

2.3.1 The most recent typical workweek or pay period will generally be used to calculate the average daily earnings. The total gross amount of wages and compensation will be divided by the number of days worked.

2.3.2 If an employee is entitled to and has been paid less than the Colorado minimum wage, and has not earned more than the Colorado minimum wage, then the Colorado minimum wage will be used to calculate average daily earnings.

2.3.3 All compensation paid to employees, including the hourly rate, shift differential, minimum wage tip credit, regularly occurring non-discretionary bonuses, commissions, and overtime may be included in the average daily earnings calculation.

2.4 "Certified copy," as used in C.R.S. § 8-4-113, means a copy of a final Division decision (issued by a compliance investigator or hearing officer) signed by the Director of the Division, or his or her designee, certifying that the document is a true and accurate copy of the final decision. A certified copy must be requested in writing. A Division decision (issued by a compliance investigator or hearing officer) will not be certified unless: either (1) all appeal deadlines have passed and no appeal has been filed or (2) if an appeal was timely filed, the decision was not superseded on appeal. A certified copy will not be issued in the event of termination pursuant to C.R.S. § 8-4-111(3).

2.5 "Determination" means a decision issued by a compliance investigator upon the conclusion of a wage complaint investigation. "Determination" includes: Citation and Notice of Assessment, Determination of Compliance, and Notice of Dismissal, if that Notice of Dismissal is issued after the Division initiated the administrative procedure as described in Rule 4.4.

2.6 "Employee" has the following definitions:

2.6.1 Under the CWA, C.R.S. § 8-4-101(5), an "employee" means any person, including a migratory laborer, performing labor or services for the benefit of an employer. For the purpose of these Rules, relevant factors in determining whether a person is an employee include the degree of control the employer may or does exercise over the person and the degree to which the person performs work that is the primary work of the employer; except that an individual primarily free from control and direction in the performance of the service, both under his or her contract for the performance of service and in fact, and who is customarily engaged in an independent trade, occupation, profession, or business related to the service performed is not an "employee.".

2.6.2 Under the HFWA, C.R.S. § 8-13.3-402(4), "employee" has the same meaning as in C.R.S. § 8-4-101(5), but does not include an "employee" as defined in 45 U.S.C. § 351(d), who is subject to the federal "Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act," 45 U.S.C. § 351 et seq. An employee's "family member" means (1) an employee's immediate family member, as defined in C.R.S. § 2-4-401(3.7); (2) a child to whom the employee stands in loco parentis or a person who stood in loco parentis to the employee when the employee was a minor; or (3) a person for whom the employee is responsible for providing or arranging health- or safety-related care. C.R.S. § 8-13.3-402(6).

2.7 "Employer" has the following definitions:

2.7.1 Under C.R.S. § 8-4-101(6), "employer" has the same meaning as in the federal Fair Labor Standards Act at 29 U.S.C. § 203(d), and includes a foreign labor contractor and a migratory field labor contractor or crew leader; except that the provisions of the COMPS Order do not apply to the state or its agencies or entities, counties, cities and counties, municipal corporations, quasi-municipal corporations, school districts, and irrigation, reservoir, or drainage conservation companies or districts organized and existing under the laws of Colorado. "Foreign labor contractor" and "field labor contractor" have the definitions in C.R.S. §§ 8-4-101(7), (8.5).

2.7.2 Under the HFWA, C.R.S. § 8-13.3-402(5), "employer" has the same meaning as in C.R.S.

§ 8-4-101(6), except that an "employer" also includes the state and its agencies or entities, counties, cities and counties, municipalities, school districts, and any political subdivisions of the state, but does not include the federal government.

2.7.3 A "successor employer" is responsible for an acquired employer's HFWA obligations, including but not limited to accrued, requested, or in-progress leave, and "means an employing unit, whether or not an employing unit at the time of acquisition, that … acquires all of an organization, a trade, or a business[,] or substantially all of the assets[,] of one or more employers subject to" HFWA. C.R.S. § 8-13.3-402(12). Acquiring "substantially all of the assets" of an employer is defined as in 26 U.S.C. § 368(a)(1)(C) and Rev. Proc. 77-37, § 3.01; acquiring "a trade or a business" is defined as in C.R.S. § 8-76-104(11)(c).

2.7.4 To determine whether an employer meets the 16-employee threshold for HFWA coverage in 2021 pursuant to C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403(1)(b), the rules for counting employees to determine whether an employer is covered under the federal Family and Medical Leave Act apply: the employer must employ the requisite number of employees "for each working day during each of 20 or more calendar workweeks in the current or preceding calendar year"; "[a]ny employee whose name appears on the employer's payroll will be considered employed each working day of the calendar week, and must be counted whether or not any compensation is received for the week"; "[e]mployees on paid or unpaid leave, including [sick or medical] leave, leaves of absence, disciplinary suspension, etc., are counted as long as the employer has a reasonable expectation that the employee will later return to active employment"'; "a corporation is a single employer rather than its separate establishments or divisions"; and employees are counted only if "within … the United States," including any state, the District of Columbia, or any territory or possession of the United States. 29 CFR §§ 825.104-105.

2.8 The "employer's correct address," including as used in C.R.S. § 8-4-101(15), can include, but is not limited to, the employer's email address, the employer's address on file with the Colorado Secretary of State, and the address of the employer's registered agent on file with the Colorado Secretary of State.

2.9 When considering whether there is "good cause" for an extension of time, including as used in C.R.S. § 8-4-113(1)(b), the Division will determine whether the reason is substantial and reasonable and must take into account all available information and circumstances pertaining to the specific complaint.

2.10 "Post," including as used in C.R.S. § 8-4-107, may include electronic posting in a place readily accessible to all employees.

2.11 "Public health emergency" is defined as in C.R.S. § 8-13.3-402(9):

(A) An act of bioterrorism, a pandemic influenza, or an epidemic caused by a novel and highly infectious agent, for which (1) an emergency is declared by a federal, state, or local public health agency, or (2) a disaster emergency is declared by the Governor; or

(B) A highly infectious illness or agent with epidemic or pandemic potential for which a disaster emergency is declared by the Governor.

A public health emergency is "declared" by any initial, amended, extended, restated, or prolonged declaration of an emergency that meets the above definition. Employees have up to 80 hours of supplemental paid sick leave usable as of January 1, 2021, because a public health emergency declared after the HFWA effective date remains in effect long enough to trigger paid leave in 2021 (under HFWA § 405 and Rule 3.5.1(C), distinct from the up to 80 hours of leave provided for 2020 by HFWA § 406 to conform to the federal paid leave law that expires on December 31, 2020). Employees receive their supplement of up to 80 hours of leave usable as of January 1, 2021, under HFWA § 405 only once during the entirety of a public health emergency even if such public health emergency is amended, extended, restated, or prolonged.

2.12 "Records reflecting the information contained in an employee's itemized pay statement," as used in C.R.S. § 8-4-103(4.5), may be kept electronically. The records are not required to be copies of the pay statements but must reflect all information contained in the pay statements.

2.13 "Terminated employee," as used in C.R.S. § 8-4-105(1)(e), includes any employee separated from employment, whether the separation occurs by volition of the employer or the employee.

2.14 The Division may enforce the gratuity provisions described in C.R.S. § 8-4-103(6) through the administrative procedure described in C.R.S. § 8-4-111. The legal treatment of "tips," "gratuities," or other monies paid on a similar basis, in any source of law, is identical regardless of the terminology used.

2.15 "'Wages' or 'compensation'" has the same meaning as in C.R.S. § 8-4-101(14). "Paid sick leave" required by HFWA constitutes "wages" under C.R.S. § 8-4-101(14); is covered by the provisions of C.R.S. Title 8, Article 4, and these Rules; is defined as paid time off from work that is provided by an employer for one of the qualifying reasons described in C.R.S. §§ 8-13.3-404 to -406. C.R.S. § 8-13.3-402(8)(a),(b).

2.16 A "written demand," including as used in C.R.S. § 8-4-101(15), can be sent to the employer by electronic means, including but not limited to email and text message. Wages must be owed at the time of sending for the written demand to be considered valid.

2.17 Vacation Pay.

2.17.1 ~~"Vacation pay," as defined in~~ C.R.S. § 8-4-101(14)(a)(III), includes in the definition of "'[w]ages' or compensation'": "Vacation pay earned in accordance with the terms of any agreement. If an employer provides paid vacation for an employee, the employer shall pay upon separation from employment all vacation pay earned and determinable in accordance with the terms of any agreement between the employer and the employee." "Vacation pay" is pay for leave, regardless of its label, that is usable at the employee's discretion (other than procedural requirements such as notice and approval of particular dates), rather than leave usable only upon occurrence of a qualifying event (for example, a medical need, caretaking requirement, bereavement, or holiday).

2.17.2 The "earned and determinable in accordance with the terms" provision does not allow a forfeiture of any earned (accrued) vacation pay, but does allow agreements on matters such as: (1) whether there is any vacation pay at all; (2) the amount of vacation pay per year or other period; (3) whether vacation pay accrues all at once, proportionally each week, month, or other period; and (4) whether there is a cap of one year's worth (or more) of vacation pay. Thus, employers may have policies that cap employees at a year's worth of vacation pay, but that do not forfeit any of that year's worth.

For example, an agreement for ten paid vacation days per year:

(a) may provide that employees can accrue more than ten days, by allowing carryover of vacation from year to year;

(b) may cap employees at ten days; but

(c) may not diminish an employee's number of days (other than due to use by the employee).

2.18 "Willful," in Articles within C.R.S., Title 8, that this Division enforces or administers, has the same meaning as under 29 U.S.C § 255(a) and 29 C.F.R. § 578.3(c).

2.19 C.R.S. § 8-4-103(1)(b) describes circumstances under which employers are "subject to the penalties specified in section 8-4-113(1)." Despite use of the word "penalty" in this section, this language does refer to the fine described in C.R.S. § 8-4-113(1) and is payable to the Division.

2.20 A complaint, ~~or an~~ appeal, or other submission to the Division is considered "filed" with the Division when it is received by the Division via mail, fax, email, online submission, or personal delivery. Any complaint, appeal, or other submission to the Division~~or termination~~ received after 11:59pm Mountain Time is considered filed the next business day. Any such submission is considered "signed," or to have a "signature," if has either an ink signature, a scanned signature, an electronically drawn or generated signature, or a typed name entered by the party or their authorized representative in the signature area; by signing in any such fashion, the individual is deemed to have agreed and assented that the document is signed by them.

2.21 These Rules are to be read in conjunction with other rules promulgated and enforced by the Division with additional requirements, including but not limited to the Colorado Overtime and Minimum Pay Standards Order ("COMPS Order"), 7 CCR 1103-1, and the Colorado Whistleblower, Anti-Retaliation, Non-Interference, and Notice-Giving Rules ("Colorado WARNING Rules"), 7 CCR 1103-11.

Rule 3. Filing a Wage Complaint

3.1 An employee who wishes to file a wage complaint with the Division shall use the Division-approved form(s).

3.1.1 A wage complaint may only be filed by the employee who did not receive his or her wages or compensation.

3.1.2 A wage complaint shall include the employee's signature, employee's contact information, employer's contact information, and basis for the wage complaint. Failure to include this information on the wage complaint form may result in dismissal of the wage complaint.

3.1.3 The failure of an employee to respond in a timely manner to informational or investigatory requests by the Division may result in dismissal of the wage complaint.

3.1.4 If a wage complaint is dismissed before a Notice of Complaint is sent to the employer because the employee failed to respond to a Division request for information, the complaint may be reopened if the employee provides the requested information or documentation to the Division within 35 days of the Division's request for information. Employees may be required to file a new complaint if the employee's response is received more than 35 days after the Division's request for information.

3.1.5 The Division shall not accept wage complaints for amounts exceeding $7,500.

3.1.6 An anonymous complaint is not a "wage complaint" within the meaning of C.R.S. § 8-4-111 and C.R.S. §§ 8-13.3-402(8)(a)(I)-(II), - 407, -410, -411 and will not be investigated using the Division's administrative procedure. The Division may choose to address an anonymous complaint outside of the administrative procedure.

3.2 An employee may pursue a wage complaint through either the court system or the Division's administrative procedure.

3.2.1 Employees are not required to use the Division's administrative procedure in order to pursue a wage complaint in court.

3.2.2 The Division does not have jurisdiction over any wage complaint that has been adjudicated or is currently being adjudicated by a court of competent jurisdiction.

3.2.3 As provided by C.R.S. § 8-4-113(2), a certified copy of any citation, notice of assessment, or order imposing wages due, fines, or penalties pursuant to this article may be filed with the clerk of any court having jurisdiction over the parties at any time after the entry of the order. Such a filing can be in a county or district court, and will thereby have the effect of a judgment from which execution may issue.

3.3 The employee may withdraw the wage complaint at any time prior to issuance of a determination by notifying the Division in writing.

3.4 The Division may exercise its discretion to have an investigation sequenced and/or divided into two or more stages on discrete questions of liability or relief (e.g., bifurcation), yielding two or more determinations and/or phases of the investigation.

3.5 Accrual, use, and other matters relating to paid leave under HFWA.

3.5.1 Accrual of HFWA leave. Paid leave begins to accrue at the commencement of employment or on January 1, 2021, whichever is later.

(A) For the minimum HFWA accrual rate of one hour of leave for every 30 hours worked, up to cap of 48 hours per benefits year (C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403(2)(a)), accrual is based on all "time worked" under Rule 1.9 of the COMPS Order, 7 CCR 1103-1, with regular and overtime hours counting equally; except under C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403(2)(c), an overtime-exempt employee accrues paid leave based on their normal hours worked up to a maximum of forty per week. Once employees have accrued 48 hours of paid leave during the benefit year, they do not accrue more, except if an employer chooses to provide paid leave in a greater amount. C.R.S. §§ 8-13.3-403(2)(a), -413.

(B) For hours accrual for purposes of C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403(2)(a), the best available, reasonable estimate shall be used for employees paid on a fee-for-service basis for which hours are not ordinarily tracked and cannot feasibly be tracked, except that higher education adjunct faculty paid on a per-credit or per-course basis shall be deemed to work three hours total for each in-class hour.

(C) On the day a public health emergency is declared within the definition of Rule 2.11, employers are required to immediately provide each employee with additional hours of paid leave, usable as of the date of the declaration, January 1, 2021, or the employee's first date of employment, whichever is later -- whatever the employee has accrued prior to the declaration of the public health emergency at the regular HFWA rate (i.e., one hour per 30 worked, up to a maximum of 48 per benefit year), and a one-time supplement with the number of hours needed for:

(1) employees who normally work forty or more hours in a week to have access to 80 hours of total paid leave; and

(2) employees who normally work under forty hours in a week to have access to paid leave hours that are at least the greater of the number of hours the employee (a) is scheduled for work or paid leave in the fourteen-day period after the leave request, or (b) actually worked in the fourteen-day period prior to the declaration of the public health emergency or the leave request, whichever is later.

(D) During the entire duration of a public health emergency (i.e., during the time between the date on which the emergency is declared and four weeks after the date of the official termination or suspension of the emergency declaration), employers:

(1) are required to permit employees to take both (a) the paid leave they have accrued prior to the declaration date of the public health emergency pursuant to C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403(2)(a), for any of the qualifying reasons provided in C.R.S. § 8-13.3-404(1), and (b) the amount of supplemental paid leave that was provided to the employee on the date of the declaration of a public health emergency, for any of the qualifying reasons provided in C.R.S. § 8-13.3-405(3);

(2) remain subject to the minimum accrual requirements of C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403(2)(a), and employees continue to accrue paid leave (up to 48 hours per benefit year); and

(3) must permit an employee to use the full amount of supplementary leave provided under C.R.S. § 8-13.3-405(1) and this rule, prior to using any of the employee's previously-accrued leave under C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403(2)(a), if an employee required leave in circumstances that qualify under both C.R.S. § 8-13.3-404(1) and C.R.S. § 8-13.3-405(3) (e.g., an employee is experiencing symptoms of a communicable illness that was the subject of the declaration of a public health emergency and needs to obtain testing and treatment).

