I am against any provisions of changing election laws. There should be consequences for breaking the law. Sure, you did time and repaid that way, but you wouldn't extend the same to someone who broke a 2nd amendment law. Abuse it once, lose it forever.

This legislature has proven not to be trustworthy. Changing the electoral process that has served this country well for decades, issuing drivers licenses to people that aren't citizens of this country. Why would anyone think there isn't something nefarious in the proposed language?
