Subject: Voting Systems

Dear Sir,

We should maintain a "paper trail" voting system, at all costs.

If even the biggest financial institutions, and top secret government installations, can and have gotten hacked, then pretty much any government-sponsored voting system should be a hundred times more susceptible. Just look at the new healthcare system glitches for a comparison of what even a billion-dollar expenditure was (NOT) able to do.

DO NOT do an all-electronic voting system. It will be nothing more than a "temptation," at its very best.

Thank you!

Paul