(E) Yearly Basis for HFWA leave.

(1) Carryover. Pursuant to C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403(3)(b), "up to forty-eight hours of paid sick leave that an employee accrues in a year but does not use carries forward to, and may be used in, a subsequent year." For purposes of C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403(3)(b), "year" means "a regular and consecutive twelve-month period as determined by an employer." C.R.S. § 8-13.3-402(13). The employer shall not be required to, but may, permit an employee to carry forward more than forty-eight (48) hours of unused paid leave from one benefit year to the next. C.R.S. §§ 8-13.3-403(3)(b), -413.

(2) "Benefit year" definition. The applicable "benefit year" is the period of 12 consecutive months established by an employer in which an employee shall accrue and use earned sick leave. Unless otherwise established by an employer in a written policy, a "benefit year" is the calendar year. If an employer transitions from one type of year to another, the employer must ensure that the transition process maintains all HFWA rights, and must notify employees in writing of any such changes.

3.5.2 Pay rate and amount of HFWA leave. Under C.R.S. § 8-13.3-402(8), leave must be paid at the same rate and with the same benefits, including health benefits, as the employee normally earns during hours worked, not including overtime, bonuses, or holiday pay. Leave must be paid on the same schedule as regular wages.

(A) The pay rate for leave must be at least the applicable minimum wage~~,~~. The HFWA pay rate shall be calculated using the same rules applicable to calculating an employee's "regular rate" for overtime purposes under ~~and for employees with non-hourly pay, must be the "regular rate" as defined by~~ Rule 1.8 of the COMPS Order, 7 CCR 1103-1, except that: (1) bonuses included in the regular rate calculation are excluded from the HFWA pay rate calculation; (2) only the method in COMPS Rule 1.8.3(A) may be used for employees with variable hourly rates, except that the rate is measured over 30 days pursuant to the following subsection (3); and (3) the HFWA regular rate shall be determined based upon the employee's pay over the 30 calendar days prior to taking leave, unless the employee has not yet worked 30 calendar days in which case the longest available period shall be used. The HFWA pay rate for employees covered by Rule 3.5.1(B) shall be calculated in accordance with that Rule.~~and consistent with Rule 3.5.1(B) for any employees covered by that rule.~~

(B) The number of hours of paid HFWA leave an employee can take is the number of hours the employer reasonably anticipated they would have worked during the period of the leave, based on: (1) their regular schedule of hours actually worked; (2) or, if leave is during a period the employee was anticipated to depart from a regular schedule, then hours anticipated for that period; (3) or, if the number of hours the employee would have worked during the period cannot be reasonably anticipated, then their average hours worked during their most recent ~~month~~ 30 calendar days of work. If an employee has not yet been employed for 30 calendar days, their entitlement must be determined under 3.5.2(B)(1) or (2).

(C) Indeterminate shifts. If an employee uses paid leave for a shift of indeterminate length (for example, a shift that is defined by business needs rather than a previously specified number of hours), an employer may determine the number of paid leave hours used by the employee based on the number of hours actually worked by a replacement employee in the same shift or a similarly situated employee who works the same shift or who has worked a similar shift in the past.

(D) On-call employees are entitled to use paid leave during any hours they have been scheduled to work. Being "scheduled to work" does not include shifts for which an employee has been asked to be available or on-call, unless the employee is performing work, including any "time worked" as defined by COMPS Order, 7 CCR 1103-1, Rule 1.9. However, if an on-call employee has an agreement with an employer to be paid for a scheduled shift regardless of whether the employee actually works the shift, the employer must provide paid leave to a qualifying employee for that shift.

3.5.3 Use of HFWA leave.

(A) Because an employee "may use accrued paid sick leave as it is accrued," C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403(3)(a), HFWA leave may be used immediately upon accrual, but an employer may, in the ordinary course of business and in good faith, verify employee hours within a month after work is performed and adjust accrued leave to correct any inaccuracy, provided that the employee is so notified in writing.

(B) An employer may require use of HFWA leave in hourly increments, or may require or allow smaller minimum increments; if an employer does not specify the minimum increment in writing, employees nevertheless may not use increments smaller than a tenth of an hour (i.e., six-minute increments).

(C) An employer cannot apply an absence or attendance policy to an employee's HFWA-qualifying leave use if it could result in adverse action against the employee, including discipline, as defined in C.R.S. § 8-13.3-407(2)(b). However, after an employee has exhausted all leave required by HFWA, an employer can apply an absence or attendance policy to any absences taken by the employee.

3.5.4 Applicability of a general paid time off ("PTO") policy to HFWA leave. HFWA does not require additional leave if an employer policy provides fully paid leave for both HFWA and non-HFWA purposes (e.g., sick time and vacation) and makes clear to employees, in a writing distributed in advance of an actual or anticipated leave request, that:

(A) its leave policy provides PTO --

(1) in at least an amount of hours and with pay sufficient to satisfy HFWA and applicable rules (including, if a public health emergency is declared, a supplemental amount of leave required to satisfy C.R.S. § 8-13.3-405(1) and Rule 3.5.1(C),

(2) for all the same purposes covered by HFWA and applicable rules, not a narrower set of purposes, and

(3) under all the same conditions as under HFWA and applicable rules, not stricter or more onerous conditions (including but not limited to matters such as accrual, use, payment, annual carryover of unused accrued leave, notice and documentation requirements, and anti-retaliation and anti-interference rights); and

(B) additional HFWA leave need not be provided when employees use all of their available PTO for non-HFWA-qualifying reasons (e.g., vacation). C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403(4), except if a public health emergency is declared after an employee uses some or all available PTO for the applicable benefit year, the employer must supplement the employee's current total of accrued, unused leave pursuant to Rule 3.5.1(C).

3.5.5 Notice by employees of HFWA-qualifying leave.

(A) An employee may request leave orally or in writing, including electronically (for example, by email or text message). An employer may choose additional methods of receiving requests or notifications that it deems acceptable, but shall not restrict employees from using any method that notifies the employer effectively. C.R.S. § 8-13.3-404(2).

(B) For HFWA leave for any health-related or safety-related reason within C.R.S. § 8-

13.3-404, if the employee's need for leave is "foreseeable," (1) an employee shall make a good-faith effort to provide advance notice and a reasonable effort to schedule the leave in a manner that does not unduly disrupt employer operations, and (2) an employer may by written policy require reasonable procedures to provide notice of foreseeable leave, but shall not deny paid sick leave based on noncompliance with such a policy. C.R.S. §§ 8-13.3-404(2),(5).

(C) For HFWA leave that is "related to public health emergency" under C.R.S. § 8-13.3-405(3): An employee shall notify their employer of their need for leave as soon as practicable if (1) the need for leave is foreseeable and (2) the employer's place of business is not closed. C.R.S. § 8-13.3-405(4).

3.5.6 An employer may require "reasonable documentation" that leave is for a HFWA-qualifying purpose only if the leave requested or taken is for "four or more consecutive work days," C.R.S. § 8-13.3-404(6), defined as four consecutive days on which the employee would have ordinarily worked absent the leave-qualifying condition, not four consecutive calendar days. An employer may not require an employee to provide documentation that leave is for a qualifying reason "related to [a] public health emergency" under C.R.S. § 8-13.3-405(3),(4).

(A) When documentation is required, an employer may request only "reasonable" documentation, which is defined as not more documentation than needed to show a HFWA-qualifying reason for leave, as described in subparts (B), (C), and (D) below, and an employer shall not require disclosure of "details" regarding the employee's or family member's "health information" or the "domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking" that is the basis for HFWA leave (C.R.S. § 8-13.3-412(1)).

(B) To document leave for a health-related need under C.R.S. § 8-13.3-404(1)(a), (b):

(1) If the employee received any services (including remote services) from a health or social services provider for the HFWA-qualifying condition or need, a document from that provider, indicating a HFWA-qualifying purpose for the leave, will suffice.

(2) An employee who did not receive services from a provider for the HFWA-qualifying leave, or who cannot obtain a document from their provider in reasonable time or without added expense, can provide their own writing indicating that they took leave for a HFWA-qualifying purpose.

(C) To document leave for a safety-related need covered by C.R.S. §§ 8-13.3-404(1)(c) (i.e., domestic abuse, sexual assault, or criminal harassment): A document under subpart (B)(1) (from a health provider or a non-health provider of legal services, shelter services, social work, or other similar services) or an employee writing under (B)(2) will suffice, as will a legal document indicating a safety need that was the reason for the leave (e.g., a restraining order, other court order, or police report).

(D) Submission of documentation to an employer may be provided (1) by any reasonable method, including but not limited to electronic transmission, (2) at any time until whichever is sooner of an employee's return from leave (or termination of employment, if the employee does not return), (3) without a requirement of the employee's signature, notarization, or any other particular document format.

(E) Confidentiality of leave-related information and documentation. Any information an employer possesses regarding the health of an employee or the employee's family member, or regarding domestic abuse, sexual assault, or criminal harassment affecting an employee or employee's family member, shall be treated as confidential and may not be disclosed to any other individual except the affected employee, unless the affected employee provides written permission prior to such disclosure. C.R.S. § 8-13.3-412(2)(c). If the information is in writing, it shall be maintained on a separate form and in a separate file from other personnel information, and shall be treated as a confidential medical record by the employer. C.R.S. § 8-13.3-412(2)(a)-(b).

(F) If an employer reasonably deems an employee's documentation deficient, without imposing a requirement of providing more documentation than HFWA or applicable rules permit, prior to denying leave, the employer must: (1) notify the employee within seven days of either receiving the documentation or the employee's return to work (or termination of employment, if the employee does not return), and (2) provide the employee the minimum of seven days to cure the deficiency after the employee is notified that the employer deems the existing documentation inadequate.

3.5.7 Employer records of accrued and used paid leave hours. An employer "shall retain records for each employee for a two-year period, documenting hours worked, paid sick leave accrued, and paid sick leave used" (C.R.S. § 8-13.3-409(1)), except that two-year limit does not diminish the obligation to retain pay statement records for three years (C.R.S. § 8-4-103(4.5)). Upon an employee's request, an employer must provide, in writing or electronically, documents sufficient to show, or a dated statement containing, the then-current amount of paid leave the employee has (1) available for use ~~(including accrued leave)~~, and (2) already used during the current benefit year, including information as to any accrued leave provided and used subject to C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403 and any supplemental public health emergency-related leave provided and used subject to C.R.S. § 8-13.3-405(3). Employees may make such requests no more than once per month, except they may make an additional request when any need for HFWA leave arises. Employers may choose a reasonable system for fulfilling such requests, including but not limited to listing such information on each pay stub, using an electronic system where employees can access their own information, or providing the necessary information in a letter or electronic communication.

3.5.8 Collective bargaining agreements that provide for equivalent or more generous paid sick leave.

(A) If a bona fide collective bargaining agreement ("CBA") "provides for equivalent or more generous paid sick leave for the employees covered" (C.R.S. §~~§~~ 8-13.3-415(2),(3)), then:

(1) HFWA does not apply additional requirements (e.g. it does not require an additional 48 hours of leave when a CBA provides the same amount of leave); and

(2) HFWA does not invalidate the CBA or require its re-opening.

(B) A CBA "provides for equivalent or more generous paid sick leave" (C.R.S. §§ 8-13.3-415(2),(3)) if the CBA does not diminish any employee protections under HFWA and rules promulgated thereunder, including but not limited to the requirements in Rule 3.5.4(A) and:

(1) accrual and carryover;

(2) use and its conditions (e.g., documentation and notice to employers); and

(3) protection and effectuation of paid sick leave rights through notice to employees and prohibitions against retaliation based on, or interference with, protected activity.

(C) This Rule applies to a CBA that is either:

(1) "in effect on the effective date" of HFWA, July 14, 2020; or

(2) "initially negotiated or negotiated for the next collective bargaining agreement after th[at] effective date . . . if the requirements of this Part 4 are expressly waived in the [CBA]." (C.R.S. §§ 8-13.3-415(2),(3).)

Rule 4. Investigation

4.1 Wage complaints shall be assigned to Division compliance investigators. Investigatory methods used by the Division may include:

A. Interviews of the employer, employee, and other parties;

B. Information gathering, fact-finding, and reviews of written submissions; and

C. Any other lawful techniques that enable the Division to assess the employer's compliance.

4.2 The Division will evaluate wage complaints under the following burden of proof structure:

4.2.1 To initiate a wage complaint, an employee must provide an explanation of the basis for the complaint that is clear, specific, and shows the employee is entitled to relief. The employee must provide sufficient evidence from which both a violation of Colorado wage and hour laws and an estimate of wages due may be reasonably inferred.

4.2.2 The burden then shifts to the employer to prove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the employee is not entitled to the claimed relief. If the employer fails to meet its burden, the Division may award wages and/or penalties to the employee based on the employee's evidence.

4.2.3 If the Division concludes that wages are owed to the employee, but cannot calculate the precise amount of wages due, then the Division may award a reasonable estimate of wages due.

4.3 Any party to a wage complaint may designate an authorized representative to represent the party during the Division's administrative procedure.

4.3.1 The party may designate an authorized representative by filing the Division-approved form with the Division.

4.3.2 If not using the Division-approved form, and the authorized representative is a licensed attorney or accountant, the party or the authorized representative must provide written notice to the Division that the authorized representative will represent the party during the Division's administrative procedure.

4.3.3 If not using the Division-approved form, and the authorized representative is not a licensed attorney or accountant, the party must provide a signed written notice to the Division that the authorized representative will represent the party during the Division's administrative procedure.

4.3.4 The party may revoke the authorized representative's authority by contacting the Division in writing.

4.4 After receipt of a wage complaint that states a claim for relief, the Division will initiate the administrative procedure by sending a Notice of Complaint to the employer, along with any relevant supporting documentation submitted by the employee, via U.S. postal mail, electronic means, or personal delivery.

4.4.1 If the Notice of Complaint cannot be delivered, the administrative procedure has not been initiated. If a proper address is located or provided, the Division will resend the Notice of Complaint, and the employer's deadline to respond will be calculated from the date of the subsequent notice.

4.4.2 If the Division cannot determine the employer's correct address, it may contact the employee to request the employer's address. The Division may dismiss the wage complaint if neither the employee nor the Division can determine the employer's correct address.

4.4.3 The employer's response to the Notice of Complaint must include the completed Division Employer Response Form, as well as any additional information or documentation requested by the Division. An insufficient response from the employer may be considered a failure to respond under C.R.S. § 8-4-113(1)(b).

4.4.4 If an employer obtains a good cause extension to respond under C.R.S. § 8-4-113(1)(b), the extension does not waive or reduce penalties owed to the employee pursuant to C.R.S. § 8-4-109(3)(b) if the employer fails to pay the employee's wages within fourteen days after the Notice of Complaint is sent.

4.4.5 Where a claim, complaint, or investigation for violation of these Rules or the statutes they enforce has been filed or commenced, the employer shall preserve all relevant documents until final disposition and until the expiration of the statutory period within which a person aggrieved may bring a civil action.

