Is there a real problem that needs to be addressed?

How many actual complaints are there each year regarding notaries?

Won't the notary become obsolete with other technologies available to identify people that are far more accurate and consistent?

The real purpose of a notary is just to be confirm the identity of the person signing the form. I was required by my company to obtain my notary which I did. We do not charge for notarizing, however it is a nice service I am happy to provide. It is an additional expense and sometimes time consuming for me. I am confused why these additional regulations need to be in place.

If it is not broken, why are we fixing iit?
