COLORADO TITLE SETTING BOARD

Colorado Secretary of State

IN THE MATTER OF THE TITLE AND BALLOT TITLE AND SUBMISSION CLAUSE
FOR PROPOSED INITIATIVE 2017-2018 #112

MOTION FOR REHEARING ON PROPOSED INITIATIVE 2017-2018 #112

---

On behalf of Janette S. Rose, Susan McClain, and Georgiana Inskeep, registered electors of the State of Colorado, the undersigned counsel hereby submit to the Title Board this Motion for Rehearing on Proposed Initiative 2017-2018 #112 (“Initiative #112”) pursuant to Section 1-40-107, C.R.S. (2017), and as grounds therefore state as follows:

I. THE TITLE SET BY TITLE BOARD AT FEBRUARY 7, 2018 HEARING

On February 7, 2018, the Title Board set the following ballot title and submission clause for Initiative #112:

Shall there be an amendment to the Colorado constitution concerning government taking of private property and, in connection therewith, declaring that property is damaged when the enactment of a law, regulation, or regulatory condition limits or prevents the property from being used for a purpose that was allowed at the time the property owner acquired title, and requiring the compensation for the damage to equal the difference in the fair market value of the property before and after the effective date of the law, regulation, or regulatory condition?

II. GROUNDS FOR REHEARING

A. The Initiative Impermissibly Contains Several Separate and Distinct Subjects in Violation of the Constitutional and Statutory Single Subject Requirement.

Under article V, section 1(5.5) of the Colorado constitution and section 1-40-106.5, C.R.S., proposed ballot measures must contain only a single subject. “[T]he Board may not set the titles of a proposed Initiative, or submit it to the voters, if the Initiative contains multiple subjects.” Aisenberg v. Campbell (In re Title, Ballot Title & Submission Clause 1990-2000 #104), 987 P.2d 249, 253 (Colo. 2000).

The single subject requirement serves two functions. First, the single subject requirement “is intended to ensure that each proposal depends upon its own merits for passage.” Johnson v. Curry (In re Title, Ballot Title & Submission Clause for 2015-2016 #132), 374 P.3d 460, 465 (Colo. 2016). Second, the single subject requirement is intended to “prevent surprise and fraud from being practiced upon voters caused by the inadvertent passage of a surreptitious provision ‘coiled up in the folds’ of a complex initiative.” Id. “If an initiative advances separate and distinct purposes, the fact that they both relate to the same general concept or subject is insufficient to satisfy the single subject requirement.” Id.

Initiative #112 contains at least three separate subjects, in violation of article V, section 1(5.5) of the Colorado constitution and section 1-40-106.5, C.R.S. The Initiative does the following:

First, article II, section 15 of the Colorado constitution currently provides that private property “shall not be taken or damaged . . . without just compensation.” Initiative #112 supplements the established definition of compensable “damage” to property to include “whenever the state or any governmental entity or agency enacts any law, regulation or regulatory condition that limits or prevents property from being used for all of the purposes allowable at the time the owner acquired title.” This revision would appear to be the Initiative’s principal purpose and subject. “Coiled up in the folds,” however, are two additional – and very distinct – purposes and subjects.

Second, to be considered compensable under article II, section 15, “damage” to property has long been held to require “a unique or special injury which is different in kind, or not common to, the general public.” Claassen v. City & County of Denver, 30 P.3d 710, 714 (Colo. App. 2000) (emphasis added); Northglenn v. Grynberg, 846 P.2d 175, 179 (Colo. 1993). “The damage must be different in nature from, and not merely greater in degree than, that suffered by the general public.” Thompson v. City & County of Denver, 958 P.2d 525, 528 (Colo. App. 1998) (emphasis added). The indisputable purpose and effect of revising the definition of compensable “damage” to include evolving generally applicable governmental limitations upon kinds of uses to which property may be put is to wholly eliminate the separate “unique or special injury” limitation.

Third, a basic tenet of article II, section 15, has always been that “property owners are not entitled to receive just compensation when [a governmental action] reasonably restricts, but does not prohibit, all reasonable use of their property.” Nat’l Advertising Co. v. Board of Adjustment, 800 P.2d 1349, 1351 (Colo. App. 1990). “Nor are they constitutionally entitled to obtain the highest and best use of their property or to gain maximum profits from its use.” Id. This third surreptitious (albeit indisputable) purpose and effect of Initiative #112 is to wholly replace this “takings” predicate – across the board – with the proposition that any new limitation upon uses arguably resulting from any governmental action will now per se constitute a compensable “damage” or “taking.”

B. The Ballot Title and Submission Clause Is Misleading, and Does Not Correctly and Fairly Express Its True Intent and Meaning.

The title of the Initiative #112 is misleading and does not correctly and fairly express the initiatives' true intent and meaning. Section 1-40-106(3)(b), C.R.S. provides:

In setting a title, the title board shall consider the public confusion that might be caused by misleading titles and shall, whenever practicable, avoid titles for which the general understanding of the effect of a "yes" or "no" vote will be unclear. The title for the proposed law or constitutional amendment, which shall correctly and fairly express the true intent and meaning thereof, together with the ballot title and submission clause. . . .

The title of Initiative #112 misleads the voters by failing to inform them that the measure revises the definition of compensable "damage" for purposes of article II, section 15 to include evolving generally applicable governmental limitations upon kinds of uses to which property may be put is to wholly eliminate the separate "unique or special injury" limitation. The title of Initiative #112 is also misleading because it fails to inform voters that the long-standing takings clause limitation that relieves the government from paying a property owner for the highest and best use of their property or for a gain of maximum profits will no longer apply, and instead that any new limitation upon uses arguably resulting from any governmental action will now per se constitute a compensable "damage" or "taking."

The title does not enable voters to make an informed choice because it does not correctly and fairly express its true intent and meaning.

III. CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing, Janette S. Rose requests a rehearing of the Title Board for Initiative 2017-2018 #112, because the initiative contains multiple subjects, and the title is misleading to voters because it fails to fairly express the initiative's true meaning and intent. As a result, the Title Board lacks jurisdiction to set a title and should return the measure to the proponents.

Respectfully submitted this 14th day of February, 2018.