4.5 After receipt and review of the employer's response, the Division may contact the employee for additional documentation or information. If the employer denies, in whole or in part, the allegations in the Notice of Complaint, and the Division determines further investigation would be beneficial, the Division shall send to the employee any relevant supporting documentation submitted by the employer. If the employee does not respond to the request for additional documentation or information by the deadline given, the Division will make a determination based on the information in the record.

4.6 All parties to a wage complaint are responsible for ensuring the Division has current contact information.

4.6.1 All parties must promptly notify the Division of any change in contact information, including mailing address, email address, and phone number.

4.6.2 Parties should not rely on the U.S. Postal Service to forward mail. Failure to respond to a notice because mail was not forwarded to a new address will not be excused.

4.7 In any Division investigation, proceeding, or other action, if information is provided to the Division by a source requesting confidentiality, and that information is used only as a basis for procuring other evidence, not offered as evidence itself, then the source shall remain confidential. Any such confidential source is unlawful to disclose (unless the source consents) in any administrative or judicial proceeding, in response to any records or information request, or in any other manner, in order to effectuate statutory requirements including but not limited to the following:

(A) If information is properly treated as confidential, the Division "shall provide a physical environment and establish policies and procedures to ensure confidentiality for all information regarding any employer, employee, or person pertaining to any action pursuant to articles 1 to 13" (C.R.S. § 8-1-115);

(B) "No employer shall intimidate, threaten, restrain, coerce, blacklist, discharge, or in any manner discriminate against any employee who has filed any complaint or instituted or caused to be instituted any proceeding under this article or related law or who has testified or may testify in any proceeding on behalf of himself, herself, or another regarding afforded protections under this article (C.R.S. § 8-4-120);

(C) It is unlawful to "discharge[] or threaten[] to discharge, or in any other way discriminate[] against an employee" because s/he "may testify in any investigation or proceeding relative to enforcement of this article" (C.R.S. § 8-6-115); and

(D) It is unlawful to take adverse action based on "participat[in]g in an investigation, hearing, or proceeding or cooperat[ing] with or assist[ing] the Division in its investigations of alleged violations" of HFWA (C.R.S. §§ 8-13.3-402(10), -407).

4.8 Immigration status is irrelevant to wage rights and responsibilities, including the right to access paid leave without retaliation or interference under HFWA, and the Division shall assure that wage rights and responsibilities apply regardless of immigration status, including but not limited to as follows.

4.8.1 The Division will not voluntarily provide any person or entity information concerning the immigration status of (a) a party to a wage claim, (b) a person offering information concerning a wage claim, or (c) a person with a relationship with anyone in categories (a) or (b).

4.8.2 Any effort to use a person's immigration status to negatively impact the wage and hour law rights, responsibilities, or proceedings of any person or entity is an unlawful act of obstruction, retaliation, and/or extortion, based on statutory provisions including but not limited to the following that make it unlawful:

(A) For "any person" to "hinder[] or obstruct[] the director or any such person authorized by the director in the exercise of any power conferred by this article," including but not limited to wage investigations, rulemakings, or adjudicative or judicial proceedings (C.R.S. § 8-1-116(2));

(B) For an employer to "intimidate, threaten, restrain, coerce, blacklist, discharge, or in any manner discriminate against any employee who has filed any complaint or instituted or caused to be instituted any proceeding under this article or related law or who has testified or may testify in any proceeding on behalf of himself, herself, or another regarding afforded protections under this article" (C.R.S. § 8-4-120);

(C) For any person to "threaten[] to report to law enforcement officials the immigration status of the threatened person or another person" to "induce another person" to give up money "or another item of value" (C.R.S. § 18-3-207(1.5)), including inducing the surrender of any "tangible and intangible personal property, contract rights, choses in action, [or] services … , and any rights of use or enjoyment connected therewith" (C.R.S. § 18-1-901); and

(D) For an employer to deny "any right guaranteed under" HFWA, or to take "any adverse action against an employee for exercising any right guaranteed" by HFWA (C.R.S. §§ 8-13.3-402(10), -407).

Rule 5. Determination

5.1 Upon conclusion of the investigation of a wage complaint, the Division will issue a determination.

5.1.1 The Division shall send the determination to all parties via U.S. postal mail, electronic means, or personal delivery on the date the determination is issued by the Division's compliance investigator. The Division shall notify the parties of their termination and any appeal rights pursuant to C.R.S. § 8-4-111(3) and C.R.S. § 8-4-111.5(1).

5.1.2 The date of "issuance" of the Division's determination, as used in C.R.S. § 8-4-111(3), is the date the Division's determination is "sent," as used in C.R.S. § 8-4-111.5(1). Both the termination and appeal deadlines are calculated from the date the Division's determination is originally issued and sent to the parties.

5.1.3 If any copies of the decision are sent to the parties after the date the Division's determination is originally issued and sent to the parties, those copies are provided only as a courtesy and do not change the thirty-five day appeal and termination deadlines.

5.1.4 Determinations by the Division may include the following remedies, depending on which, if any, the Division's findings support:

(A) monetary or other relief authorized by the statute(s) under which the wage complaint was filed, including but not limited to, where applicable --

(1) any unpaid wages, penalties, and/or fines under C.R.S. Title 8, Articles 1, 4, 6, and 13.3;

(2) if a claim under C.R.S. Title 8, Article 13.3 (HFWA) cost the employee a job or pay, back pay plus either reinstatement or (if reinstatement is infeasible) front pay for a reasonable period; and/or

(3) other fines or penalties authorized by statutes applicable to the complaint;

(B) fines or penalties authorized by the statutes on Division investigative and enforcement authority in C.R.S. Title 8, Articles 1, 4, 6, and 13.3; and/or

(C) order(s) to cease non-compliance and/or effectuate compliance, as authorized by the statute(s) under which the complaint was filed and statutes on Division investigative and enforcement authority in C.R.S. Title 8, Article 1, 4, 6, and 13.3.

Rule 6. Appeal

6.1.1 Parties are encouraged, though not required, to use the Division's appeal form. A valid appeal is a written statement that is timely filed with the Division, explains the clear error in the determination that is the basis for the appeal, and has been signed by the party or the party's authorized representative.

6.1.2 No appeal will be heard and no hearing will be held unless the appeal is received by the Division within thirty-five calendar days of the date the determination is sent. It is the responsibility of the party filing the appeal to ensure the appeal is received by the Division within the thirty-five day filing deadline.

6.1.3 Upon receipt of the appeal, the Division will notify the parties of the date of the hearing and any interim deadlines via U.S. postal mail, electronic means, or personal delivery.

6.1.4 Upon receipt of the appeal, the Division will send a copy of the appeal and a copy of the record of its investigation to the parties via U.S. postal mail, electronic means, or personal delivery. All evidence submitted to the Division as part of the investigation is part of the record on appeal and need not be resubmitted.

6.2 Parties who timely file a valid appeal of the Division's determination will be afforded an administrative appeal hearing before a Division hearing officer. Parties may appear by telephone.

6.3 The parties may submit new testimonial evidence to the hearing officer in accordance with deadlines imposed by the Division. The parties may submit new documentary or other non-testimonial evidence in accordance with deadlines imposed by the Division and upon showing "good cause," which may be assessed based on any relevant factors, including but not limited to:

6.3.1 That the new evidence was previously not known or obtainable, despite diligent evidence-gathering efforts by the party offering the new evidence;

6.3.2 That the party failed to receive fair notice of the investigation or of a key filing by another party or by the Division to which the new evidence is responsive;

6.3.3 That factors outside the control of the party prevented a timely action or interfered with the opportunity to act, except that the acts and omissions of a party's authorized representative are considered the acts and omissions of the party and are not considered to be a factor outside the party's control as intended by this rule;

6.3.4 That a determination raised a new issue or argument that cannot be responded to adequately without the new evidence;

6.3.5 That, at the investigation stage, the party offering new evidence requested more time to submit evidence, yet was denied, and in the hearing officer's judgment (a) the need for more time was legitimate and did not reflect neglect by the party, (b) the denial of the request for more time was unwarranted, and (c) exclusion of the evidence would cause substantial injustice to the party; and/or

6.3.6 That failure to admit the evidence otherwise would cause substantial injustice and did not arise from neglect by the party.

6.4 New evidence must be sent to all other parties to the appeal. Failure to send all new evidence to all other parties to the appeal may result in the evidence being excluded from the record.

6.5 If the party who filed the appeal does not participate in the hearing, the appeal may be dismissed.

6.6 All testimony at a hearing must be recorded by the Division but need not be transcribed unless the hearing officer's decision is appealed.

6.7 The hearing officer may, upon the application of any party or on his or her own motion, convene a prehearing conference to discuss the issues on appeal, the evidence to be presented, and any other relevant matters that may simplify further proceedings.

6.8 The hearing officer will decide whether the Division's determination is based on a clear error of fact or law.

6.9 The hearing officer shall not engage in ex parte communication with any party to an appeal.

6.10 An appeal may, in the discretion of the hearing officer, be sequenced and/or divided into two or more stages on discrete questions of liability and/or relief (e.g., bifurcation), yielding two or more decisions and/or phases of the appeal.

6.11 The hearing officer's decision constitutes a final agency action pursuant to C.R.S. § 24-4-106. The Division shall promptly provide all parties with a copy of the hearing officer's decision via U.S. postal mail, electronic means, or personal delivery. The Division shall notify the parties of their appeal rights pursuant to C.R.S. § 8-4-111.5(5).

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING CONCERNING PROPOSED RULES:

Notice is hereby given of a public hearing to afford all interested persons an opportunity to be heard prior to adoption of the below three sets of proposed rules, under authority granted to the Division of Labor Standards and Statistics by the Administrative Procedure Act, C.R.S. § 24-4-103, and provisions of C.R.S. Title 8, Articles 1, 2, 4, 6, 12, 13.3, and 13.5, including but not limited to the statutory sections cited in Rule 1 of COMPS Order #38 (7 CCR 1103-1), Rule 1 of Wage Protection Rules (7 CCR 1103-7), and Rule 2 of the 2022 PAY CALC Order (7 CCR 1103-14), all of which proposed rules accompany and are incorporated into this notice.

(1) 2022 Publication And Yearly Calculation of Adjusted Labor Compensation Order ("2022 PAY CALC Order," or "PAY CALC"), 7 CCR 1103-14 (effective January 1, 2022). This new set of rules serves to calculate and publish pay and income figures — e.g., Colorado minimum wages, and minimum earnings levels for various full or partial labor law exemptions — that adjust annually or other periodic bases under the Colorado Overtime and Minimum Pay Standards Order ("COMPS Order," or "COMPS"), 7 CCR 1103-1, or other laws. The pay and income figures in PAY CALC previously were (or, for figures new in 2022, would have been) published in various provisions throughout the COMPS Order. PAY CALC consolidates and facilitates access to such figures by consolidating all of them into an annually published one-page rule, with PAY CALC and COMPS each referencing and incorporating the other.

(2) Colorado Overtime and Minimum Pay Standards Order ("COMPS Order," or "COMPS") #38, 7 CCR 1103-1 (effective January 1, 2022). These rules amend the prior version of COMPS (Order #37, 2021), Colorado's broad set of wage and hour rules, as follows (in addition to certain non-substantive edits):

(A) removing annually or otherwise periodically adjusted pay and income figures — e.g., Colorado minimum wages, and minimum earnings levels for various full or partial labor law exemptions — from the various COMPS provisions where each has appeared, and replacing them with references to the PAY CALC Order (described above), which now consolidates all such figures;

(B) adding an exemption for "highly compensated employees" not covered by other existing exemptions, substantially similar to the exemption under the federal Fair Labor Standards Act;

(C) adding rules on minimum wages, overtime and maximum hours protections, and meal and rest periods for agricultural employees, pursuant to the Colorado Senate Bill 21-87 requirements that agricultural employees be provided such rights, and that the Division promulgate rules accordingly; and

(D) Rules further detailing how to calculate the "regular rate of pay" of an employee with more than one hourly rate, and expanding this definition to other uses of "regular rate of pay" in the COMPS Order other than calculation of the overtime rate, are added.

(3) Wage Protection Rules, 7 CCR 1103-7 (effective January 1, 2022). These rules amend the Wage Protection Act Rules, 7 CCR 1103-7, which implement the Colorado Wage Act ("CWA," as amended by the Wage Protection Act ("WPA"), C.R.S. § 8-4-101 et seq.), Healthy Families and Workplaces Act ("HFWA," C.R.S. § 8-13.3-401 et seq.), and Agricultural Labor Rights and Responsibilities Act (codified in relevant part at C.R.S. §§ 8-6-101.5, 8-6-120, 8-13.5-201 et seq.), as follows (in addition to certain non-substantive edits):

(A) defining "vacation pay," following a court ruling that vacation pay is non-forfeitable;

(B) clarifying the pay rates and hours for HFWA leave for employees with certain irregular pay or hours;

(C) confirming the acceptability of electronic signatures at the Division;

(D) clarifying employers' HFWA record-keeping requirements; and

(E) clarifying the HFWA exemption for when a CBA provides equivalent or more generous leave.

STATEMENT OF BASIS, PURPOSE, SPECIFIC STATUTORY AUTHORITY, AND FINDINGS

Wage Protection Rules, 7 CCR 1103-7 (2022), as proposed September 29, 2021; to be followed and replaced by a final Statement at the conclusion of the rulemaking process.

I. BASIS: The Director ("Director") of the Division of Labor Standards and Statistics ("Division") has authority to adopt rules and regulations on wage-and-hour and workplace conditions, under the authority listed in Part II, which is incorporated into Part I as well. These rules update the existing Wage Protection Act Rules, 7 CCR 1103-7, which implement the Colorado Wage Act ("CWA") as amended by the Wage Protection Act ("WPA") of 2014, C.R.S. § 8-4-101 et seq., the Healthy Families and Workplaces Act ("HFWA") of 2020, C.R.S. § 8-13.3-401 et seq., and the Agricultural Labor Rights and Responsibilities Act, as codified in relevant part at C.R.S. §§ 8-6-101.5, 8-6-120, and 8-13.5-201 et seq.

II. SPECIFIC STATUTORY AUTHORITY: The Director is authorized to adopt and amend rules and regulations to enforce, execute, apply, and interpret Articles 1, 2, 4, 6, 13.3, and 13.5 of Title 8, C.R.S. (2021), and all rules, regulations, investigations, and other proceedings of any kind thereunder, by the Administrative Procedure Act, C.R.S. § 24-4-103, and provisions of Articles 1, 2, 4, 6, 13.3, and 13.5, including §§ 8-1-101, 103, 107, 108, 111, 130; § 8-4-111; §§ 8-6-102, 104, 105, 106, 108, 109, 111, 116, 117, 120; § 8-12-115; §§ 8-13.3-401, 403-405, 407-411, 416; and § 8-13.5-202, 203, 204.

III. FINDINGS, JUSTIFICATIONS, AND REASONS FOR ADOPTION. Pursuant to C.R.S. § 24-4-103(4)(b), the Director finds as follows: (A) demonstrated need exists for these rules, as detailed in the findings in Part IV, which are incorporated into this finding as well; (B) proper statutory authority exists for the rules, as detailed in the list of statutory authority in Part II, which is incorporated into this finding as well; (C) to the extent practicable, the rules are clearly stated so that their meaning will be understood by any party required to comply; (D) the rules do not conflict with other provisions of law; and (E) any duplicating or overlapping has been minimized and is explained by the Division.

IV. SPECIFIC FINDINGS FOR ADOPTION. The Director's specific findings for adoption (the "Findings") are as follows.

A. Rule 2.17: Vacation pay.

Under the Colorado Wage Act ("Wage Act"), C.R.S. § 8-4-101(14)(a)(III), vacation pay is a form of wages, and departing workers must be paid all unused vacation leave they had accrued. But when if ever a departing employee's unused vacation could be deemed forfeit was under dispute for years in the courts, until a recent Colorado Supreme Court decision. On June 14, 2021, the Colorado Supreme Court in Nieto v. Clark's Market, Inc., 2021 CO 48, issued a unanimous, strongly-worded decision affirming the validity of, and agreeing with, the Division's interpretation in Wage Protection Rule 2.17 that wage law "does not allow a forfeiture of any earned (accrued) vacation pay" in an employment policy or agreement, and thus that paying departing employees their earned, unused vacation pay is a guaranteed right that cannot be forfeited once vacation pay is accrued.[1] The Court worded that right broadly and categorically: while an employer need not have vacation pay at all, > when an employer chooses to provide it, such pay is no less protected than other wages or compensation and, thus, cannot be forfeited once earned. Accordingly, under the CWCA, all vacation pay that is earned and determinable must be paid at the end of the employment relationship, see §§ 8-4-101(14)(a)(III), -109(1)(a), C.R.S. (2020), and any term of an agreement that purports to forfeit earned vacation pay is void, see § 8-4-121, C.R.S. (2020).[2]

Nieto emphasized, as relevant to vacation pay, that the Wage Act is "a remedial statute" that "must be liberally construed to carry out its purpose," including "to protect employees from exploitation, fraud, and oppression."[3]

[3] Id. at ¶ 27.

Yet though the Supreme Court now has clarified and directed that "all" vacation pay (Nieto, ¶ 3) is non-forfeitable and must be paid upon separation, no statute or rule defines what "all vacation pay" includes. That leaves unclear the treatment of paid leave with names like "annual leave," "paid time off," or "personal days." Unclear vacation pay protection has, to the detriment of both employers and employees, led to more litigated disputes on what is and is not protected vacation pay, plus many more disputes that, in the Division's experience, never go to court but leave employers and employees in contentious disagreements on what employers do and do not have to pay. Accordingly, proposed Rule 2.17 now provides a definition of what does and does not qualify as the "vacation pay" that, Nieto instructs, must be protected against forfeiture and paid upon separation.

The Division has researched how "vacation pay" is defined in the several other states with a similar vacation pay statute. Every such state that Division research found to have a similar statute, and to have addressed the issue, has applied the same distinction, which the Division finds to be sound, and consistent with Nieto.[4] Proposed Rule 2.17.1 therefore assures that Colorado will follow that consensus among the states, as follows:

(A) What is not "vacation" payable upon separation is leave that is conditional: usable only "upon occurrence of a qualifying event, such as a medical need, a caretaking requirement, bereavement, or a holiday" (Proposed R. 2.17.1). Employees have no "banked" entitlement to leave they earn only when and if a qualifying condition occurs. An employee who departs with 6 vacation and 4 sick days accrued must be paid only for the former 6 days, not the latter 4 days.

(B) What is "vacation" payable upon separation is any earned, determinable paid leave, whether or not called vacation, "usable at the employee's discretion (other than procedural requirements such as notice and approval of particular dates)." If an employee departs with accrued days of paid time off by any name that are usable for both vacation and other needs (illness, etc.), under employment

App. 2011) (regardless of the "name [that] is given to the leave" at issue, what distinguishes paid "vacation time" from other other forms of paid time is whether the paid time "is conditioned upon the occurrence of a specific event or granted for a particular purpose. For example ... some employers offer paid time off for illness, bereavement, or other specific reasons. The employee's right to this type of leave vests when the reason for the leave arises, as when the employee falls ill or a family member dies ... [and] the employee is typically expected to use the leave for the identified purpose" — whereas "vacation time" is paid time off that "is not conditioned upon the occurrence of any event or condition."); Cal. Under the policy, employees earn a certain amount of 'paid time off' that they can use for any purpose, including vacation and sick leave. Because employees have an absolute right to take this time off (unlike traditional sick leave in which using sick leave is contingent upon illness), the Department will treat 'paid time off' as earned vacation days.")

Louisiana: Davis v. St. Francisville Country Manor, L.L.C., 136 So. 3d 20, 24 (La. Ct. The right to compensation vests as an eligible employee accrues the paid time off.").

Massachusetts: Mass. Att'y Gen'l, Fair Labor Div., Advisory #99/1 (to defeat a claim that the entire amount of paid time off is payable, employer must show it designated only a specific portion of annual leave for discretionary use as vacation) (https://www.mass.gov/files/documents/2016/08/rt/vacation-advisory.pdf); Catapult Tech. v. Wolfe, No. 997, 2007 Md. App. Lexis 165, at *15-16 (Ct. Spec. App. Aug. 20, 2007) ("universal leave" is earned wages, payable at separation).

North Carolina: N.C. Dep't of Labor, "Promised Wages Including Wage Benefits," (www.labor.nc.gov/workplace-rights/employee-rights-regarding-time-worked-and-wages-earned/promised-wages-including) ("'Wage benefits' are benefits such as, but not limited to, vacation pay (including PTO and PDO leave), sick leave, jury duty pay, and holiday pay. Once a promise is made ... the employer must pay all promised wages, including wage benefits, accruing to its employees based on any policy, agreement or practice that the employer has established.").

Nebraska: Fisher v. Payflex Systems USA, 829 N.W.2d 703, 710-11 (Neb. 2013) ("Regardless of the label" the employer uses, "vacation pay" includes any leave that "is not conditioned upon an event, such as a holiday, an illness, or a funeral," and that an employee may use "for any personal reason without conditions").

terms that allow using all of those days for vacation, then they must be paid for all such days.

If paid time off is usable upon accrual, without any qualifying event, then employees may count on their right to those wages, because that right has no preconditions. They may choose to "bank" it for future use, rather than feel compelled to use it all rapidly when they anticipate (or fear) their job ending. Consistent with the Wage Act's purposes, this definition looks to economic realities, rather than allow formalities to carry the day: the label parties assign is not determinative; departing employees must be paid for any leave that meets the "vacation pay" definition, regardless of what anyone calls it.[5] This is consistent with the realities of how employees may use vacation pay instead of other paid leave: they may use vacation days, for example, to stay home if they are sick but lack (or ran out of) sick days, or for any other reason they may prefer using vacation rather than sick days.

Accordingly, Rule 2.17.1 aims to provide clarity by codifying the Division's interpretation, based on the Nieto mandate that "all vacation pay that is earned and determinable must be paid," which in turn affirmed the existing Rule 2.17 language that "does not allow a forfeiture of any earned (accrued) vacation pay" — all of which conforms to the strong consensus among other states with similar statutes: Whatever it's called, if it's pay usable for vacation, then it's vacation pay, even if it's usable for non-vacation purposes too. The Division considered relying on case-by-case decision-making to elaborate this distinction, rather than promulgate a rule. But the Division is charged by law with enforcing and interpreting wage law, and case-by-case decision-making is an unpredictable, delayed, and less transparent way to provide clarity and enforcement as to a wage right and responsibility as frequently disputed, and with as unclear a recent history, as vacation pay. Awaiting rulings with no definition established by rule or statute would not only perpetuate the lack of clarity that proliferates disputes, but also risk surprising employers not aware of the implications of Nieto or the consensus among other states that Colorado is following. Accordingly, the Division finds that rulemaking to clarify and disclose a "vacation pay" definition is superior to the alternative of simply issuing case-by-case rulings applying that interpretation.

B. Rule 3.5.2: Rate of Pay and Number of Hours for Paid Leave Required by HFWA.

In 2020, the General Assembly passed the Healthy Families and Workplaces Act ("HFWA"), C.R.S. § 8-13.3-401 et seq., providing for accrual of paid leave for a range of health and safety needs.[6] Proposed Rule 3.5.2 contains additional provisions on how to calculate the number of hours, and rate of pay, for HFWA leave. These provisions arise from the Division's experience since promulgating Rule 3.5.2, and clarify the Rule's application to various unusual situations — where an employee has: (a) a variable pay rate; (b) not yet worked for 30 days; (c) indeterminate shifts that are open-ended in length and end at a time dictated by business needs rather than at a set time; or (d) "on call" hours. The Proposed Rule also clarifies that calculation of the HFWA rate of pay differs from calculation of the COMPS Rule 1.8 overtime "regular rate" in several respects: exclusion of bonuses as HFWA requires; use of a 30-day period as the basis for calculation instead of a single workweek; and for employees with variable rates, use of a weighted average rather than an alternative method applicable only to overtime. Calculation of an employee's rate of pay under Rule 3.5.2 may also be affected by related "regular rate" definition clarifications in proposed Rule 1.8.3 of the COMPS Order, proposed simultaneously with these rules.

C. Rule 3.5.7: Clarifying Applicability of Recordkeeping to All Forms of HFWA Leave.

An edit in proposed Rule 3.5.7 clarifies that the employer obligation to provide HFWA leave records applies to leave taken under either C.R.S. § 8-13.3-403 (accrued leave) or 405 (public health emergency leave).

Claim Appeals Office*, 2019 CO 43, ¶ 2, 441 P.3d 1005, 1007 (analyzing employment relationship by "the realities of [the employer's] relationship with its cleaners," not its formal characterization of the workers' status as independent contractors); Dana's Housekeeping v. Butterfield, 807 P.2d 1218, 1221 (Colo. App. 1990) (refusing to "give determinative weight to the parties'... agreement" as to the nature of the parties' relationship, because "the way parties refer to themselves does not determine whether a claimant is an independent contractor or an employee"); *Jackson Cartage, Inc. v. D. Rule 3.5.8: Test for Whether a CBA Provides "Equivalent or More Generous Leave" to HFWA.

An edit in proposed Rule 3.5.8 clarifies when an employer is exempt from providing HFWA leave due to a CBA providing "equivalent or more generous leave," by cross-referencing Rule 3.5.4(A) governing "equivalent or more generous" paid time off policies, and making clear that a qualifying CBA must likewise meet these requirements as well as those in Rule 3.5.8. The Rule 3.5.4(A) requirements include: a written and distributed policy providing for leave in an amount of hours and with pay to satisfy HFWA and implementing rules, and for all the same purposes and under all the same conditions as provided by HFWA and implementing rules.

E. Rule 2.20: Signature Requirements.

Proposed Rule 2.20 clarifies that wherever a "signature" is required on any document related to a claim or Division proceeding, an electronic signature, including a typed signature, is sufficient. This clarification is within Division discretion to manage matters within its jurisdiction; the Wage Act has no specific signature requirement, and the Colorado Uniform Electronic Transactions Act ("UETA") lets state agencies accept electronic signatures, C.R.S. § 24-71.3-118. Accepting electronic signatures reduces barriers to accessing Division services, respects parties' intent in submitting documents, and reduces the likelihood of non-substantive disputes about formalities. Proposed Rule 2.20 also recognizes the validity of signatures by representatives authorized to sign on filers' behalf.

V. EFFECTIVE DATE. These rules take effect January 1, 2022, or as soon thereafter as the rulemaking process is completed.

Subjects and issues involved

This new set of rules serves to calculate and publish pay and income figures e.g., Colorado minimum wages, and minimum earnings levels for various full or partial labor law exemptions that adjust annually or other periodic bases under the Colorado Overtime and Minimum Pay Standards Order (COMPS Order, or COMPS), 7 CCR 1103-1, or other laws. The pay and income figures in PAY CALC previously were (or, for figures new in 2022, would have been) published in various provisions throughout the COMPS Order. PAY CALC consolidates and facilitates access to such figures by consolidating all of them into an annually published one-page rule, with PAY CALC and COMPS each referencing and incorporating the other.

Statutory authority

These Rules are issued under the authority, and as enforcement, of Section 15 of Article XVIII of the Colorado Constitution and Articles 1, 2, 4, 6, and 12 of C.R.S. Title 8 (2022), and are intended to be consistent with the State Administrative Procedures Act, C.R.S. § 24-4-101, et seq.

Title 8 (2022), and is intended to be consistent with the State Administrative Procedures Act, C.R.S. § 24-4-101, et seq. Hereby incorporated by reference into this rule are 29 C.F.R. Part 541 Subpart G; Colo. Const. art. XVIII, § 15 (2022); Title 8, Articles 1, 4, 6, 12, and 13.3 of the Colorado Revised Statutes (2022); the COMPS Order, 7 CCR 1103-1 (2022); the Wage Protection Rules, 7 CCR 1103-7 (2022); and the Direct Investigation Rules, 7 CCR 1103-8 (2022). Earlier versions of such laws and rules may apply to events that occurred in prior years. Incorporation excludes later amendments to or editions of the constitution, statutes, and rules; all cited laws are incorporated in the forms that are in effect as of the effective date of this PAY CALC Order. Where these Rules reference another rule, the reference shall be deemed to include all subparts of the referenced rule. Where these Rules have provisions different from or contrary to any incorporated or referenced material, the provisions of these Rules govern, so long as they are consistent with Colorado statutory and constitutional provisions. All sources cited or incorporated by reference are available for public inspection at the Colorado Department of Labor and Employment, Division of Labor Standards & Statistics, 633 17th Street, Denver CO 80202. For information on federal law, contact the U.S. Department of Labor, Wage and Hour Division.

2.3 Separability. These Rules are intended to remain in effect to the maximum extent possible. If any part (including any section, sentence, clause, phrase, word, or number) is held invalid, (A) the remainder of the Rules remain valid, and (B) if the provision is held not wholly invalid, but merely in need of narrowing, the provision should be retained in narrowed form.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING CONCERNING PROPOSED RULES:

Notice is hereby given of a public hearing to afford all interested persons an opportunity to be heard prior to adoption of the below three sets of proposed rules, under authority granted to the Division of Labor Standards and Statistics by the Administrative Procedure Act, C.R.S. § 24-4-103, and provisions of C.R.S. Title 8, Articles 1, 2, 4, 6, 12, 13.3, and 13.5, including but not limited to the statutory sections cited in Rule 1 of COMPS Order #38 (7 CCR 1103-1), Rule 1 of Wage Protection Rules (7 CCR 1103-7), and Rule 2 of the 2022 PAY CALC Order (7 CCR 1103-14), all of which proposed rules accompany and are incorporated into this notice.

(1) 2022 Publication And Yearly Calculation of Adjusted Labor Compensation Order ("2022 PAY CALC Order," or "PAY CALC"), 7 CCR 1103-14 (effective January 1, 2022). This new set of rules serves to calculate and publish pay and income figures — e.g., Colorado minimum wages, and minimum earnings levels for various full or partial labor law exemptions — that adjust annually or other periodic bases under the Colorado Overtime and Minimum Pay Standards Order ("COMPS Order," or "COMPS"), 7 CCR 1103-1, or other laws. The pay and income figures in PAY CALC previously were (or, for figures new in 2022, would have been) published in various provisions throughout the COMPS Order. PAY CALC consolidates and facilitates access to such figures by consolidating all of them into an annually published one-page rule, with PAY CALC and COMPS each referencing and incorporating the other.

(2) Colorado Overtime and Minimum Pay Standards Order ("COMPS Order," or "COMPS") #38, 7 CCR 1103-1 (effective January 1, 2022). These rules amend the prior version of COMPS (Order #37, 2021), Colorado's broad set of wage and hour rules, as follows (in addition to certain non-substantive edits):

(A) removing annually or otherwise periodically adjusted pay and income figures — e.g., Colorado minimum wages, and minimum earnings levels for various full or partial labor law exemptions — from the various COMPS provisions where each has appeared, and replacing them with references to the PAY CALC Order (described above), which now consolidates all such figures;

(B) adding an exemption for "highly compensated employees" not covered by other existing exemptions, substantially similar to the exemption under the federal Fair Labor Standards Act;

(C) adding rules on minimum wages, overtime and maximum hours protections, and meal and rest periods for agricultural employees, pursuant to the Colorado Senate Bill 21-87 requirements that agricultural employees be provided such rights, and that the Division promulgate rules accordingly; and

(D) Rules further detailing how to calculate the "regular rate of pay" of an employee with more than one hourly rate, and expanding this definition to other uses of "regular rate of pay" in the COMPS Order other than calculation of the overtime rate, are added.

(3) Wage Protection Rules, 7 CCR 1103-7 (effective January 1, 2022). These rules amend the Wage Protection Act Rules, 7 CCR 1103-7, which implement the Colorado Wage Act ("CWA," as amended by the Wage Protection Act ("WPA"), C.R.S. § 8-4-101 et seq.), Healthy Families and Workplaces Act ("HFWA," C.R.S. § 8-13.3-401 et seq.), and Agricultural Labor Rights and Responsibilities Act (codified in relevant part at C.R.S. §§ 8-6-101.5, 8-6-120, 8-13.5-201 et seq.), as follows (in addition to certain non-substantive edits):

(A) defining "vacation pay," following a court ruling that vacation pay is non-forfeitable;

(B) clarifying the pay rates and hours for HFWA leave for employees with certain irregular pay or hours;

(C) confirming the acceptability of electronic signatures at the Division;

(D) clarifying employers' HFWA record-keeping requirements; and

(E) clarifying the HFWA exemption for when a CBA provides equivalent or more generous leave.

STATEMENT OF BASIS, PURPOSE, SPECIFIC STATUTORY AUTHORITY, AND FINDINGS

2022 Publication And Yearly Calculation of Adjusted Labor Compensation ("2022 PAY CALC") Order, 7 CCR 1103-14 (2022), as proposed September 29, 2021; to be followed and replaced by a final Statement at the conclusion of the rulemaking process.

I. BASIS: The Director ("Director") of the Division of Labor Standards and Statistics ("Division") has authority to adopt rules and regulations on wage-and-hour and workplace conditions, under the authority listed in Part II, which is incorporated into Part I as well.

II. SPECIFIC STATUTORY AUTHORITY: These Rules are issued under the authority, and as enforcement, of Section 15 of Article XVIII of the Colorado Constitution and Articles 1, 2, 4, 6, and 12 of C.R.S. Title 8 (2022), and are intended to be consistent with the State Administrative Procedures Act, C.R.S. § 24-4-101, et seq.

III. FINDINGS, JUSTIFICATIONS, AND REASONS FOR ADOPTION. Pursuant to C.R.S. § 24-4-103(4)(b), the Director finds as follows: (A) demonstrated need exists for these rules, as detailed in the findings in Part IV, which are incorporated into this finding as well; (B) proper statutory authority exists for the rules, as detailed in the list of statutory authority in Part II, which is incorporated into this finding as well; (C) to the extent practicable, the rules are clearly stated so that their meaning will be understood by any party required to comply; (D) the rules do not conflict with other provisions of law; and (E) any duplicating or overlapping has been minimized and is explained by the Division.

IV. SPECIFIC FINDINGS FOR ADOPTION. Pursuant to C.R.S.§ 24-4-103(6), the Director finds as follows. This 2022 Publication And Yearly Calculation of Adjusted Labor Compensation Order ("PAY CALC Order," or "PAY CALC"), 7 CCR 1103-14, a new set of rules with an effective date of January 1, 2022, serves to publish pay and income levels — most notably, the Colorado minimum wage and the minimum pay for various labor law exemptions — that adjust periodically under the Colorado Overtime and Minimum Pay Standards Order ("COMPS Order," or "COMPS"), 7 CCR 1103-1, or other laws. PAY CALC incorporates COMPS and other relevant labor laws by reference.

Publishing pay and income levels in PAY CALC, rather than within COMPS, serves two key purposes. First, it alleviates the annual need to revise the COMPS Order, a wide-ranging set of labor rules of which pay and income levels are only a small part, in years when the sole purpose of a revision would be to update certain pay and income levels. Second, it improves accessibility of key information, such as the upcoming year's minimum wage and exemption salaries, to publish it in PAY CALC, an annual issuance that (A) is short (unlike COMPS, a necessarily lengthy set of labor rules), and (B) has all relevant pay and income levels in a straightforward table on page one (unlike COMPS, which necessarily is organized by rule topic, leaving pay and income levels scattered throughout its various rules), which explains the nature of future increases, and refers the reader to the underlying rule text for additional detail on each published value.

PAY CALC and COMPS calculations are executed based on Section 15 of Colorado Constitution Article XVIII ("Colorado's minimum wage is … adjusted annually for cost of living increases, as measured by the Consumer Price Index ('CPI') used for Colorado"); C.R.S. Title 6, Article 8; and the COMPS Order. Inflation-adjusted values applicable to PAY CALC and COMPS are based on the CPI used for Colorado, the Denver-Aurora-Lakewood CPI published by the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics. Each year's pay levels are published in that year's Minimum Wage Order (through 2020), COMPS Order (in 2020 and 2021), and/or PAY CALC Order (as of 2022). Subsequent years' minimum and exempt wage calculations will be published in each subsequent year's annual PAY CALC Order. Prior years' requirements are detailed in prior PAY CALC, COMPS, and/or Minimum Wage Orders in effect when the wages were owed.

To effectuate the mandate of Section 15 of Article XVIII of the Colorado Constitution, C.R.S. § 8-6-101(3)(a)(II), and COMPS Rule 3.1 that employees must be paid not less than the prior year's minimum wage adjusted for inflation, Division rules must round up, to the nearest cent, any fractional cents yielded by that inflation adjustment. For 2022, an inflation adjustment to the 2022 minimum wage ($12.32) of +1.9%, the mid-2020 to mid-2021 increase in the relevant CPI, yields $12.55408. To guarantee that employees receive not less than $12.55408 per hour, that figure must be rounded up, yielding the 2022 minimum wage of $12.56 per hour. Other than in annually calculating the minimum wage, Division rules calculate pay levels by rounding fractional cents up for values of at least 0.5, and down for values under 0.5.

V. EFFECTIVE DATE. These rules take effect January 1, 2022, or as soon thereafter as rulemaking is completed.

1.5 Assessing and Collecting Premiums

1.5.1 Election, Withdrawal, and Cancellation of Coverage for Self-Employed Persons

A. Self-employed persons may elect coverage under 8-13.3-514 C.R.S.

1. Notice of election of coverage must be submitted to the Division online or in another format approved by the Division.
2. Election coverage begins on the first day of the calendar quarter immediately following the notice of election.
3. A period of coverage is defined as:

    (a) Three years following the first day of elective coverage or any gap in coverage; and

    (b) Each subsequent year.

4. Any self-employed person may file a notice of withdrawal within thirty calendar days after the end of each period of coverage.
5. A notice of withdrawal from coverage must be submitted to the Division online or in another format approved by the Division.

6. Any levy resulting from the Division's cancellation of coverage is in addition to the due and unpaid premiums and interest for the remainder of the period of coverage.

1.5.2 Determining Wages Earned for Self-Employed Persons

A. A self-employed person will update information with the Division not less than quarterly within the period of coverage to ensure timely and accurate benefit coverage amounts.

B. Pursuant to 8-13.3-507 (4)(a) C.R.S., a self-employed person is required to submit only 50 percent of the premium required for an employee by section 8-13.3-507 (3) C.R.S. on that individual's income from self employment.

C. Not less than each quarter, a self- employed person who has elected coverage under 8-13.3-514 C.R.S. will report to the Division net earnings from self employment once they have elected to use net earnings as the basis of both premium collection and benefit payments for the three year opt-in period.

D. Not less than each quarter, a self-employed person who has elected coverage under 8-13.3-514 C.R.S, will report to the Division gross earnings from self employment once they have elected to use gross earnings as the basis for both premium collection and benefit payments for the three year opt-in period. Gross wages from self employment will be reported as gross wages for a specific quarterly pay period and not gross wages for the year to date.

E. If a self-employed individual elects to change their premium and benefit calculation between gross and net, they may do so one time within the three year opt-in period.

F. The Division may require copies of tax returns, bank records, self- attestations, or any other documents deemed necessary by the Division to verify or determine a self-employed person's wages.

G. If a self-employed individual has elected coverage under 8-13.3-514 C.R.S., and is also employed by another or multiple employers, the self-employed person's FAMLI benefit payment will be based on the combined wages.

1.5.3 Determining Wages for All Employees Regarding Premium Assessment

A. Wages reportable to the Division for premium assessment purposes include:

1. Salary or hourly wages, including "wages" as defined by 8-70-141 C.R.S; and other compensation, including board, lodging, payments in kind, and/or other benefits provided as compensation for services performed by employees, including but not limited to domestic and agricultural employees.

2. The Division may, after investigation, determine in individual cases the amounts to be included as reasonable value of remuneration payable in any medium other than cash for the purpose of computing premiums due under the act, but where the cash value of such benefits is agreed upon in a written contract, the amounts agreed upon will presumptively be the reasonable value of such benefits; and
3. Commissions, payments on a piecework basis, or bonuses earned for labor or services performed in accordance with the terms of any agreement between an employer and employee.

B. Tips/gratuities will be considered to be wages for the purposes of the act when the employer exercises significant control over the amount and distribution of money received by an employee as a tip/gratuity.

C. An employer is considered to have significant control over tips/gratuities when they are collected by the employer and then redistributed to employees.

D. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, any tips/gratuities, used by the employer in order to conform to the minimum-wage requirements of federal or state law will be deemed to be wages for the purposes of the act, to the extent of such use.

1. For the purposes of this section, the inclusion, for the convenience of the customer, of a tip/gratuity in an amount charged by a customer through the use of a credit card will not, by itself, be deemed to constitute significant control.
2. For the purposes of this section, a requirement by an employer that an employee report or account for tip/ gratuities will not, by itself, be deemed to constitute significant control.

E. In addition to the foregoing provisions of this section, wages will also include tips that are received while performing services that constitute employment and that are made known to the employer through a written statement furnished by the employee.

F. In circumstances where the employer's records regarding wages or other compensation pursuant to this section are inaccurate or incomplete, the Division may consider any evidence, written or otherwise, to determine the amount of wages as a matter of just and reasonable inference, absent any specific evidence provided by the employer suggesting that such inference is unreasonable.

1.5.4 Exempted From Wages

A. The Division will not consider the following as wages.

1. Per-diem or mileage reimbursements;

2. Amounts of payments made by the employer on behalf of the employee into other insurance or annuity accounts that are not associated with FAMLI including but not limited to:

(a) Short term or long term disability

(b) Medical or hospitalization expenses in connection with sickness or accident disability

(c) Death

(d) Earnings from investment-interest payments, dividend payments, or rent receipts from rental property, except if the income is earned through a business owned or operated by the claimant.

(e) Severance pay with the exception of payments pursuant to 8-73-110 C.R.S.

1.5.5 Premiums Remitted by an Employer

A. Premiums must be paid not less than quarterly in the form and manner determined by the Division. Quarterly payments will include all premiums with respect to wages paid for employment in all payroll periods that end within the calendar quarter.

1. Due Date of Premiums. Premiums will become due and be paid no later than the last day of the month immediately following the end of the calendar quarter for which the premiums have accrued.

(a) Payment will be considered timely if postmarked or received in person or electronically on or before the due date. If the due date of premiums falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, payment will be considered timely if postmarked or received in person or electronically on the next business day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday.

(b) Quarterly payment will not be required when the total amount of any premiums due, including any penalties and interest accrued for an untimely or incorrect report, is less than five dollars.

2. Erroneous Rate Notice. If, as a result of an incorrect notification or computation of rate by the Division, an employer is required to make an additional payment of premiums, such additional payment will not accrue interest until thirty days after notification by the Division that such additional payments are due.

3. First payment of a new employer, unless stated otherwise by exemption.

(a) The first premium payment of any employing unit that becomes an employer subject to 8.13.3-501 C.R.S. et seq., at any time during a calendar year will become due and be paid on or before the last day of the month immediately following the calendar quarter in which such an employing unit becomes an employer.

(b) Said payment will include the FAMLI premiums with respect to wages paid for employment occurring on and from the first day of the calendar year through all payroll periods that end within the calendar quarter in which the employing unit becomes an employer.

B. Employers ability to deduct premiums from employees

1. An employer required to remit premiums pursuant to 8-13.3-507 C.R.S. may not deduct more than the maximum allowable employee share of the premium from wages paid for a pay period.

(a) If an employer fails to deduct the maximum allowable employee share of the premium from wages paid for a pay period, the employer is considered to have elected to pay that portion of the employee share under 8-13.3 -507 C.R.S., and the employer cannot deduct this amount from a future paycheck of the employee for a different pay period.

(b) The employer will not deduct the employee share of the premium for a pay period where there is a lack of sufficient employee wages to cover the premium for that pay period.

(c) In the payment of any premiums, a fractional part of a cent will be disregarded unless it amounts to one-half cent or more, in which case it will be increased to one cent.

2. Employers not required to pay the Employer share of the FAMLI premium due to employer size of business pursuant to 8-13.3-507 (5) C.R.S. must remit the employees' share of the premium in the manner outlined by the Division. Such employers may deduct up to 50 percent of the premium required for an employee by section 8-13.3-507 (3) C.R.S., from the employee's wages and will remit 50 percent of the premium required by section 8-13.3-507 (3) C.R.S., to the Division.

3. An employer who is not required to pay the employer share of the premium pursuant to 8.13.3-507 (4)(c), may elect to remit the employee share of the premium for employees who elect coverage under 8-13.3-514 C.R.S.

C. Application of payments made to premiums

1. A payment received by the Division as a premium payment will be applied to the quarter for which the premium assessment applies.

(a) A payment exceeding the legal fees,fines,penalties, interest and premiums due for that quarter will be applied to any other debt owed to the Division in accordance with subsection 2 (c) in part C. of these rules.

(b) If no debt exists, premium overpayments of less than fifty dollars will be credited to future payments due.

(c) If no debt exists, premium overpayments of fifty dollars or more may be refunded to the employer at the employer's request. Otherwise, such overpayments will be credited to future payments due.

2. Payments received will be applied in the following order of priority:

(a) Current quarter balance;

(b) Any previous quarter premium balance due starting with the oldest quarter;

(c) Then beginning with the oldest quarter in which a balance is owed:

(1) Penalties;

(2) Fees; and

(3) Interest charges.

D. Pursuant to § 8-13.3-507 (6), C.R.S., premiums will not be required for employees' wages above the contribution and benefit base limit established annually for the federal social security administration for purposes of the federal old-age survivors, and disability insurance program limits pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 430.

1.5.6 Calculating Employer Size Related To Premium Exemptions

A. For determining premium exemptions based on employer size as outlined in § 8-13.3-507(5), C.R.S., the rules for counting employees to determine whether an employer is covered under the federal Family and Medical Leave Act apply; the employer must employ the requisite number of employees “for each working day during each of 20 or more calendar workweeks in the current or preceding calendar year’; “any employee whose name appears on the employer’s payroll will be considered employed each working day of the calendar week, and must be counted whether or not any compensation is received for the week”; “Employees on paid or unpaid leave, including sick or medical leave, leaves of absence, disciplinary suspension, etc. are counted as long as the employer has a reasonable expectation the employee will later return to active employment”; “a corporation is a single employer rather than its separate establishments or divisions.”

1. If the Division determines the employer's status has changed as it relates to premium liability, the Division will notify the employer as to their premium liability.

2. An employer's size for purposes of this regulation 1.5.4 will be calculated annually by counting the number of employees pursuant to regulation 1.5.4 (A) during the preceding calendar year.

3.If an employer has not been in business in Colorado long enough to report employer's size pursuant to regulation 1.5.4 (A), the employer’s size will be calculated after the second quarter of reporting is due by averaging the number of employees reported over the quarters for which reporting exists. Premium calculations based on this determination will begin on this reporting date. This size determination remains in effect through the following calendar year.

B. Determination of employer size for premium collection beginning January 1, 2023.

1. For purposes of premium calculations for calendar year 2023, the Division will determine the size of all employers by reviewing the number of employees reported pursuant to 8-70-113 C.R.S, for the first calendar quarter. Employers that report ten or more employees will be required to pay the employer share of the premium for all calendar quarters in calendar year 2023.

C. Determining in-state status of employees

1. An employee’s wages will be subject to premiums for all services performed within Colorado and for all services performed both within and outside of Colorado where:

(a) The employee’s entire service is performed within Colorado;

(b) The employee’s service is performed both within and outside of Colorado, but the service performed outside the state is incidental to the employee's work within Colorado or, for example is, temporary or transitory in nature and consists of isolated transactions; or

(c) Services are not localized in any state, but some of the services are performed in Colorado, and

(1) The base of operations is in Colorado, or if there is no base of operations, then the place from which such services is directed or controlled is in Colorado as established in 8-70-117 C.R.S., or

(2) The base of operations or place from which some part of the service is directed or controlled is not in any state in which part of the service is performed, but the individual's residence is in Colorado.

2.Payment to Another Jurisdiction. An employer who has erroneously paid to another jurisdiction an amount as premiums properly payable to Colorado will not be delinquent if premiums properly payable to Colorado are paid within thirty days of the date on which the Division determines that such premiums are payable to Colorado.

1.5.7 Assessments and Recomputations of FAMLI Premiums

A. If, in the judgment of the Division or upon its information and knowledge, the report of wages included in an employer's FAMLI premium report is incomplete or in error, the Division may require a further report, examine the employer's relevant books and records, or use other reasonable measures to the extent necessary to obtain an accurate report.

B. If a contributing employer is either delinquent in filing a premium report within the time prescribed by the Division or whose records are needed to make a proper determination of an amount of indebtedness or other matter declines to make its records available, the Division may, in its discretion:

1. Use the information and knowledge available to the Division to estimate the amount of chargeable wages paid by a contributing employer during the premium period or periods. The amount of chargeable wages so determined will be deemed to have been paid by the employer and will be used to determine the annual payroll;

2. Assess the employer for FAMLI premiums calculated on the basis of the estimated wages; and

3. Issue a subpoena duces tecum to compel an employer to release books and records to the Division for use in obtaining the required information.

C. A contributing employer who is delinquent in filing reports or paying FAMLI premiums will be promptly notified of the assessment by the communication method the employer elected during FAMLI registration. Premiums will not be considered delinquent if paid within thirty days after the date on which the Division notifies the employer of the delinquent payment.

D. The Division may correct errors of computation whenever such erroneous computations are found or brought to the Division's attention.

1.6 Notification of FAMLI Premium Liability

A. The Division will notify employers and individual persons who have elected coverage of their expected premium on the first business day of the calendar month the premium is due to be paid.

1. Notification may be either electronic or sent by postal mail to the address provided to the Colorado Department of Labor and Employment.

(a) Employers, including self-employed persons may choose a business representative such as a payroll service provider, attorney, or accountant to receive notification on their behalf.

(b) Self-employed persons and local government employees who elect coverage pursuant to § 8-13.3-514, C.R.S., may elect to be notified electronically or by postal mail.

(c) Local governments that have declined participation in the FAMLI program pursuant to 8-13.3-522 C.R.S., but which have agreed to withhold and remit the employee share of premiums for employees who elect coverage under 8-13.3-514, C.R.S., will be provided a quarterly list of employees who have elected coverage pursuant to 8-13.3-514 C.R.S. Local governments which have declined participation in the FAMLI program pursuant to section 8-13.3-522, C.R.S., and have declined to withhold and remit the employee share of premiums for employees who elect coverage under 8-13.3-514 C.R.S., will not receive information from the Division regarding any such employees who have voluntarily elected coverage.

2. A schedule of due dates as well as guidance as to how to remit premiums will be posted by the Division on the FAMLI website and will remain publicly available.

B. Employers not subject to a premium liability due to coverage through a pre-approved substitute private plan under 8-13.3-521, C.R.S., will not receive quarterly notifications of premium liability from the Division.

1. In the event of a loss of coverage or significant change in status, the employer is required to notify the Division within 30 days, and a premium liability will begin to accrue from the first day of the previous calendar quarter.

2. Premium liability will then continue to follow the regular calendar quarter payment schedule, until such time as a new and separate waiver has been approved by the Division.

Division of Family And Medical Leave Insurance (FAMLI)

633 17th Street

Denver, CO 80202-2107 | (303)188 -8228 | www.famli.colorado.gov

STATEMENT OF BASIS, PURPOSE, SPECIFIC STATUTORY AUTHORITY, AND FINDINGS Premium Rules, 7 CCR 1107-1 (2021), as adopted on January 1, 2022.

(1) BASIS. The purpose of these rules concerning the Paid Family and Medical Leave Insurance (FAMLI) Rules (or "Rules") is to implement and enforce the Paid Family and Medical Leave Insurance Act, Colorado Revised Statutes ("C.R.S.")Title 8, Article 13.3, Part 5 (C.R.S. 8-13.3-507)(2020).

(2) SPECIFIC STATUTORY AUTHORITY. The Director is authorized to adopt rules and regulations to enforce, execute, implement, apply, and interpret C.R.S. Title 8, Article 13.3, by C.R.S. §§ 8-13.3 -507, -508, -514, -516, -522; and §§ 24-4-103 and -105. These rules are intended to be consistent with the requirements of Colorado's Administrative Procedures Act, C.R.S. §§ 24-4-101, et seq..

(3) FINDINGS, JUSTIFICATIONS, AND REASONS FOR ADOPTION. Pursuant to C.R.S. § 24-4-103(4)(b), the Director finds: (A) demonstrated need exists for the rules (detailed in Part 4, which this finding incorporates); (B) proper statutory authority exists for the rules (detailed in Part 2, which this finding incorporates); (C) to the extent practicable, the rules are clearly stated so that their meaning will be understood by any party required to comply; (D) the rules do not conflict with other provisions of law; and (E) any duplicating or overlapping has been minimized and is explained by the Division.

(4) SPECIFIC FINDINGS FOR ADOPTION.

(A) Broad Purpose of Rules

The FAMLI Act, a new "Part 5" of C.R.S. Title 8, Article 13.3 (§ 8-13.3-501 to -524), establishes a new Division within the Colorado Department of Labor and Employment (CDLE),the Director of which is responsible for promulgating rules and coordinating the FAMLI program (§ 8-13.3-508 (1)). The Division is an enterprise (§ 8-13.3-508(2a)). The Division shall establish and administer a family and medical leave insurance program and begin collecting premiums as specified by Part 5"(§ 8-13.3-507 & -516(7)). In order to finance Family and Medical leave Insurance benefits and program administration costs, premiums will be collected through payroll deductions beginning January 1, 2023 (§ 8-13.3-507(1) & (2)).

The Division is a self-sustaining enterprise that has "all the powers and duties authorized by [the Act] pertaining to family and medical leave insurance benefits." § 8-13.3-508(b). As such, the Division is statutorily authorized to administer, carry out, and enforce all provisions of this Part 5, including the promulgation of rules, the ability to investigate complaints, enforce premium collections, and administer guidance as needed and requested.

These Rules pertain to those statutory provisions contained in Part 5, specifically the manner in which the Division is to collect premiums through payroll deductions for the purposes of paying benefits and administering the program. The Division's charge to promulgate rules in support of enforcement and implementation of this Part 5 is mandatory, statutorily taking effect on January 1, 2022. The Division initiated rulemaking in late summer 2021, to assure implementation of rules by that statutory effective date.

The Act created the FAMLI program as a whole and outlines the overall purpose, duties and responsibilities of the Division to fulfill the law passed by over 57% of the voters in November 2020[1] through Proposition 118[2].

These Rules are limited to the collection of premiums and are needed imminently to implement the Division's mandatory authority by the statutory effective date. The promulgation of these Rules does not preclude any later implementation and/or rulemaking as to the Division's authority under the Administrative Procedure Act, C.R.S. § 24-4-103.

(B) Rules 1.1 through 1.4 : Statutory Framework and Definitions

Rule 1.1 through 1.4 details the relationship of these Rules to relevant statutes, and the Division's intent for these Rules to remain in effect to the maximum extent possible if a portion is held invalid[3]. Throughout these rules the Division has capitalized the words

(C) Rule 1.5.1 Election, Withdrawal, and Cancellation of Coverage for Self-Employed Persons

Following the ballot provision allowing for self-employed persons to self-elect coverage into the FAMLI program, Section 1.5.1 of Rule 7 CCR 1107-1, creates the mechanism by which a self-employed person becomes eligible for coverage, and outlines how and when a self-employed person may decline further FAMLI coverage after a period of coverage was fulfilled under C.R.S § 8-13.3-514. The same section also applies to people who work for units of local government who have an option to self-elect coverage in the event a local government employer both chooses not to fully participate in the FAMLI program and denies employees the option of a voluntary payroll deduction to assist the employee to remit of premium amount to the Division.

Self-employed persons who have self-elected coverage and then begin working for an employer as defined in C.R.S. § 8-13.3-503(8), during either the three-year minimum coverage period, or subsequent years, may notify the Division they wish to withdraw from their self-elected coverage and the Division will process the request no sooner than 30 days after the notice is filed. The thirty day notice period is outlined in the language of the statue at C.R.S. § 8-13.3-514 (2)

Self-employed persons who work for one or more employers in addition to working for themselves, may stay in the program if they choose to continue to pay the premium amount associated with their status as a self-employed person in addition to any premium required as by an employee share[4] by their succeeding employer. This is consistent with language found in C.R.S 8-13.3-506(2) allowing a "covered individual with multiple jobs to elect whether to take leave from one job or multiple jobs."

(D) Rule 1.5.2 Determining Wages Earned for Self-Employed Persons

This section of the Rules outlines the process for self-employed persons who are electing FAMLI coverage. Quarterly submission of wages earned from self-employment to the Division will help ensure the premium amount assessed is accurate and can

Self-employed persons may choose between reporting either their gross wages or their net earnings from self-employment. During 2020 and 2021, a national collective experience among states administering Pandemic Unemployment Assistance demonstrated many self-employed persons did not have immediate or quarterly access to tax advisors and other professionals to assist them to properly identify and calculate their net incomes. This has resulted in claimants owing thousands of dollars in repayment which has added burden to state Unemployment insurance programs. Learning lessons from the past 18 months, and following the leads of several other states offering similar paid family and medical leave (PFML) programs, Rule 1.5.2 (E) was created to allow self-employed persons flexibility as to how they may calculate premium and benefits by selecting to base their contributions and payments from either gross earnings or use the well established net earnings for self-employment standard.

Self Employed persons will choose which basis to calculate premiums and benefits at the time they register with the Division and will only be permitted to change their calculation one time within the initial three year enrollment period. After the initial three year enrollment period has passed and the renewal period continues in an annual enrollment cycle, the self-employed person may switch between the gross or the net earnings calculation as long as the change corresponds with the beginning of their annual self-election of FAMLI coverage.

The FAMLI benefit is not subject to state income tax, and as of 2021 we do not have a determination from the IRS as to whether benefits paid under PFML programs will be federally taxable income. Without this Federal guidance the Division will be building the supporting technological solution needed to administer the program with the ability to issue 1099 forms, and will provide standard guidance accordingly, which will direct people to consult with their own tax preparers and professionals.

(E) Rule 1.5.3 Determining Wages For All Employees Regarding Premium Assessment

The Division has made a decision to mirror existing state Unemployment Insurance mechanisms and other state level rules and definitions in an effort to reduce complexity for employers within these premium Rules. The FAMLI program will use the same definition of wages as is currently in use as of 2021. None of the points made in this section of Rules represent new practices, however the sections do provide more detailed guidance than what has been previously been published by CDLE regarding workers whose wages are dependent on tip credits against their minimum hourly wage obligation[5].

(F) Rule 1.5.4 Exempted from Wages

This section of the rules also mirrors existing practices, with the exception of the treatment of severance pay. A decision was made to closely follow the provisions and guidance from the Colorado Unemployment Insurance Program due to employers' familiarity with the process. These Rules follow the well established guidelines as to what constitutes wages in Colorado state unemployment insurance, which of course also closely aligns with federal unemployment insurance standards.

However, the Division also recognizes employers familiarity and governance under Colorado's wage and hours laws as outlined in the Colorado Overtime and a Minimum Pay standards orders known as COMPS #37[6]. This has created an effort to increase clarity between a few of the various rules specifically for the FAMLI program. As an example, severance pay under COMPS #37 is exempted from wages and will remain exempt in FAMLI under most circumstances. However, when an employer finds it necessary to arrange a series of severance payments over a period of time to a former employee, those payments are considered wages under current Unemployment Insurance standards. To limit confusion and fraud, we have mirrored this exception in the FAMLI rules and have crafted this narrow exemption in Rule at 1.5.4 A.2.(e).

(G) Premiums Remitted by an Employer

Most sections and guidance mirror timeframes and practices found in the Unemployment Insurance system, to reduce complexity and multiple timelines for employers. Each mechanism in Rules section 1.5.5 A., is an existing Unemployment Insurance practice.

Rules section 1.5.5 B., is unique to the FAMLI program and provides guidance for employers who will choose to deduct an employee share of premiums from wages. This

[5] Colorado Overtime and Minimum Pay Standards Order (Comps order) #37
[6] Colorado Overtime and Minimum Pay Standards Order (Comps order) #37

Rule clarifies any wage deductions must be done per pay period and may not be deducted from former or future pay periods.

Rules section 1.5.5 C., mirrors existing Unemployment Insurance practices and describes how the Division will apply employer payments to premium liabilities.

Rules section 1.5.5.D., is language directly from Proposition 118. During the listening session with employers conducted by CDLE in August of 2021, a common question from employers emerged as to the social security wage cap and premium liability and so we have added this ballot language to the rules for clarity.

(H) Calculating Employer Size Related to Premium Exemptions

All Colorado employers with two or more employees are required to participate in the FAMLI program, unless they qualify to opt out of the program by virtue of being a local government entity or they are an employer electing FAMLI coverage under a private insurance program that meets or exceeds FAMLI standards and pricing and has been previously approved by the Colorado Department of Insurance as an adequate substitute.

The Rule in section 1.5.6 A., relies upon a well-established standard under the federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) to determine if an employee is adequately attached to an employer's payroll and must be counted as an employee to determine the employer's size to determine premium liability under the FAMLI program. The Division will calculate employer size annually.

Rule section 1.5.6.C, addresses the determination of in-state status of employees, through a test metric which mirrors an existing long standing practices found with Colorado's Unemployment Insurance system in C.R.S §§ 8-70-116 and 8-70-117, and is also located in federal[7] requirements.

This type of "localization" is also widely accepted by PFML programs across the country for purposes of premium collection and benefits. This Rule does not expand any existing definition of employment, and mirrors existing mechanisms employers with multistate and multinational workforces are well experienced in executing for purposes of Unemployment Insurance and other benefit programs.

(I) Assessments and recomputations of FAMLI premiums

[7] https://wdr.doleta.gov/directives/attach/Unemployment InsurancePL20-04_AttachI.html

Rule section 1.5.7 follows existing CDLE practices as found in Unemployment Insurance relating to premium payments, assessments, and delinquencies.

(J) Notification of FAMLI Premium Liability

Rule section 1.6, outlines the Division's best practices for communicating with employers regarding the timing and submissions of premiums. Keeping with the spirit of streamlining a time saving process for employers, this mechanism also follows existing practices found in Unemployment Insurance.

STATEMENT OF BASIS AND PURPOSE

Summary of the basis and purpose for new rule or rule change.
Explain why the rule or rule change is necessary and what the program hopes to accomplish through this rule. 1500 Char max

The Division of Child Support Services (DCSS) is proposing several rule changes to help ensure county child support offices provide consistent and equitable services to families across the state. Specifically, the proposed rules clarify certification requirements for county employees that conduct, or supervise employees that conduct administrative process actions (APA). The proposed rules also establish a certification requirement for Child Support Services Unit employees that perform, or supervise employees that perform actions associated with the automated enforcement remedies. The proposed changes ensure that county professionals receive appropriate training prior to performing these duties. Child Support professionals' work has a substantial impact on families as duties include establishing paternity and support orders, modifying support orders, and monitoring automated enforcement actions, such as driver's license suspension, professional/occupational license suspension, and credit reporting. Last year, only ⅔ of current enforcement professionals passed a test on the driver's license suspension remedy following training webinars. When automated enforcement remedies are not being monitored proactively and used appropriately, it can be very detrimental to our customers. There is also a risk losing the ability to use these remedies administratively and harming relationships with the agencies we partner with to administer the remedies. When professionals do not establish an order correctly it can negatively impact the whole family. An example is if a county establishes an order against a parent without obtaining proper personal jurisdiction and ensuring noticing. The goal of the proposed rules is to ensure all individuals providing the direct service and those leading have the knowledge (training) and ability (testing/certification) to do both accurately.

Currently for Establishment we conduct required training and provide a test following the training to be certified to conduct APA. This process will be extended to Establishment (APA) supervisors and Enforcement professionals. The proposed addition for APA supervisor certification is in response to existing legal and regulatory requirements for the review of default orders. Section 26-13.5-106(2) of the Colorado Revised Statutes requires that a supervisor, administrator, attorney or director of a county department of human or social services review the order and any accompanying documents before filing of the default order. This requirement is also found in existing Child Support Services rules 6.710.1(C), 6.711.1(C), and 6.714.1(A). The training and certification will ensure leaders are equipped with the necessary knowledge to provide a quality review.

An emergency rule-making (which waives the initial Administrative Procedure Act noticing requirements) is necessary:

☐ to comply with state/federal law and/or
☐ to preserve public health, safety and welfare

REGULATORY ANALYSIS

1. List of groups impacted by this rule.

Which groups of persons will benefit, bear the burdens or be adversely impacted by this rule?

Custodial and non-custodial parents/parties receiving services through the Colorado Child Support Services (CSS) program will benefit from the proposed rule changes as it ensures that county professionals have the appropriate training prior to taking specific actions on cases.

County professionals will benefit from the training opportunities provided by the State Division of Child Support Services for certification purposes.

The State Division of Child Support Services will also benefit from reduced customer inquiries as it pertains to inconsistent county by county practices. The State Division of Child Support Services will be responsible for county training and implementation of the proposed rule changes.

2. Describe the qualitative and quantitative impact.

How will this rule-making impact those groups listed above? How many people will be impacted? What are the short-term and long-term consequences of this rule?

Custodial and Non-Custodial Parents - In both the short- and long-term, will see a reduction in errors being made on cases.

County Professionals - In the short-term, county professionals will be required to participate in certification training. For APA certification for supervisors, the training time will be approximately 4 hours. Automated enforcement training will involve 10-12 hours of self-paced learning and 10-12 hours of live webinars, for a total of approximately 24 training hours. Certification and recertification tests are anticipated to take 1 hour to complete. Existing staff as of October 1, 2021 will have the option to become certified in automated enforcement by taking and passing a certification exam for existing employees prior to December 31, 2021. The passing score for the exam will be 70%. Individuals that pass will need to participate in the 24 hour training any time prior to their recertification date and exam 3 years after initial certification. Those that receive a score of 60-69% on the certification exam for existing employees will have an opportunity to retake the exam one time. Those that score 0-59%, those that do not pass on the second attempt, and staff hired after October 1, 2021 will be required to participate in the training prior to taking or retaking the certification exam. In the long-term, recertification for both APA for supervisors and automated enforcement is required to occur every three years. A grace period will be implemented for existing staff to be trained and certified.

State Division of Child Support Services - In the short-term, staff will bear the burden of training and ensuring procedures, desk-aids and ACSES is updated, as appropriate.

State Fiscal Impact (Identify all state agencies with a fiscal impact, including any Colorado Benefits Management System (CBMS) change request costs required to implement this rule change)

The cost of training will be absorbed within the positions that currently provide county training and technical support.

County Fiscal Impact

The proposed rule changes will support more streamlined processes and improved parent/county partnerships that are expected to aid in long-term reduction of workload and costs. As noted in Section 2, while there is no monetary cost associated with this training and certification for the county, employees will need to dedicate time for the training and certification/recertification exams. We believe the investment of time required of staff for these trainings (see below for more detail) will be completed in normal working hours and will result in a net zero of additional time as these trainings will lead to less errors and work on the backend.

It is anticipated that the APA certification for supervisors will require 5 hours of training and exam time during the initial certification year and 1 hour every 3 years for the recertification exam. Automated enforcement certification will require approximately 25 hours of training and exam time for staff hired after October 1, 2021 during the initial certification year and 1 hour every 3 years for the recertification exam.

In response to county feedback regarding the automated enforcement certification for existing staff, the State Division of Child Support Services has determined that staff that are employed as of October 1, 2021 may be certified by taking and passing a certification exam for existing employees prior to December 31, 2021. The passing score for the exam will be 70%. Individuals that pass will need to participate in the 24 hour training any time prior to their recertification date and exam 3 years after initial certification. Those that receive a score of 60-69% on the certification exam for existing employees will have an opportunity to retake the exam one time. Those that score 0-59%, those that do not pass on the second attempt, and staff hired after October 1, 2021 will be required to participate in the training prior to taking or retaking the certification exam.

Information regarding the time period to be certified and grace period for existing staff will be outlined in a memo that will be issued after approval of the proposed rules and prior to the effective date of the rule change.

Estimated staffing time cost:
Initial APA certification for supervisors: 4 training hours + 1 exam hour = 5 training and exam hours; 5 hours x $17.00/hour = $85.00/professional, for employee time ($28.90 = county share per participant)

Initial year for automated enforcement certification for new staff hired after October 1, 2021 and within three years for existing staff as of October 1, 2021: 24 training hours + 1 exam hour = 25 training and exam hours; 25 hours x $17.00/hour = $425.00/professional for employee time, ($144.50 = county share per participant)

4. Data Description

List and explain any data, such as studies, federal announcements, or questionnaires, which were relied upon when developing this rule?

No specific data or research was used for the proposal of the rule packet.

5. Alternatives to this Rule-making

Describe any alternatives that were seriously considered. Are there any less costly or less intrusive ways to accomplish the purpose(s) of this rule? Explain why the program chose this rule-making rather than taking no action or using another alternative. Answer should NEVER be just "no alternative" answer should include "no alternative because…"

The Division of Child Support Services (DCSS) may be able to implement training and certification as an "option", however this practice would further promote inconsistency and different standards of service across Colorado. By requiring the training and certification in rule, DCSS is ensuring fidelity in the establishment and enforcement process and ensures trust from the family, Judiciary, partner agencies, and DCSS, in the order establishment and enforcement action process. When training has been provided as optional or knowledge checks such as tests have been administered, not all professionals participate nor do all professionals pass the exam prior to performing enforcement functions. In 2020 the DCSS provided Driver's License Suspension training and testing for enforcement professionals and only ⅔ of test takers passed the exam. This demonstrates a need to ensure training is provided and knowledge checks, such as passing a test, are required prior to performing automated enforcement actions, such proactively monitoring to ensure that actions such as suspending an individual's driver's license or impacting their credit are appropriate. Rule-making defines the service expectation and allows for the state supervising agency to require a specific process or practice. It also allows the state supervising agency the ability to pursue disciplinary action when the rule is not followed. By requiring this training in rule, it will ensure that the state provides necessary training and resources to the county.

I am not in support or requiring staff (including Directors in many cases) who supervise employees who conduct APA to be "certified"

As you are aware our time is being spread incredibly thin and if you do not have the luxury of an organizational chart that provides for support, you as the Director are required to take on many tasks that there simply is insufficient time for.

I would be more supportive of this being an option to become certified in APA versus a requirement.

State Response
Thank you for your comments. Your county voice is an important piece of the rulemaking process. Section 26-13.5-106(2) of the Colorado Revised Statutes requires that a supervisor, administrator, attorney or director of a county department of human or social services review the order and any accompanying documents before filing of the default order. This requirement is also found in existing Child Support Services rules 6.710.1(C), 6.711.1(C), and 6.714.1(A).

In response to the legal and regulatory requirements, it is critical that the Department of Human Services, Division of Child Support Services (DCSS) provide training and certification to individuals responsible for reviewing default orders and/or supervising certified Administrative Process Action Professionals. The training and certification will ensure leaders are equipped with the necessary knowledge to provide a quality review of child support orders, specifically default orders. Additionally, this training and certification instills confidence in the program as it further ensures default orders (orders entered without participation of the paying party) are issued without error.

In response to feedback from a few counties, DCSS has ensured that this training would be specific to the duties required by law. The training will be a 4 hour training required one time before the initial certification. The certification test will be specific to the role and responsibility of reviewing a default order.

Additionally, we heard your feedback that work-task coverage through natural attrition is a concern. In response to this comment we have added proposed language that indicates a county may utilize another county leader for review of default orders.

In the original proposed rule language, the recertification period would be every two (2) years. In response to the feedback that many leaders are stretched thin for time, DCSS has determined that leaving the recertification period to three (3) years is sufficient for ensuring professionals have the appropriate knowledge to establish paternity and support orders for families. Although this test will be an open book, open resources test, we anticipate the test would take no longer than one hour to complete. The total estimated time investment for leadership is approximately 5 hours during the initial APA certification year and 1 hour every 3 years for recertification.

Below you will see the revised language that we hope addresses your concerns. Again, thank you for your investment in the Child Support program and the rulemaking process.

Thanks for sending this on. I think certification every two years is a nice middle ground intervals, I appreciate your hearing my concerns at the last TF meeting. Here are my only additional suggestions;

I think part "D" should say "The County Director or their authorized delegate shall be responsible for determine and authorizing in writing child support services unit employees may perform the enforcement actions described in this section based upon the employees certification status, classification and experience. The County Director or their authorized delegate (or designee) shall be responsible for ensuring that only those employees with adequate skills, knowledge and training perform these actions."

In large Counties, the County Director doesn't have the time or bandwidth to personally mange certification status for line staff and I think it's crucial for the option of the County Director to delegate that responsibility to whomever they determine the best fit, most times I would guess would be each County Program Manager.

State Response
Thank you for your comments. Your county voice is an important piece of the rulemaking process. The Division of Child Support Services has adopted your recommendations and revised 6.103.1(D) and 6.103.2(D). Please see the attached revised proposed rules.

I, as the administrator of a medium county, am not in favor of this change. I think that training continues to be an important piece of our jobs. Small and medium counties do not have trainers on staff. What happens in a small one person county when someone goes on maternity leave, for example? They have to count on another county, not on the State, because the State is not equipped to cover what the counties really are able to do. I really think the State people need more in depth training so they are able to help all of us when we have complicated questions. Maybe they need to visit counties to see what we really do. This is a great program. But there is a lot of knowledge that we have to have to do our jobs. APA is a piece of it but there are so many other facets to it. Please consider what you are putting on our county staff before implementing these kinds of mandates. It is simply not fair to us. As for the new changes in the SEU, maybe the State should take these programs over. If you are taking away the ability to negotiate any kind of agreement with DLS to get someone back working sooner, it really takes away from the relationships we have with our customers. I know I am not the only one that thinks this but the large counties really control what happens in the State. The little guy really has no say anymore. Thanks, Charla

Thank you for your comments. Your county voice is an important piece of the rulemaking process. The Division of Child Support Services agrees that training is important and we recognize that not all counties have trainers on staff. This rule ensures that the state provides training on APA and automated enforcement. It is our hope that we will be able to visit counties more often as we value learning from all professionals in the program. Comments not specifically related to the proposed rules have been reviewed and shared with the appropriate state staff.

Hi Jeana, I do not agree with the requirement for Director's to complete APA training, nor do I understand why this is necessary? I think what you will find, if this is implemented, is that Director's will not be able to complete requirement, we just do not have enough time, which will lead to further complications for all.

Thanks for reaching out to get our opinion,

State Response

I prefer the three-year cycle for certification. I think APA certification should be required for anyone who has been delegated the authority to sign off on an APA proposed order. Perhaps another supervisor or attorney can be a backup. There may be a compromise regarding the level of certification needed for the secondary approver of the proposed order. Perhaps what is appropriate is a lighter training (2 hours) that goes over the basics and what is jurisdictionally needed to approve an order. This should prevent fatal errors. One can be APA certified to conduct conferences and one could be certified to approve or review the proposed order.

State Response

Thank you for your comments. Your county voice is an important piece of the rulemaking process. The Division of Child Support Services (DCSS) has adopted your recommendation of a three-year recertification time frame for Administrative Process Action (APA). DCSS agrees that there is a critical need to provide training and certification to individuals responsible for reviewing default orders completed by certified APA professionals. DCSS has ensured that this training would be specific to the duties required by law. The training will be a 4 hour training required one time before the initial certification. The certification test will be specific to the role and responsibility of reviewing a default order. Please see the attached revised proposed rules.

On behalf of Alamosa County we are in support of the APA certification. I think it is important that everyone have the appropriate training and development of skill sets to do this work. The certification validates the skill sets needed to complete work processes.

MSB 21-02-09-A, Revision to the Medical Assistance Rule concerning the Home and Community Based Services Final Settings Rule, Section 8.484

Medical Assistance. In 2014, the federal Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) published a rule requiring Home- and Community-Based Services (HCBS) to be provided in settings that meet certain criteria. The criteria ensure that HCBS participants have access to the benefits of community living and live and receive services in integrated, non-institutional settings. These rules codify in regulation the federal requirements for all HCBS Waivers.

The authority for this rule is contained in Consolidated Appropriations Act 2021, Section 208; 42 C.F.R. §435.406; Sections 25.5-1-301 through 25.5-1-303, C.R.S. (2021); Section 25.5-4-205, C.R.S. (2021) and Section 24.4-4-103(6)(a), C.R.S. (2021).

MSB 21-06-08-A, Revision to the Medical Assistance Long-Term Services and Supports HCBS Benefit Rule Concerning Expanding Electronic Monitoring to Include Remote Supports, Section 8.488

Medical Assistance. The Office of Community Living (OCL), Benefits and Services Management Division is requesting to revise the current Electronic Monitoring regulations, already included in five HCBS adult waivers, to in include the addition of a Remote Supports component that will increase efficiencies, improve quality of care, and achieve cost savings. When hands-on care is not required, Remote Supports makes it possible for direct care staff to provide supervision, prompting, or instruction from a remote location. Examples of Remote Supports include technology for cooking safely, overnight support, medication adherence, fall detection, and wandering. The Department must add a service definition and regulations for the operation of Remote Supports. The addition of regulations will give members and providers regulatory parameters for how Remote Supports can be utilized in HCBS to maintain service integrity and ensure member's health and safety.

The authority for this rule is contained in 42 C.F.R. § 441.301(C)(4)); Sections 25.5-1-301 through 25.5-1-303, C.R.S. (2021), Sections 25.5-6-301 through 25.5-6-706, C.R.S. (2018) and

Section 25.5-6-1301 through 25.5-6-1304, C.R.S. (2018).

MSB 21-06-09-A, Revision to the Medical Assistance Act Rule concerning In-Home Support Services, Section 8.552

Medical Assistance. Revision of In-Home Support Services (IHSS) Rule to strike language regarding the option for IHSS agencies to be a participant's Authorized Representative (AR) to align with current IHSS statue C.R.S. § 25.5-6-1202(2).

The authority for this rule is contained in Sections 25.5-1-301 through 25.5-1-303, C.R.S. (2021) and 25.5-6-1203, C.R.S. (2021).

MSB 21-07-07-A, Revision to the Medical Assistance Act Rule concerning Adult Dental Annual Limit Maximum, Section 8.201.6

Medical Assistance. The proposed rule extends the maximum adult dental annual benefit of $1,500 indefinitely per Senate Bill 21-211. SB21-211 restores the $1,500 maximum adult dental annual benefit that was reduced to $1,000 by the 2020 Long Bill (HB20-1360), and House Bill 20-1361, beginning when the higher federal match afforded through the federal "Families First Coronavirus Response Act", Pub.L. 116-127 (FFCRA) expires. The adult dental annual benefit is currently maintained at $1500 with the FFCRA higher match. This rule will maintain the $1,500 after the FFCRA higher federal match expires.

The authority for this rule is contained in Sections 25.5-1-301 through 25.5-1-303, C.R.S. (2021); Section 25.5-4-205, C.R.S. (2021) and Section 25.5-5-202(1)(w) C.R.S. (2020).

MSB 21-07-20-B, Revision to the Medical Assistance Rule concerning Provider Participation, Section 8.130

Medical Assistance. This revision is necessary to provide additional guidance on the expectations of all providers and to specifically outline the provider inactivation procedure.

The authority for this rule is contained in 42 CFR § 431.17; 42 CFR § 431.20; 42 CFR § 455.400 and Sections 25.5-1-301 through 25.5-1-303, C.R.S. (2021).

MSB 21-08-05-B, Revision to the Medical Assistance Long-Term Services and Supports HCBS Benefit Rule Concerning Service Plan Authorization Limits (SPAL) and the Exception Review Process, Section 8.500.102

Medical Assistance. The Office of Community Living (OCL), Benefits and Services Management Division (BSMD) is requesting to revise regulations to include the addition of The SLS Waiver Exception Review Process as requested through R – 08 and approved through the Long Bill, SB 21 – 205. The addition of this review process is a policy change and this rule revision will allow specific members on the HCBS – SLS waiver to access additional supports and services beyond the current SPAL and/ or service unit limitation caps. This review process is anticipated to allow for members to continue to live in the community of their choice while postponing or eliminating the need for an emergency enrollment onto the HCBS – DD waiver.

The authority for this rule is contained in 42 CFR § 441.300 and § 440.180; Sections 25.5-1-301 through 25.5-1-303, C.R.S. (2021) and Sections 25.5-6-404, C.R.S.

MSB 21-08-10-C, Revision to the Medical Assistance Long-Term Services and Supports HCBS Benefit Rule Concerning Non-Medical Transportation, Sections 8.494 and 8.611

Medical Assistance. The purpose of these revisions is to modify the requirements for our Home and Community Based Services (HCBS) transportation providers. Effective July 1, 2021, House Bill 21-1206 transferred the responsibility of safety and oversight for Non-Medical Transportation (NMT) and Non-Emergent Medical Transportation (NEMT) from the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) to the Department, with the exception of taxi providers. These regulations remove the requirement that providers obtain a Medicaid Client Transport (MCT) permit through the PUC and outline the new provider agency, vehicle and driver requirements developed with the assistance of stakeholders.

The authority for this rule is contained in Sections 25.5-1-301 through 25.5-1-303, C.R.S. (2021); Sections 25.5-6 and Sections 25.5-10 C.R.S. and 25.5.-1-802 C.R.S.

REGULATORY ANALYSIS

1. List of groups impacted by this rule.

Which groups of persons will benefit, bear the burdens or be adversely impacted by this rule?

SNAP applicants and recipients, CDHS SNAP program area staff, county SNAP administrators and eligibility technicians

2. Describe the qualitative and quantitative impact.

How will this rule-making impact those groups listed above? How many people will be impacted? What are the short-term and long-term consequences of this rule?

The technical corrections made to overall language and improvements to structure enhances state level administration of SNAP by creating uniformity of the terminology used while also improving the searchability of regulation and better uniformity of concepts for county administrators and eligibility technicians who serve SNAP applicants and recipients. Changing the program name of the volume and throughout regulation from Food Assistance to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) better aligns CDHS SNAP regulation with terminology used at the national level to further improve understanding at a county and client level. Also included in this rulemaking are efforts to align with first-person language for persons over aged 60 (formerly known as elderly), persons experiencing homelessness (formerly known as homeless), and undocumented non-citizens (formerly known as illegal aliens). Federal SNAP regulation alignments were necessary in several areas and included a correction of language regarding periodic report, and corrections needed to application processing. The removal of language regarding a household's requirement to prove how they are meeting needs when no income is reported is not supported by and is more restrictive than federal SNAP regulation; this language was improved to include scenarios in which it is possible for a household to have no income and state they are not able to currently meet their needs. Additional removals included language regarding SNAP applications received from the Social Security Administration but Colorado does not have such an agreement as well as removing a section regarding Federal responsibilities which Colorado does not have jurisdiction to mandate.

3. Fiscal Impact

Title of Proposed Rule:	SNAP Technical Cleanup 2021
CDHS Tracking #:	20-08-10-01

For each of the categories listed below explain the distribution of dollars; please identify the costs, revenues, matches or any changes in the distribution of funds even if such change has a total zero effect for any entity that falls within the category. If this rule-making requires one of the categories listed below to devote resources without receiving additional funding, please explain why the rule-making is required and what consultation has occurred with those who will need to devote resources. Answer should NEVER be just "no impact" answer should include "no impact because…."

State Fiscal Impact (Identify all state agencies with a fiscal impact, including any Colorado Benefits Management System (CBMS) change request costs required to implement this rule change)

Improvements to the periodic report are already being incorporated into CBMS and is funded by the Process and Technology Improvement Grant (PTIG). An improvement regarding application processing was already implemented into CBMS as project number 14284- Reopen Functionality.

County Fiscal Impact

Counties would be fiscally impacted should Colorado receive fiscal sanctions from the Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) because of SB16-190.

Federal Fiscal Impact

If alignments are not made to Federal SNAP regulation and/or Colorado continues to decline in error rates, Colorado could be fiscally sanctioned by not administering SNAP according to Federal SNAP regulation.

Other Fiscal Impact (such as providers, local governments, etc.)

There are no other fiscal impacts associated with this rule change.

4. Data Description

List and explain any data, such as studies, federal announcements, or questionnaires, which were relied upon when developing this rule?

Federal policy letters, regulations, and guidance materials from FNS were used to develop these regulations.

5. Alternatives to this Rule-making

Describe any alternatives that were seriously considered. Are there any less costly or less intrusive ways to accomplish the purpose(s) of this rule? Explain why the program chose this rule-making rather than taking no action or using another alternative. Answer should NEVER be just "no alternative" answer should include "no alternative because…"

There is no other alternative to this rulemaking as improvements to existing regulations were required to better align with Federal SNAP regulation and this is the only mechanism to do so.

Whenever a member of a household consisting only of SSI applicants or recipients transacts business at an SSA office, the member has a right to make a household application for Food Assistance at the SSA office or the local office. The SSA office is not required to accept applications for SSI applicants or recipients who are not members in a household consisting entirely of SSI recipients unless a county has outstationed a worker at the SSA office. The SSA office will refer non-SSI households to the correct local office. An applicant or recipient of SSI shall be informed at the SSA office of the availability of benefits under the Food Assistance Program and the availability of the Food Assistance application at the SSA office. The SSA office shall also complete joint SSI and Food Assistance applications for residents of public institutions who apply for SSI prior to their release from the institutions. The applicants shall be permitted to apply for Food Assistance at the same time that they apply for SSI. B. The SSA office will accept and complete Food Assistance applications from SSI households and forward them, within one working day after receipt of a signed application, to the appropriate county local office. The SSA will use the Food Assistance application. The application will be transmitted to the local office with documentation of verification obtained. The SSA office is required to prescreen all Food Assistance applications for entitlement to expedited service and shall mark “expedited processing” on the first page of all applications of households that appear to be entitled to such processing. The SSA will inform households which appear to meet the criteria for expedited service that benefits may be issued a few days sooner if the household applies directly at the local office. The household may take the application from the SSA office to local office for screening, interviewing, and processing of the application. Each local office shall furnish the SSA office(s) serving its geographical area with a street map and/or map defining its boundaries together with the addresses of the certification offices in the project area. D. The local office shall prescreen all applications received from the SSA office for entitlement to expedited service on the day the application is received at the correct local office. All households entitled to expedited service shall be certified in accordance with Sections 4.205.1 and 4.205.11, except that the expedited processing time standard shall begin on the date the application is received at a local office in the correct county. To prevent duplication, the local office shall develop and implement a method to determine if members of SSI households whose applications are forwarded by the SSA office are currently participating in the Food Assistance Program. E. The SSA office shall refer non-SSI households and those in which not all members have applied for or received SSI to the correct local office. The local offices shall process those applications in accordance with the normal and expedited application processing standards and procedures. Applications from such households shall be considered as filed on the date the signed application is taken at a local office in the correct county.

If an SSA office takes an SSI application or redetermination on the telephone from a member of a pure SSI household, a Food Assistance application shall also be completed during the telephone interview and shall be mailed by the SSA office to the applicant for signature for return to the SSA office or to the local office. The SSA office shall then forward any Food Assistance applications it receives to the local office. The local office shall not require the household to be interviewed again. The local office may contact the household further to obtain additional information for the eligibility determination. B. The SSA office shall mail information of the client's right to file a Food Assistance application at the SSA office if they are members of a pure SSI household, or at their local office, and their right to an interview to be performed by the county department. C. Within ten (10) calendar days of learning of the determination of the SSI application, the local office shall take action in accordance with Section 4.604. B. The expedited processing time standard for applicants who filed prior to the release from a public institution will begin on the date that the individual is released from the public institution. The SSA shall notify the local office of the date of release of the applicant from the institution. Benefits shall be restored back to the date of an applicant's release from a public institution if, while in the institution, the applicant jointly applied for SSI and Food Assistance, but the local office was not notified on a timely basis of the applicant's release.

The county shall arrange for the outstationed worker to interview applicants as soon as possible; E. The outstationed eligibility worker(s) shall not refuse to provide service to an applicant because they do not reside in the county or project area in which the SSA office is located, provided that they reside within the jurisdiction served by the SSA office and the State. When scheduling interviews, the interview shall be scheduled as promptly as possible to ensure that eligible applicant households receive an opportunity to participate within the Program's processing guidelines, as outlined in Section 4.205. When the interview is scheduled, the applicant shall be notified that if it a responsible member of the household or its authorized representative fails to attend the interview, the household will be responsible for rescheduling and attending an interview within thirty (30) days from the date of application and that failure to do so shall result in the denial of the application. C. Missed Interviews If the household fails to attend its scheduled interview, the local office shall mail the household a notice of missed interview, informing the household that it missed the scheduled interview and that the household is responsible for rescheduling the interview. If the household does not schedule a subsequent interview for a date within thirty (30) calendar days after the application is filed, the application shall be denied by the local office on the thirtieth (30th) day following the date of application. Upon determination that a person should be referred to an Employment First Unit, the local office shall explain to the applicant the pertinent work requirements, the rights and responsibilities of work registered household members, and the consequences of failure to comply. The local office shall provide a written statement of these requirements to each work registrant in the household and to each previously exempt or new household member when that person becomes subject to the work registration and at recertification. B. Scheduling Interviews The local office must schedule an interview for all applicant households who are not interviewed on the same day they apply to the local office. Interviews shall be scheduled for a specific date and time and an appointment letter must be provided to the client at the address on file. All interviews, including the date and time of the interview, shall be documented in the case record. If the local office fails to schedule an interview with the household before the 30th day and no later than the 60th day, the original application can be used, and benefits are issued from the original date of application. If the household requests an interview date after the 30th day, the local office will deny the application on the 30th day and the household must file a new application. C. Missed Interviews If the household fails to attend its scheduled interview, the local office shall mail the household a notice of missed interview, informing the household that it missed the scheduled interview and that the household is responsible for rescheduling the interview. If the household does not schedule a subsequent interview for a date within 30 calendar days after the application is filed, the application shall be denied by the local office on the 30th day following the date of application. The application shall not be denied before the 30th day. If a household misses its first interview, the household forfeits its right to expedited

If a household misses its first interview, the household forfeits its right to expedited service, unless the second interview is rescheduled for a date within seven (7) days following the date of application. If a household completes an interview any time after the thirtieth (30th) day but no later than the sixtieth (60th) day from the date of application, then the original application shall be used to determine eligibility, and the household shall not be required to complete a new application. However, the household's benefits will be prorated from the date the required action was taken within the second thirty (30) day period. If the household makes contact with the agency after the sixtieth (60th) day following the date of application, the household shall be required to complete a new application. D. Interviews for Public Assistance Households If a household is applying for both public assistance and Food Assistance, the county department shall conduct a single interview at initial application for both public assistance and Food Assistance purposes. The applicant household shall complete the combined application for public assistance and Food Assistance. Following the single interview, the application may be processed by separate workers to determine eligibility and benefit levels for Food Assistance and public assistance. A household's eligibility for an out-of-office interview for Food Assistance purposes does not relieve the household of any responsibility for a face-to-face interview for public assistance purposes. Except for households which may be eligible under basic categorical eligibility, the household's Food Assistance eligibility and benefit level shall be based solely on Food Assistance eligibility criteria, and all households shall be certified in accordance with the noticing, procedural, and timeliness requirements of the Food Assistance regulations. D. Interviews for PA Households If a household is applying for both PA and SNAP, the local office shall conduct a single interview at initial application for both PA and SNAP purposes. The applicant household shall complete the combined application for PA and SNAP. Following the single interview, the application may be processed by separate workers to determine eligibility and benefit levels for SNAP and PA. Except for households which may be eligible under basic categorical eligibility, the household's SNAP eligibility and benefit level shall be based solely on SNAP eligibility criteria, and all households shall be certified in accordance with the noticing, procedural, and timeliness requirements of the SNAP regulations. The PA applicant household shall indicate on the single purpose application if it does not wish to apply for SNAP.

		E. Interviews for SSI Households Households in which all members are applying for SSI or receiving SSI and are applying and being interviewed for Food Assistance by SSA, will not be required to see a Food Assistance eligibility worker or otherwise be subjected to an additional certification interview. The local office shall accept SSA documentation and shall not contact the household to obtain additional information for the eligibility determination unless the application is improperly completed, mandatory verification required by Section 4.502 is missing, or the local office determines that certain information on the application is questionable. In no event shall the applicant be required to appear at the local office to finalize the eligibility determination. Further contact made in accordance with this paragraph shall not constitute a second Food Assistance certification interview.
